

WAR NEWS

The news from the army of Northern Virginia during the past week, especially that of the Vickers along the line of the Central R.R., and their near approach to the city were facts well calculated to arouse our sympathies for those who are fighting for the power of Kilpatrick and his midnight assassins and plunderers. Notwithstanding the great evil with which this marauding force started out, it is their unshakable conviction, we suppose, all matters were well weighed by the General Assembly and with all the lights before them they have justified for the least.

Thanks to an overruling Providence and to the stout hearts and strong arms of our gallant soldiers for this auspicious result, and may such auspicious results meet with the same surer fate.

From the army of Gen. Johnston at Dalton we learn that all is quiet, and no disposition on the part of the enemy to advance since their late repulse.

The grand combination movement of Sherman and Yoche in Mississippi which according to Yankee authority was to comprise the capture of Vicksburg, has retreated back in the direction from whence he came across the Big Black.

Gen. Forrest obtained a complete victory over Sherman, and drove him from the vicinity of Pontotoc. The road for many miles was strewn with haversacks and dead Yankees, and everything which formerly belonged to them.

We learn by yesterday's mail of the capture of several Vicksburg vessels by the assistance of Capt. Pittsburg and 13 Privates of the 6th Va. Cavalry. They all crossed the Chesapeake Bay, and captured the side-wheel steamer "Titan," the schooner "Mary Parker," and forty private property was bonded; the schooner was scuttled, and the tug was run into an inlet on the Western shore of the bay, where it had been dismantled and destroyed.

The people of the Confederate States will not be surprised when they read the address of Col. Delaney, published in another column, of his plumed men, selected to sweep through the State with fire and torch from the hated city to MURDER our President and Cabinet, and kill or destroy whatever they were unable to carry off which might be of use to the Rebels. This is the only way to destroy the passion of the fallen Delaney, to rouse his followers to do a daring deed, and nerve them to the task of meeting an outraged populace, instead of the condonation of their crimes.

Meade had but returned to the army from a Washington, when the wily Kilpatrick set out with others upon their last and most abominable raid. They did not move without the orders of superiors, but we have reason to believe that they should proceed under which Delaney loved his address which together with the instructions found on his dead body, expose the infamous design of these traitors to sweep through the State of Northern troops. It is not with the feelings of civilized men they deal with the non-combatants and innocent ones in their march, but destroy all within their reach, and then return to the old men, women, and children of our country. Thanks to a Divine Providence that they were in such a slight degree of success, they are being slain by the hands of the gallant Richmond and other brave men upon the compounds of the fallen Henry, Hampton, Folsom and others.

AN IMPORTANT DECISION

The Court of Appeals of Virginia has just rendered a decision of great importance, the effect of which will be to annul the act of Congress repealing the exemption of those who have furnished substitutes and soldiers, as granted by the original Congress. The application of the recent law suspending the WARMS act is given, was varied and the cases were argued by Messrs. Humphreys, Marshall, Jno. H. Gilmer, Cyrus A. Branch and W. W. Grump for the petitioners and Messrs. G. W. Bland and T. W. August for the Government, before Judge Allen, Daniel Almon and Robertson. The opinion was delivered by Judge Wm. H. Robertson.
