There was quite an assortment of Hespital goods here when the rebels came, most of which they wantonly destroyed—breaking top the hold frames, and tearing the circles. When they left for Gestynburg they left a number of their sick in the school-house in charge of a young rebel medical student with the charge of a young rebel medical student with the charities of the people of our topy to depend upon for substitutes, medicines, de. Bubsequently a number of their wounded were captured and brought here and the vay sick and wounded, as we were without the meconsacty supplies to make them completable. After robbing all our large stores, our physicians had on furnish medicions for three sicks and wounded.

CHAMBERSBURG! Wednesday Morning, July 15, 1862

Wesheeday Moratng, July 19, aseen.

387 Jone K. Bravook is authorized to note below their mention and sentent for Advertisements to the Entertisements for the Entertisement of the State. He has been at Gettysburg for several days, giving his personnal addition to the care and removal of our Pennsylvania wounded, and it is our Pennylvania wounded, and it is his purpose, we learn, to move with Gen. Couch's column, and remain un-til the final struggle has been fought en the banks of the Potomac.

THE SITUATION.

At the time of this writing (Tuesday noon) there has been no general engagement between the armies of Gens. Meade and Lee. Skirmish ing has been almost constant for new eral days, and the loss on both sides has been unusually severe for outpost engagements. Gen. Buford had quite war. If Meade shall ages, him with equal loss, and compel him to retreat hastily across the Potomae leaving his dead, wounded and deepairing de-serters behind him, he will have acseriest beaind him, he will have ac-complished all we can hope to realize. Indeed he will have accomplished ev-erything. He will have saved Penri-sylvanin; saved Maryland; saved Washington; saved the heroic Army of the Potomac; saved THE REPUBLIC!

THE SUPERNAUT OF LAW.

The suprement of law is the only safety of the citizen, and we cannot, especially at this time, inculcate the sizetity of civil and social order with too much earneatness. One of the invitable results of fratornal war, in all ages, has been a tendency to law-leasness; a disregard of constituted authorities; a contempt of rulers; and unless arreated by the power of the government, has ever resulted in anarchy.

It is not to be disguised that the evil fruits of lawless teachings have been manifested in the North. For more than a year past, with a considerable manifested in the North. For been manifested in the North. Formore than a year past, with a considerable portion of recklose political leaders, the safety of the Republic has been asbordinated to the hope of petty party triumphs; and the government has been assessed at every point while ongaged in a death-struggle for existence. Every measure adopted for the suppression of marderous treason has been perveted and condemned, and even the solemn enactments of our highest legislative tribunals have been denounced to the very verge of resistand compelled Longstreet to fall back some five miles towards Williamsport with considerable loss. On the west form on the Potomac within a few miles of Williamsport. These collisions have been but efforts on both sides to Sective Positions of the respective forces. The decisive battle has yet to be fought, and it promises to be deadly and desperate to sail back and the propose of the administration in the prosecution of the ferts on both sides to Sect the positions of the respective forces. The decisive battle has yet to be fought, and it promises to be deadly and desperate to fall back and the purpose of the administration in the prosecution of the ferts on both sides to Sect the positions of the respective forces. The decisive battle has yet to be fought, and it promises to be deadly and desperate to fall back and the purpose of the administration in the prosecution of the score and the purpose of the administration in the prosecution of the score and contempt of the citizens rather promises to be deadly and desperate the score approach to the first of the provided the rebel casher, the safety of the Republic has been usefully party triumphs; and the hope of petty party triumphs; and the operation of murderous treason has been assailed at every point while and every triumphs; and the operation of murderous treason has been assailed at every point while and every triumphs; and the hope of petty party triumphs; an ferts on both sides to feel the positions of the respective forces. The decisive battle has yet to be fought, and it promises to be deadly and desperate beyond precedent in the war. Lee fights from necessity, not chose. Like a stag at bay, he turns upon his pursuer, because the angry waters of the Potomac forbid his escape, and the remnant of his shattered army must fight for existence. That they will do so, and with the energy of despeir attempt to save the army of Virginia, though it be behind monuments of their dead, we cannot doubt.

Lee's position is naturally a strong ene, and he has doubtless added every possible element of strength to it that military genius could suggest. His lines are abort, covering the single ford at Williamsport, and he has certainly received supplies and ammanition from Virginia. Although fall thirty thousand left, and with the choice of position, and the advantage of entrenchments, he hopes to hold his lines until the Potomac falls to a passable point.

Gen. Meade is immediately on Lee's front, with the preponderance in his rasks; with an army fresh from they there so effectsally commanded. Gen. Kelley threatens Lee on his left fank and Gen. Cosch is rapidly pushing his large column down upon the fee. Indeed Lee is completely oncired by the swollen Potomac in his rear; by Kelley on his left fank; by Cosch on his left fank and Gen. Cosch is rapidly pushing his large column down upon the fee. Indeed Lee is completely oncired by the swollen Potomac in his rear; by Kelley on his left fank; by Cosch on his left front, sade by Masde from theose round to the Potomac at Shepperdatown. When the great struggle is to be made is for fron. Meade to determine, and that will be, we feel assured, just when he is entirely ready.

That Gen Lee will sceape to Vir.

UNION STATE CONVENTION.

The Union State Convention, called originally to meet at Pittsburg, on the 2d of July, was postponed to the 6th of August, in consequence of the rebel invasion. The Union Committee recognised the fitness of postponing all political movements while there should be a foe upon loyal soil, and thereby relieved many delegates to the Convention who are now in the ranks to defend the border.

—The names of quite a number of able and meritorious men has been suggested for the Union nomination for Governor. Messrs. John Covode, The Union State Convention, called Rebel force as they entered Greencatic, and excepted with his squad only by his superior has weeked to the roads. He was appointed Provosa Marshal of Chambersburg by Mal. Gen. Oeach, on Friday last, at the request of care citissens. It would be but a just recognition of the services of these officers to promote them for galiantry, and we hope that it will be promptly deen. The people of Franklin county, who have witnessed the skeptes energy of these men, would rejoice to learn that they have been rewarded as they deserve, and they have been rewarded to the bright of the children of our virtues abshards chook, and the old shifting parties and hilarions as temblages, of fermer years. NEW CAVALEY COMPARY.—Cagt. J. C. Hullinger, of this place, having succeeded in raising a cavalry company, left yesterday moraing with his mes for Harrisburg, to report to the Adjutant General. The company will be fully armed and squipped as well as mentered into service at Harrisburg, and expect to be ready for duty in a very short time. Capt. H. commanded company D. 126th Reg's, Fa. Vola, for some months prior to its being musicored eut, and proved himself a brave, patriotic, and capable officer. The new company he has raised for the cavalry service is composed of excellent material, and we have no doubt will acquit these-selves creditably and honorably in whatever position is assigned them.

Of the numbers and disposition of the troops it would not be prudent to spank; but they are sample for the great purpose assigned to them. Considering that they have just been organized, they are the most soldierly troops we have over seen them to soldierly troops we have over seen them to did officered, as most of them are, their discipline is truly researchable.
