THE GREAT NATIONAL SOLDIERS' CEMETERY AT GETTYSBURG, PENNA.

Memorial. THE MARTYRS OF HUMAN FREEDOM: THE HEROIC DEAD OF GETTYSBURG! DEDICATION OF THE NATIONAL CEMETERY AT GETTYSBURG.

GIVE THANKS, ALL YE PEOPLE. Give thanks, all ye people, give thanks to the Lord, Abolisher of Freedom, with joyful songs...

THE NATIONAL CEMETERY is situated on the west side of the Baltimore turnpike, adjoining the Gettysburg Cemetery, and commands a fine view of the town, battle-field and surrounding country.

At the head of each grave a stone wall is built, extending from the bottom of the trench to the surface of the ground. On this wall it is proposed to place a high curb-stone capped with white marble...

Several English Officers are now quartered with Gen. Meade. A dispatch from the Potomac says that the army has advanced to the Rapidan.

It is contemplated to erect a monument to the memory of our fallen heroes and in its preparation the genius of our best artists should be engaged. We will now describe the Dedicatory Exercises, intended as the last solemn rest to the heroic dead.

charge of the civic portion of the procession read the order of exercises. It was as follows: Military, under command of Major General Couch, Chief Marshal; President of the United States, Chief of the United States; Assistant Secretaries of the several Executive Departments...

Gen. Rosecrank's report of the Georgia campaign is understood, will be soon published by the War Department. Two divisions of Hill's corps have gone southward, whether to Tennessee or Fredericksburg, or to threaten Meade's flank...

The President left Washington in a special train Wednesday noon. He was accompanied by Mrs. Seward, Blair and Fisher of his Cabinet and a large number of other distinguished officials connected with the army, navy and civil service.

The various Assistant Marshals, were two gentlemen from each of the respective local States. Ex-Governors Johnson and Pollock were the Marshals from Pennsylvania. The President took his position in the procession mounted on a splendid black horse. On his appearance he was greeted with enthusiastic and long continued cheers.

Gen. Averell has arrived at New Creek on the Alexandria and Ohio Railroad. At Georgetown, Va. General Virginia, he dispersed a party of rebel horse and captured twenty-four prisoners.

The new Cemetery contains an area of about 200 acres and a road of a mile wide runs west of the same. This fact, it is believed, will greatly facilitate the work of the Government in carrying out its plan.

The head of the column moved at precisely 12 o'clock. The route was up Baltimore street to the Emmetsburg road, thence to the junction of the Taneytown road, thence by the latter road to the cemetery, where the military formed in line, according to the order of the General in command.

Gen. Sherman has received a telegram from Gen. Sherman at Gen. Thomas' headquarters, having made a junction of his whole corps with Gen. Grant's right.

It is not our purpose to describe the funeral itself. Our people have been made familiar with every detail in print, and many of them indeed from observation. Gen. Meade's and Lee's reports have been recently published, and these with the graphic accounts of intelligent reporters, a sufficient material to make up the prominent history of the battle of Gettysburg, and give it a renown hardly less than that which attaches to Waterloo.

During the morning Battery E, 5th U. S. Artillery, under direction of Lieut. Simons and Piper, fired Union and Presidential salutes. Signals and salutes were also fired when the procession reached the Cemetery. The platform for the accommodation of the distinguished visitors was hardly adequate to the large number present.

The rebel authorities at Richmond have declined to receive Government rations sent to our prisoners, but expressed willingness to receive all private donations of provisions, which would be delivered.

The weather was in every way propitious. The sun rose clearly, but when the hour approached for the commencement of the exercises the atmosphere became damp and for a short time the dark clouds portended rain. When, however, the procession moved off, the sky again became clear and the remainder of the day was pleasant and agreeable.

The exercises were closed by a hymn from the choir present. The procession then returned to the town. In the afternoon, President Lincoln attended the Presbyterian Church, where Mr. Anderson, the Lieutenant-Governor of Ohio, eloquently addressed the Ohio and other delegations. The President walked to the Church arm and arm with John Burns, the heroic Gettysburger, who fought valiantly in the ranks of the army during the great battles of the 1st, 2d, and 3d of July...

