The reference of the bill providing for the actitement of military damages to the committee on Federal Relations, was perlaps wise under the circumstances. It had become so entangled in a wanton political struggle that it could not have a chance for its life unless sovered from the cloud of partian prejudice that enveloped it. But the reasons assigned by Hon. P. Franzer Smith, the chairman of the committee that now has the custodly of the bill, for the reference, demands notice as a matter of justice to the people of Frankin county. Our Harrisburg correspondent, who witnessed the struggle on the bill, gives us an abstract of Mr. Smith's remarks and the manifest and grievous error into which he has been, we doubt not, honestly and innocently led, calls for explanation at our hands.

Mr. Smith demanded a reference of the bill to the committee of which he is chairman for several reasons. He alleges that there were persons on the floor of the House, for the purpose of influencing legislation, who had no right to speak there; that the chaimants of the border might seek to extort from the government by presenting unjust bills, and, therefore, the claims should first be adjudicated, and hold the question of payment in terrorm over the people to make them honest; and finally he urgaer reference for the purpose of amendment to defeat immediate payment, because the rebels might destroy Philadelphia, and then the State would be unable to fulfil its pledge to remunerate its citizens for military damages.

Mr. Smith's assaults upon the measure were neither manly nor dignified, and his State would be unable to fulfil its pledge to remunerate its citizens for military damages.

Mr. Smith's assaults upon the measure were neither manly nor dignified, and his reflections upon the people of the border are untrue in point of fact. It is probable that citizens of this county have been on the floor of the House, as we have often seen Mr. Smith's constituents, and it is probable also that they felt an interest in the bill in question. It is a common cause with the people of the border, and enlists the co-operation of all classes of men, whether immediately interested in it or not, and if they have sought to persuade legislators to do what in their judgment is right, his sensitive nature should have yielded a generous construction of their conduct. It is a misfortune that some of them have not spoken with Mr. Smith, for had he fallen in with them and listened as an honest man should listen to honest men, he would have spared himself a most unkind and unjust reflection upon a people who as a class are chinself a most unkind and unjust reflection upon a people who as a class are his peers in all that pertains to integrity and good citizenship. That he did himselfhearken to the suggestions of men who had no right to speak in the House, and thatchis unfortunate declarations and his inconsistences are the results thereof, we hazard little in assuming. He it was who, when the bill was first before the legislature, carefully mended its phraseology to swell the damages to be paid nearly a onester of a willing. who, when the bill was first before the legislature, carefully amended its phrasecology to swell the damages to be paid nearly a quarter of a million, by embracing the Columbia Bridge and the Cumberland Valloy and Franklin Railvoads, without even intimating the effect of his amendunents; and having championed the side of claimants until the had fatally loaded the bill, he then turned upon his own work and stabbed it by unfair immendo and dishonorable suspicions.—Did Mr. Smith amend the bill with a fair or an unfair purpose. Did he do it in accordance with his own perceptions of defects in the bill, or did some one not entitled to the floor counsel him to do so? When he explains this point, he may reall the ungenerous fling he made in his is speech against such men as Col. Thomas B. Kennedy and Col. D. O. Gehr, upon whom his virtous indignation happened to fall.—men who might be legislators themselves almost any time they would accept the position. It was most ungenerous, too, for Mr. Smith to make them the special target for his outburst of virtue. They are both directors in the Cumberland Valley Railroad, whose interests Mr. Smith seemed especially to have at heart, insemuch as he insisted upon so amending the bill as to cover their losses; and it has been well said that it is a foul bird that defiles its own next.

The assumption that our people might extor from the government and thorefore payment about to be applied to the border counties. Every commission—and there have been five in all—authorised to associations of the border of the most of the work of the most of the work of the w generous—is not just.

