GEN'L GORDON'S REPORT.

When the spoils of unfitness, Abolition favoritism, general incompetency and cowardice in the position in question, in spite of numbers much superior to ours, we did Chickamauga ground Rosecrans, and put to flight at the battle of Lookout's retiring the unfortunate commander and placing some one in his stead to inspire his soldiers with unlimited confidence for another fight. It was sheer nonsense to suppose the officer of the acknowledged ability for failing to improve the golden opportunity, and almost the life to us. It seems strange that we should so interfere with our chief magistrate for doing what they did so reprehensible in Lincoln. This is certainly more unreasonable when we consider the time in power. The one an unskilled, unlearned, illiterate fanatic, the other, who, possessing rare native skills, with cultivated intellect, and military training, has filled other high political positions, besides his present honorable one, with marked ability, and when tried in the fiery furnace he stood equal to any emergency, and proved himself a special favorite of Heaven. Lincoln, as we predicted, has proved V. at Bruna Vista, where with his gallant Mississippians he (Lincoln) so withstood the shock of 20,000 Mexican Lancers and with the terrible grape fire from the arms of his 7 guns huge gaps in their several ranks and deadly hurling them back in confusion, won the day. He was published the originator of this successful stratagem by General, all other knowledge and experience, all other facts to the contrary being intentionally kept from the outside of the city. Of the great value of his formation may be seen readily appreciated by the statement of the fact that his regiment was armed with Mississippi rifles without bayonets and the outside of the V. could not have offered very serious obstacle to attack without the latter, from the inside the grape fire utterly prevented approach to anything like bayonet distance. His preference was to occupy a position in the field in this struggle—to which he would have exhibited marked ability, and from which he would have fallen far short of the mark he now holds, either merit conceded by friend and foe that no other could take his place. From these facts it occurs to us that it is the extreme of folly to find fault with the only man who can satisfactorily to the majority, fill the position to which he has been chosen, whose endeavors can only be for the best interest of his country, according to his judgement, which his exceedingly good opportunities and well bestowed qualifications promptly us in saying is generally correct. We do not refer to his retention of Gens. Bragg and Pemberton, particularly as we think he has been assured forcibly, not saying whether they be retained or buried from their positions in a twinkling, preferring to leave that matter where it properly belongs, in the hands of President Davis, who in spite of the clamors of the people retained Gen. Albert Sidney Johnston in command and received the highest commendations therefor after that person had so unluckily lost his intelligent life in defending those who stood him. We feel that he understood and will decide promptly and unhesitatingly in all matters from the facts before him; but will not be influenced to other wise knowingly by the which Constituency should demand it. For we then confide in the patriotism of our President and consolation or censure, strive to aid him in his extremely laborious duties by giving him that cordial support, which is so essential to his successful accomplishment of good results.

WHY DESPOND!

Our people fall into a despondent mood from the reception of news of failure, no matter how slight. This is not right. Why should we despond on account of failures? We cannot always expect to win every battle or skirmish though we must essentially do so. The great wonder is that we have been such frequent successful.

If the enemy with an organized soldiery as a reserve for more extensive organization, with an abundance of arms and ammunition at hand and every facility for keeping up the supply, and unlimited currency and uninterrupted intercourse with the whole world, while we on the other hand had subjugations governments, were devoid of arms and ammunition, with no military organization, cut off from the world, standing isolated and alone, had to rely for the supplies for the future on the contingencies, (from the beginning) had been compelled to use Confederate currency, depreciated in value nearly one hundred per cent. in the interval, we have not succeeded admirably, we can safely say despondent on account of failures, but take them as the lesson of our past brave contentions and struggles, which we have proved.

N. K. TAYLOR,
Mayor of the Town of Gordonsville.

Dear Mr. Johnson and myself, in the discharge of your duty, found it necessary after arriving at Gordonsville, and attending to what few wounded we found there, some five or six, to come on here where the bulk of the wounded had been sent. We have found them well, and only one or two cases of neglect that belong to the Stonewall Brigade, the list of which I forward to you to be made use of in such manner as you think best in order to give notice to their friends of their situation and condition. The accidental list is before the Surgeons in charge of the 3rd Alabama, at the Chimborazo Hospital. They will let me know in the morning how many they will grant vouchers to. I have great hopes of getting the most of them. Maurice, myself with great encouragement from every quarter, have consulted with the Medical Department, from Medical Director down to the humblest man connected with the Department, and we desire most honorable mention be made of them all for their kindness in aiding us in every way possible in the discharge of our duties.

Dr. Johnson will go up to Gordonsville to-day, and if the transfers are decided on, I will come with them to-morrow. So if there is no more fighting to-day or to-morrow, I hope to take with me a large share of the wounded that are now here.

I am sir,
Very respectfully,
Yours, &c.,
J. C. MARQUIS.