As was anticipated, Bragg has commenced an attack on Burnside's troops. On Wednesday morning our mounted infantry advanced on the Klappan river and under command of Gen. Saunders, were attacked by a rebel battery at short range. This was repulsed by Benjamin's battery, pointed to the right of the town. At three o'clock the enemy made a desperate charge. Gen. Saxton was severely wounded, and was carried from the field. Our men gave up their rail barricades and fell back nearly a mile. We lost a hundred men, of whom about twenty-five were killed. The enemy have invaded the place, but it will be defended by Burnside to the last man.

Agriculture is the great channel of industry in our State and yet it is the least progressive of all industrial pursuits. It is so because of its expansion.

machine to thresh, separate and clean grain; but it was guaranteed as ample and we resolved to try it.

The horse-power manufactured by Boyer & Brother is ten feet long by four feet wide and in a floor eight feet wide it can stand at its place all the time and never interfere with hauling or other operations in the barn. It is therefore never moved, and is not in the way. The threshing and cleaner is but little larger than a common sized wind-mill; it divides into two parts and can be thus handled with all ease by four men. The first trial we made of the machine was with damp oats mixed with green weeds. (We don't usually raise weeds and oats together, but in war times we farm as best we can and not as we would.) It threshed perfectly clean—the power was ample, and four hands and two horses did the whole work, including the garnering of the grain. Since then we have tried it frequently—threshing an hour, a half day, a day, or more, as may suit the farmer or as bad weather may dictate; and we would not now accept any lever-power machine as a gift and agree to use it. The horse-power is always in its place and never in the way—the threshing can be put in its place and in order in ten minutes; the horses require no other hitching than tying the halter strap; four hands perform all the labor with entire ease and when we quit threshing the grain is in the garner and the straw in the mow. With this simple machinery we can thresh in wet weather, when no other labor can be done, and twenty minutes is always ample to start the work. We can thresh, with four hands and two horses, 150 bushels of White Boughten wheat in a day with ease, and have everything out of the way in the evening; and taking the average of wheat crops from year to year, 100 bushels can be threshed day after day with this little machinery without taxing either horses or laborers as severely as the old machines do. The common idea that tread-powers are run on to horses is a mistake. Most horses when first tried will flinch and exhaust themselves, but with kind management they will soon become a customer to it, and will work on the tread-power from day to day without any injury whatever.

We feel that we cannot too strongly urge the adoption of these machines by our farmers. They are so easily started, and perform so much with so little labor, that no one will discard them who once tries them. In addition to running a threshing machine and cleaner by our tread power, we run a fodder-cutter, a circular saw, a corn-sheller and a chopping-mill. Any of these machines can be attached to the power in a few minutes, as two men can carry one of them with ease, and one hand and one horse can, in half a day, chop as much grain and cut as much fodder as will be fed by any ordinary farmer in a week. We can chop twelve bushels of oats, corn or rye in an hour with one horse and one man can do all the work comfortably, and with two horses and two hands 800 bushels of corn can be shelled in a day. This whole machinery—including horse-power, thrasher and cleaner, chopping-mill, fodder-cutter, corn-sheller and circular saw—can be bought for about $400; but little more than the price of a large threshing machine, and on any good farm they will pay their entire cost in one year. The fodder will feed fully four times the number of cattle when cut; grain of all kinds is worth one-third more if chopped than if it is fed whole; and the vast economy of labor—of time by threshing in wet weather when nothing else can be done—of saving straw by threshing just when you need or can now use it, in the course of a year make an aggregate of saving sufficient to cover the entire expenditure for the machines.

Lost, Stolen and Strayed. $25 REWARD.—Stolen from the premises of the subscriber, on Friday afternoon the 19th inst., a pair of black horses, one of which was a large black horse, and one a smaller one of the same color; also a pair of black horses, one of which was a large black horse, and one a smaller one of the same color; also a pair of black horses, one of which was a large black horse, and one a smaller one of the same color.

STRAY—A BRIGHT BAY MARE, supposed to be two years old, the full name of the mare is not known, but she is a very fine specimen of her kind, and is worth about $200. She was strayed from the premises of the subscriber, on Friday afternoon the 19th inst., and is now at large. Any person who has information leading to her recovery will be paid for her by the subscriber. Address, J. H. BOYER & BROS., Chambersburg, Pa., Nov. 11, 1863.

fortune of the rebellion, this war must be practically closed before another autumn shall have passed away, by the destruction of the military power of the insurgents, or the National administration cannot be held blameless.