The other objection erged by Mr. Smith—that Philadelphia might be destroyed by the robels, and therefore the State should not compensate any until the full extent of damages and the ability of the State to pay all, have been accertained, is a legitimate one; and Mr. Smith as a legislator has a right to his jadgment and should be respected in acting in accordance with it. We do not doem it a good reason; but if Mr. Smith does, we have no right to complain. If he owed $500 to various parties, and was worth $500,000, he would hardly be excused by his creditors from payment bocause he might be plundered some time or make had bargains, and then could not pay all. The little miss who objected to ovens when she saw the bright coals in front of one, because she might live to be a woman; might get married; might become a mother, and the dear child might craw out to the oven and be burned to death, belonged to the same school of philosophers; but we believe that ovens have not been dispensed with because of the infant generation. All such arguments are delusive and illogical. If it is right that the State should pretext her citizens in their property, then provision for payment should be made. If it is right that the State should pretext her citizens in their property, then provision for payment should be made. If it is a mind the should be made. perils they present in the pash of the infunt generation. All such arguments are delusive and illogical. If it is right that the State should protect her citizens in their property, then provision for payment should be made. If it is not right, thon why adjudicate claims? Five different commissions have already adjudicated as many different classes of claims, at a vast expense to the people; and not one dollar so adjucated has been paid. If this is to be the action of the legislature, we entreat them to stop this mockery of justice; dismiss the subject, and save our already plundered people from additional losses in the shape of costs. We say frankly, and we reflect the sentiment of our people generally, that if the proposition to adjudicate is not attended with some tangible piedge of the faith of the State for payment, it is only adding injury to injury to legislate at all, and, the legislature should ack squarely on the subject. If payment cannot be unde now, asy so; if it is deemed best to wait for the close of the war, let the faith of the State be pledged to pay these claims then; provided if it is deemed best that such additional losses are not sustained by the people of the Commowwealth as would 'serfi the credit of the State to assume the payment of them. Do what is deemed right from an exacting sovereignty claiming tribute and promising protection to an obedient and faithful people; but let the purpose be clearly stated. Above all we protest against thouse adjudication, and especially when it is done on the ground that the people of the border are vanting in loyalty, or must be restrained from villiany by legislative coerction.

THE RICEMENT BASE.

THE RICHMOND BAID REBEL ATROCITIES.

The late raid made by Gen. Kilpatrick and Col. Dahlgren to the very doors of Richmond, has aroused the rebel Journals and authorities to the most reckless misrepresentations and most flendish atrocities. Col. Dahlgren commanded one of the two attacking columns, and was misled and isolated by a faithless guide. He thus became an easy prey to the rebel forces who largely outnumbered him and knew the country perfectly. He was killed, says the Richmond Sentinel in its first notice of his death, while regaliantly leading his men," and hads that "he was one of the bravest sons of America, and his death, will be regretted by all who ever knew him." But when the full furils of the movement were realized, and the constant peril of the rebel capita appreciated, the rebel thirst for blood and vengennee became ungovernable, and we can The late raid made by Gen. Kilpatrick ciated, the rebet thirst for blood and ven-geance became ungovernable, and weam-not doubt that the papers alleged to have been found on the person of Cob Bail-gern were either wholly forged or sady married by interpolations. The documents claimed to have been found on its per-son, embrace an order purporting to have been issued by him to his men, in which he instructs his command to release the been issued by him to his men, in which he instructs his command to release the prisoners and then exhorts them 'to destroy and burn the hateful city" and not to "allow the ribel leader Jeff Dai's and his tradtorous erew to escape." It what is published as his "special orders and instructions" he instructs his men that the city "must be destroyed, and Jeff Davis and his cabinet killed," and that prisoners must be ready with 'oakum and turpentine for burning, which will be soaked and rolled in balls, and given to the men to burn when we get into the city." With these exceptions, its orders and instructions contain nothing in violation of the rules of war; and that the revolting barbarities, we cannel deabt. Col. Dahlgren was, as the Richmond Sessiest ruly said, "one of the bavest of America's sons." He has served since the commencement of the war with the groughest gallatity and displayed he highest publics of a soldier; and it a utsery inconsistent with his character when't he should invite his men to indiscinainate pullage, aspect field murder.

