what then?

Gov. Curtin sent the following message to the legislature on Saturday before the adjournment, explaining the necessity for authority to negotiate a loan, to reimburse the Banks for advancements to pay the militis called out last year. It will be seen that the assumption of the National authorities was clear, and we doubt not that Congress will repay the money to the State:

be National authorities was clear, and we doubt not that Congress will repay the money to the State:

To the Issued a Upus last, incomes the form the battle to the Congress on the State to the Potomes, which resulted at the battle of State Annals, the president issued happy to the Congress from himself. And it is the State to the Congress from their unwillingness to be mustered into the service of the Linde States, as mischerous persons made themselves to be mustered into the service of the Linde States, as mischerous persons made themselves one difficulties arose from their unwillingness to be mustered into the service of the Linde States, as mischerous persons made themselves one difficulties arose from their unwillingness to be mustered into the service of the Linde States, as mischerous persons made themselves one more than the state of the Potomes of the State should affect the service of the Linde States, as mischerous persons made themselves one persons made themselves one persons made themselves one persons made themselves of the misches of the project of the potomes of the State should affect the Potomes of the Potomes

A bill, it is true, has been introduced and is now pending in Congress, providing the necessary appropriation; but it has net with opposition, and in the absence of some public declaration by the Executive, of the pledges made by the government, it may possibly be defeated. Meanwhile, as your session is drawing to a close, I feel bound to releven the faith of the Executive Department of the record the tensage of but own good faith win ...
it can be in no other manner.
A. G. CURTIN.

A SELF-EDUCATED NEORO.—The Presignaria gives in interesting account of a negrey sample George, sow's private in the 1st Two-search light artillery. While a slave on a Bouthern plantation he was the playmade of his measures' saidlarder, and by clone attestine of the learner of the letters, until he was able to read—a long attailed it secretly, remembering the order of the letters, until he was able to read—a long and tedius process. He then need to read books, no one suspecting him. Finally "young master" studied Lastia and Grock, and George of the letters, until he was able to read—a long and tedius process. He then deed to redee the control of the letters of the letter he paid with whish for private instruction, the lessons only cessing from the increasing low of the liquer controloging the fortune of war, a free man, and in the service of his loquer of his country, as stated above.

A PARALEL,—The Cleveland Herald recalls the following, to show the effect the Port Pillow massacre is likely to have:

The Texan revolution presented a notable instance of the effect of "no quarter." The defenders of Bexar fought till but six of their number remained alive. These six, one of whom was coloned Groekelt, surrendered on lore Santa Anna, they were, by his order, instantly cut to pieces. Their remains were burned in the centre of the Alants, by white mane the fort was called by the Mexican. This brutality aroused a frie in the hearts of Santa Anna himself. And it is recorded that at this battle the Texans, with the hattle-cry of "Remounder the Alama," it is recorded that at this battle the Texans, with the hattle-cry of "Remounder the Alama."

A Misspirit Slaverholder,—Mr. M'Clurg, form their reviving mission ere they depart.

A CUTA April fool trick was played upon the gotts of an coatern city, in this wise; Sousilively o'fling finites concocted a passionate love the receiver abould meet the writer on the next evening with a white rosette in his button hole, under the post office clock. This epistic they sent to divers gentlemen of their acquantamero. The result was that firth-vious young men with eight o'clock next night, under the post office time piece. They saw the joke and enjoyed it gloriously.

LAND MEASURE—Every farmer should have a rod measure—a light sith pole—just 10½ feet long for measuring land. By a little practice the can learn to step a rod at five pures which will answer very well for ordinary farm work. I have been been to be a long or measure, and missing the large to a five the color, and divide by 164, and you have the unmber of acters, as 100 square rods make a square acte. If you wish to iny off one acter, measure thirteen rose upon each side. This tacks only a rod full measure.

"Houson's Choice."—This is a very common expression, implying "that one has no choice," or that he most "take this or more." The origin of this expression will interest our readers. Tobias Hosomon will interest of the term of the term

PARMERS who make the most rapid improvement in husbandry, are likely to be those who read most on the subject of their vocation. For the man who reads little, no matter with his vocation is, will be likely to think little, and ext with reference to tradition received from former generations, or else in imitation of what is going on about him. There is always hope of a man who loves reading, study and reflection.

morning dawn proclaimed another day, the work of death began again.

Slowly but surely the Union army ad-anced its lines over hecatombs of slain. The sacrifice was priceless, save when measured by the fruits of the achievement—the perpetuity of Free Govern-ment. Stubbornly but steadily Treason receded from the condict, and the heroic Army of the Potomac, inspired by its just cause and the masterly genius and invincible purpose of its great commanders, crowned itself and the Nation with ders, crowned itself and the Nanon with decisive victory on Thursday last. Sul-lenly and hopelessly the abattered col-umns of Treason retired from the sangui-nary field, with nearly if not quite half of their warriors killed, disabled or capured.

There may be other struggles—there may still be temporary discomfitures in the future for us; but the GREAT BATTLE HAD BEEN FOUGHT, and the utter over-HAD BEEN FOUGHT, and the utter overthrow Genglan. May 16.

brave fathers, sons and orotaces are saw writhing under ghastly wounds in our hospitals. They have periled their lives that we might have enduring peace and the priceless blessings of free governments; and have fallen in the terrible conflicts of the last two weeks.

The government does much for its bi-roic defender—all if can do perhaps; but not one-half that can be done to schae them in their sore affictions and minister to their countless wants.

This cause appeals to every lover of our country; and from our teening plea-ty on every hand—from our bountiful stores and garners, and our growing wealth, let the hand of liberality be ex-tended to aid the suffering.

Many, very many, of these brave men cannot be ministered to by their leved once; and it is the highest and the ne-blest civil duty of every one to give boun-sifully of what he or she possesses, to le-sen the pain and privations of our thou-sands of sick and wounded.

It is not necessary to wait for the Chem-

It was confessedly the last, the crowning effort of Treason for positive success,
