Notice to our subscribers.

Many of our subscribers have promised payment in exchange for the paper, but have failed to do so. We do not blame them for the delay, for we know that it is difficult to procure money in these times of extreme poverty. We know that it is a matter of difficulty with many to procure the means of subsistence, and we do not wish to add to their difficulties. We only ask that when they can do so, they will remember us. We have found it necessary to stop the paper to some who have promised payment on its receipt, but who have not been heard from for months. We hope that they will not take offence at this course, for we have found it necessary to adopt it in order to keep our business from utter ruin. We have found it necessary to stop the paper to all who have not paid for it, and we hope that our friends will not take offence at our