The treatment of Colonel Dahlgren's body by the rebels was most inhuman. Berbarisms; to whom the rules of civilized warfare are unknown, could not have surpassed the horrible brutatilly displayed by the evolels. He was killed in action—herocally leading his men, and the fate of his remains is thus given by the Richmond with the country of the 8th inget. It may be a more and the summary of the 8th inget. It may be the country of the summary of Such is the role account of their own worse than barbarous treatment of a gall-lant foe; and the Richmond papers are clamorous for the blood of all his captured men. The Whig demands that they shall dio—"not by court-martial, not as prisoners, but as kostes human's generic, by general order from the President commander-in-chief," and calls upon Davis to "have the nerve to do what lies palpably before him." It declares that the Union armies henceforth "can only be met by war under the black flag. If the President cannot recognize this fact, the army can recognize non other." The same paper, in another article declares that Col. Dahlgren's une should not be treated as prisoners of war, but "that this, day's sun should not go down, before every secondrel taken is bloen to stows from the cannon's mouth." The sun did however go down without the Whig being gratified in its bloody wish. The Enquirer says—"turn the war into a war of extermination," and on this pleasing theme to rebels it thus disousses:

"Our government owes it to its own arms."

to rebels it thus discusses:

"Our government owes it to its own army and to its own people, if it cannot at the moment retaliates such attractises in hind, at least to bring to condign punishment the robbers who, in the guise of soldiers and under pretence of war, have been caught lurking about Eleibmond which will be a soldier and the control of the chief magnitude and entering the chief magnitude and then inviting eight thousand blood-thirsty, lustful rufflans to gut the blasing massions, rapid their mistresses, and knew the masters in the bread in the dreadful confusion. The same paper insists that Richmond must be protected. It admits that they are too from and horses, but adds that if they are too weak to keep at least one full brigade of cavelry there, they "are too weak to live and ought to go under." It says that with such a force there they would be asseed "from constant bell-ringing distractions and need-less interruptions of the public business." The Sentiasel charges the success of the raid upon the rebel authorities, and says, that "if the President and Cabinet have run a serious risk of being hanged at their own doors, do se not one it chiefly to the salt and water spirit in which the war has hitherto been conducted?"—Such we some of the fears, falsehoods.

—Such are some of the fears, falsehoods and atrocities developed by the lichmond raid, and they but prove that despairing treason is about to defy every dictate of humanity in its great death struggle to overthrow the Republic.

GOV. HABIN was inaugurated in Louisians on the 4th inst. In his hungural he regards Theory as the cause of the present unboly attempt to break up the government, and demands fix intwernal and impreciated extinction as a public and private blessing. He says:

THINGS NOT SHIFT TO BE BOOK.

To stain publicial power does not always evince the highest type of publicate wisdom: but to wield it pradently so that it may be perpetuated, in the true tree of wise counsels and discreet actions. It is common when a political party has emerged from a desperate struggle with victory on its side, for sail and embittered prejudices rather than wisdom to gover the actions of many who have been called to power; and great issues are consequently measured by the animostite which linger after the battle is won. The Urois meas of Pennylvania won.

which indigerater the battle is won. The Union men of Pennsylvania won a deciaire victory last fall—earrying Gov-ernor and both branches of the legislature. Confronted as they were by every foe of the government—every open or cowardly traitor North and South, and threatened ashes in the hands of its authors.