DESPAIR IN REBELLION.

Earnest as have been the efforts of the rebel press and leaders to conceal the despair that pervades their people, and the rapidly waning prospects of the rebellion, it seems that concealment is now no longer possible.

THE NATIONAL VERDICT.

The verdict of 1863 is rendered, and it is a doubtful or unmeaning judgment. With one accord the Free States have spoken in mandatory tones, and with them is mingled the voice of Missouri, of Kentucky, of Maryland, of Delaware, swelling with hopeful story, telling of their early deliverance from the withering blight that has paralyzed their strength and blotted their honor.

This solemn verdict so uniformly, so positively expressed, as no mere political whirlwind borne by the capricious tide of a popular revolution. Never before did earnest conviction the highest considerations of patriotic duty, and a profound sense of peril to a common country, so largely direct the people in rendering a National judgment.

Thus have the people spoken, and it must not be vain. They have answered with a heroic worthy of a Free people to every demand made upon them, and they have done it although beset on every side with the seductive promises of ambition, and the siren song of peace. They did it to save the Republic, and henceforth the responsibility must be upon those entrusted with the power of the government.

use their endeavors to obtain that blessing." It says that Mr. Loech is one of the members, and he openly declared when a candidate for election, that "civil war had lasted long enough," and it adds—"he will be here in the next Congress, not helping the President to carry on the war, but bothering, drivelling, snivelling about peace."

ADVERTISING.

The steady increase in price of every thing required in the publication of a newspaper has driven many to increase their subscription and advertising rates, and others into actual suspension.

We do not mean to cut down the size of the Repository nor to increase its subscription price, although the price is quite inadequate for a paper so large and costly.

The Repository is now the largest Union journal in the State of Pennsylvania, and its circulation is much greater than that of any other political paper out of the cities of Philadelphia and Pittsburg.

It has been the custom of all associations and individuals to impose upon country editors the publication of resolutions, obituary notices, advertisements of benevolent enterprises, and various other articles of limited or individual interest, without charge.

The Repository seeks no patronage as a matter of favor—it wants none for which it does not render an ample equivalent.

In our advertising columns will be found the official notice of the Appraisers, appointed by the Court of Dauphin county under the act of 22d of April, 1863, to adjudge certain damages arising from the military occupation of the border.

The Chattanooga (now Atlanta) Rebel frankly admits that Bragg is out-generaled. It says: "The new move on the military chess-board, by which the Federals got possession of Lookout Valley and the railroad to Bridgeport, was a masterly stroke."

The same paper admits that Hooker's position is impregnable and equal in strength to Chattanooga itself, and adds that "if the Federals are attacked in the valley they can reinforce more rapidly and safely than we can."

The Peace movement in North Carolina and elsewhere is gradually assuming gigantic proportions. The Mobile papers have been loud in their complaints that the people along the Mississippi have been occupied by the prospects of trade into a desire for the old Union, and the Richmond Enquirer of the 9th complains bitterly of North Carolina for "sending to us, as her Congressional delegation, a number of gentlemen who say they want peace, and will

THE Westmoreland Republican says that it has no "personal knowledge" on the subject of the alleged frauds by which so-called Copperheads pressed Gov. Curtin was re-elected; and it adds that it hopes "the editor of the Repository is able to say as much."

Probably we "may never agree on this subject," for the reason that we have steadily cursed traitors and treason and hope to teach those who may come after us to do likewise.

The Army of the Potomac is on the north banks of the Rappahannock, while Lee is entrenched on the other side. We have reason to believe that Gen. Meade is confidently expected, if not positively instructed, to deliver battle to Lee as promptly as possible.

General Burnside has been attacked by Longstreet with overwhelming numbers, and compelled to fall back upon Knoxville. He retired in order, however, and gave battle at several points successfully to save his trains.

DELAWARE IS FREE! Notwithstanding the cowardly trick of the Copperheads in refusing to vote, hoping thereby to reduce the Union strength, the people have declared by a decisive majority poll, that the administration shall be sustained; that slavery shall cease to curse Delaware and to plunge the Nation into fraternal war.

