Stars and Stripes around the Atlantic and Gulf coasts and back to the historic shores of the Potomac. To thwart its progress, the rebels have labored with the genins and energy of fends. On the river banks, and hill sides, and mountain slopes in front of it they have their choicest troops and ablest generals, and when the notes of its advancing bugie is heard and her alded by the hundred of traitors that hang about it, and when its banners are seen coming in the spirit of the master of the vineyard to claim their heritage, tens of thousands of the rebels against their government and humanity are harried up from all quarters of the Confederacy and the converted behind their formlable defences. Against these tremendoes adds and fearful beariers, the Army of the Potomac has dashed with wondrous valor, and, though often foiled, has been surely wearing out the energy, and strew-ing the habit to deery the Army of the Potomac has dashed with wondrous valor, and, though often foiled, has been surely wearing out the energy, and strew-ing the hills and valleys of Virginis with the very flower of the Southern chivsbry.

THE FLORIDA CAMPAIGN.

We give herewith the official report of Maj. Gen. Gilmore relative to the Florida battles which the Democratic press has operasitently and malicionaly charged to Mr. Lincoln as a political campaign. Will the Spirit publish Gen. Gilmores, report, and correct its alanders upon the Prosident? It has done much to mislead its readers in relation to the movement of Gen. Gilmore, and it would be but simple justice to allow its readers to see the truth. The following is the official report:

Hano as Drawn or Serra Hirror Harse, Mr. H. Machington, D. C.

GENERAL:—I have the honor to submit herewith copies of certain letters and telegraphic size to Hirt, Gen. T. farts invite the sordid and speculative to top with gold almost at will; and aided as they are by a powerful political party, whose leaders steadily decry the currency, and flood the country with grave and plausible prophecies of early ruin, they are enabled to advance gold and with it all the necessaries of life, Almost whenever it is their interest to do so. And it must not be forgotten by Congress, that the steady advance of gold produces a corresponding steady distrust in the currency and the finances of the government, and unless an effectual remedy is promptly applied, our credit will become seriously and we fear permanently impaired. When once impaired, who will be cound to the task of restoring it while a gigantic war remains on our hands?

The man who resists taxtation is either coward or traitor. It cannot be done on the plea that taxes are onerous on the people, for the people are now paying indirectly by the needless advance in prices of both necessaries and luxuries, more than four fold what would sustain our currency at pur or nearly so, if collected directly for the maintenance of our credit. And infigiced prices fall just where the burdens of the government should not fall. The fabrics and other articles osset stall to the poorer classes have advanced enormously, and thus their share of taxarts invite the sordid and speculative to oy with gold almost at will; and aided

And infigited prices fall Just where the burdens of the government should not fall. The fabrics and other articles osser stalt of the poorer classes have advanced normously, and thus their share of taxation is now beyond all just proportion—while if ample taxes were imposed judiciously upon the luxuries of life, and upon the profitable products, the currency would be restored to a fair staindard; government credit would be placed beyond all peril, and the poorer classes would be relieved of the present crushing prices for the necessaries of life. Taxation is therefore the great measure of economy for the people, for the disastrous effects of depreciated currency fall directly upon them with relentless fury; and we appeal to Congress to rise to the full measure of the great issue, and save the people, the currency and the credit of the government, by making our revenues abundantly large to sustain, beyond all reasonable doubt, the obligations of the Nation.

We do not appeal to clowus like Coffroth and the abler and worse men who demand that the government shall pay gold, and yet refuse to sustain any system of revenue; who with ill-concealed hypocrisy demand a vigorous prosecution of the war, and yet refuse to vote for any measure to increase the army, and who deniand only for the maintenance of the Union, and yet rush to the sanction of rise who thank God that the rebels are not and cannot be subdued; but we do appeal to the intelligent and faithful men of Congress, of whatever political designation, who sincerely desire to preserve our Nationality, and to lessen, as far as it is in human power, the terrible exactions of war, to meet the question of taxation promptly, and avert the existing and threatening evils by planting our currency upon a basis which treason in every guise will not dare to assault. This done, and the lepuble will emerge from this dead the lepuble will emerge from this guise will not dure to assault. This done, the people will be relieved of the present crushing prices for the necessaries of life, and the Republic will emerge from this sangainary struggle with its fluances as firm as the rock of Freedom itself.

THE Copperhead Long was censured by a vote of 80 to 70 in the House on Thursday late, and the readultion to even!

by a vote of 80 to 70 in the House on Thursday last, and the resolution to expel him was tabled by one innjority. All the Pennsylvania Democrata voted against censuring him for declaring that he was in sympathy with the rebels and preferred their success to the successful prosecution of the war. So three open, unblashing traitors -Messrs. Wood, Harris and Long-who have declared in the American Congress that they would rejoice at the triumph of murderous treason, are formally defended and justified by the Demotriumph of murderous treason, are formally defended and justified by the Demoratic party. The declarations of these blatant traitors have done but little practical hurm, for the people were fully prepared for a crop of full blown treason from the Democratic side of Congress at anytime—while it has done some good in making the party openly arow its complicity with the rebels much sooner than their leaders had calculated. The issue is now fully made by the Democratic land property of the pro his duty in the coming political struggle.

The rebel General Forrest opens the spring campaign with the rebel bleas of the olive branch of concession and compromise. Civilized warfare fails to furnish a parallel to the atrocious barbarities practiced by the rebels after the capture of Fort Pillow. Not only negroes, but wounded white soldiers and defenceless women and children were alike butchered to glut the brutality of treason. In another column will be found the sickening details of this dark and bloody chapter in the history of the war.

Court week reminds us of the time we were sound in F———, since when we have abjured the law, in fact considered it a sort of humburg. Some sixtern pears ago, when we were mere-entiling, we sold a—well, we'll call it a book, to a young man, who after some months wished to return it. His manner was not altogether agreeable, and we sounde's take the book back. Soom after we received a summons to appear before a certain 'Squire in F———. The day arrived, bright and sunshiny, and we started with a light heart, a borse, a buggy. a driver, a lawyer and an armitof law books. Upon our arrival at F—— we found to our surprise that the unit was brought by the father of the youth. We preved by the young man himself that the sale was all right, and that the book was worth the money. After some heeltaflost the 'Squire decided that as the purchaser was not quite twenty-one years of ago, the sale was afterefors all and one of the sale was all right, and that the book may one all on sould not cannot make the parents liable for the debt') that we should pay the costs of suit, and refund the price of the book in question, the buyer retaining the same. We couldn't see the point, and feetlin afgirered, complained to a friend who happeared to live hard by, and were consoled with the following: "You may thank your start that you loot the suit, for if the 'Squire self heave." We howed our bread in submission, and fett had. "man proposes, but the 'Squire self heave." We have been were species.