Two propositions have been urged upon the present legislature which are parely political, and demanded by no public necessity nor by any principle of justice. A bill has been read in piace to detach Junitat from the judicial districts of Judge Graham, and connect it with the district of Judge Woods, and it is urged solely on the ground that Judge Graham is a Democrat, and holding extreme views, if may be relative to the issues now agitating the people. It is demanded therefore in recognition of the doctrine that night makes right; and a precodent is proposed which would unsettle our whole judicial structure and make the Beach but the toy of politicians. We do not in any degree apmaching the proposed which would unsettle our whole judicial structure and make the Beach but the toy of politicians. We do not in any degree apmaching the proposed which would have passed as a tolerable be stump speechof the Woodwardsaripe, and like a dozen other Judgea he probably has yet to learn that the world is older than it was fifty years ago and that it has cultivated progress. But to cut off a fraction of his district where a majority of the people woted for him, and would do so again to-day, simply because both parties can't gain suits in his court, or books and the second of the proposed with such an example set by the Union legislature, what disorganization might not be expected when the wave of political moverings and made stump speeches in the evening after dispensing justice during the day. He was arraigned by the Democratic leaders of Bradford county with an carnestiness and manimity that it was supposed a Democratic legislature could not fail to respect.—They cane down and derwaded the partition of his district; but when the test came, every leading Democrat of the House maintained the sanctity of the judiciary against the interests of their own political diciary from political assaults. We entirest the Union legislature not to lay vious the proposed of the proposed of the proposed o safety, the integrity of our judicial tri-bunnia.

Another: proposition: urged in some quarters is the abolition of the Land De-partment. Whatever other plansible re-sons may be given therefor, the real one is that there is Democratic incumbent in the Surveyo General's office. We much regretted to see him go in there; but the people elected him and we defer to their verdict. Had Gen. Barr's com-petitor been chosen, would the abolition of the Land Department have been enter-tained by the present legislature? We incline to think not; and it is not wise to legislate saide a popular election he-cause it didn't go as we wanted it. If the Land Department is not necessary, lot it be abolished to take effect at the close of the term of the present incumbent, and then seldier party can play at "heads I win and said you lose!"

The intercieve lasted when there bears, during a short part of which time I was present and in a short part of which time I was present a work of the above and is fift, F. Waldron, a citizen of Maryland, and we believe formerly a member of the logislature. He is endorseed as a respectable gentleman by Gen. Milrey, and the positiveness and minuteness of detail with which be makes the disclosure, can leave little room to doubt its correctness. He has already given a full ground of the affair to the Secretary of the correctness. It is not not to the Washington communication, filess which we infer that the government had not knowledge of the interval abstract to the Washington communication, filess which we infer that the government had not knowledge of the interval abstract to the Washington communication, filess which we infer that the government had not knowledge of the interval described in recently.

If so, his government man have been advised of it; of the parameter is have been advised of it; of the parameter is the conference. If, however, as the letter of P. W. intimates, Gen. Lee was brought through his lines in diaguise to his head-quarters, and the fact and purposes and results were not at the time communicated to the government by Gen. M'Chellan, then was his conduct treasonable in the broadest sense, and the government would be shamefully remiss did it not hold him to the strictost accountability.

We do not hastily accept the conclusion that Gen. M'Chellan secretly conferred with Gen. Lee without advising his government. His report is silent on the subject, and all his despatches which have been given to the public make no allusion to such an interview. But the time has oome now when the facts must be fully known; and the government owes it to Gen. M'Chellan to inform the Nation what the nature, purpose, and results of that interview were if it has any information on the subject; and if it has not, then it is due to a country struggling against nurderous treason for existence, to require Gen. M'Chellan to elser his er hir requires a stamp, as any one may see by comparing the amended that with the old law. The tables generally in use are eroneous in this respect.

There is another point in relation to promisery notes worthy of attention. Almost all sale notes and indeed almost all notes under in the cost and indeed almost all notes under in the cost and indeed almost all notes under in the cost promisery notes, but single bills or bends, in their legal effect. The decision of this question one way or the other will not effect notes payable at a period exceeding six months, but will effect all payable six months or less after date. A promisery note at six mostles, but will effect all payable six months or less after date. A promisery note at six mostles, for instance, requires a six cent stamp, if under $200, but a band of the same amount requires a ten cent stamp, and would be invalid with a six cent tatup affined.

These things have suggested themselved the same of the same amount requires a ten cent stamp, and would be invalid with a six cent noted them seen that the stamp on decide conveying real restate, and which party, reador or vendoe, should pay for the stamp, because the lat of April approaches and this question will arise in many indances.