HON. THOS. WILLIAMS, the seavenger of the Pittsburgh Gazette, after exhausting the vocabulary of slang to defame us, shrieks from his own portrait and declines to publish it because he "can advertise no such obscenities," and adds that he would as soon "think of advertising a hog."

We have the Illustrated Catalogue of Vines issued by C. W. Grant, Gales, West Chester county, New York. It is a most valuable pamphlet to every one who wishes to grow Grapes, and is furnished at a very low price.

We devote considerable space of today's paper to a report of the ceremonies at the dedication of the National Cemetery at Gettysburg, on the 19th inst. It will be seen that the attendance and the proceedings eminently befitted the great occasion.

"A SUBSCRIBER" asks us to state that the columns of the Repository, where the government has lands to settle under the provisions of the Homestead Act. All the vacant and unappropriated public lands in all the States are subject to entry, by actual settlers, under the provisions of the act of Congress.

An editorial letter from Washington is omitted to make room for our full report of the delictatory exercises at Gettysburg. See third page for an editorial on Agricultural Machinery.

THE exploded plot of certain "friends" of Vallandigham to Canada to rescue the 2,000 rebel prisoners confined on Johnson's Island, Lake Erie, is thus candidly admitted and circumstantially detailed by the Montreal Advertiser—a journal thoroughly in the rebel interest.

The Washington Government, having refused to continue the exchange of prisoners of war under the cartel, sent Southern officers acquainted to a tropical climate to Johnson's Island, where 2,000 of them were confined in wretched quarters, absolutely unfit to house cattle.

Any further operations in the Lakes were left to the discretion of the British command, whose orders were strict and peremptory to avoid a breach of British neutrality, and to take care that even the semblance of intervention should be avoided.

The Hagerstown Herald, one of the most careful and reliable journals in the State, reflecting public sentiment, thus points the moral of the late election in Maryland.

POLITICAL INTELLIGENCE. Gov. Wm. H. Wallace, Union, has been elected Delegate to Congress from the new Territory of Idaho.

At the late election in Maryland, the strength of the Copperheads was carried by the Union men with a Republican gain of 347 votes.

The official vote for Congress in Maryland at the late election, is as follows: Goldsborough, 38,369; Math, 17,964; Murphy for Goldsborough, 26,875. Total vote of the State 62,244.

The Alliance Evening Journal of the 6th, says the Union majority in New York State will not vary from 81,500. Goldsborough, 38,369; Math, 17,964; Murphy for Goldsborough, 26,875. Total vote of the State 62,244.

The full return of the special election for a Congressman in Delaware, held on Thursday last, is as follows: N. B. Smithers, Union, 825; John Gibbs, Opp., 100; Charles Brown, Opp., 100.

Returns from 86 of the 192 counties in Illinois give the following results: Union a majority now 181; Copperhead majority last year 4133. Union gain in eight counties 5014.

Returns from all but five counties in Wisconsin show a majority for Lewis, Union candidate for Governor, on the home vote of 15,262. So far as returned, the solitary vote is Lewis, 5,080; Palmer, Dem., 423. This makes Lewis' majority 19,342.

How significant is the fact that slavery attracts disunion and secession. If the cause was just it would not stand the light of free inquiry. It is the consciousness of being in the wrong which moves the champions of slavery to advocate gag laws and vigilance committees.—Nashville Union.

The official vote of New York State is as follows: Union vote, 814,442; Copperhead vote, 214,442; Total vote, 1,028,884.

The following are the majorities for the Union tickets in the eighteenth legal State that have held elections during the past seven months: Maine, 10,000; West Virginia, 10,000; New Hampshire, 4,000; Ohio, 10,000; Vermont, 10,000; Kentucky, 10,000; Connecticut, 10,000; Indiana, 10,000; Rhode Island, 8,000; Illinois, 20,000; New York, 20,000; Iowa, 20,000; Pennsylvania, 20,000; Wisconsin, 8,000; Maryland, 20,000; Minnesota, 10,000; Union majority, 429,000.

AN APPEAL TO THE BENEFICENT OF FRANKLIN COUNTY. I have been waiting some time to see if there was to be any movement made in response to the cry of our fellow friends now confined in Southern prisons for something to do. As there has been no movement made, I do not attribute it to a want of feeling, but to the want of a plan for such an undertaking.
