I have a httle treasure,
More beautiful to me
Than aught of gold or silver,
Or brightest nems I see.
The not a coativ jewel
In casket rich and fine

And still I deem it priceless, More presides the then gold; More bestifelt and lovely. Than earthly gens all told. Tie not in iruq coffers My treasures and I keep, and though I prize it highly, I often o'er it weep.

I often o'er it weep.

In closely folded paper,
And laid wary with care—
Lies a. Biths semy ringlet,
A curi of golden hair.

With beenty once it shaden
A flat and lovely brow:
And though long years hare was
Methink I see it now.

How oft my fingers pressed it. And twin'd it o'er and o'er,

Cerpentiest Efection.

The election for Mayor, Sergaant, Conneilmen and Aldermen takes piace on the 7th of April. This election has generally been a mere farce, in reference to which comparatively few trobled themselves. It ought, however, to receive more attention from the people. The gentlemen elected to these offices have the entire management of the affairs of the two in their hands, and it is an important matter to elect the right zort of men. There are those who complain of misseanagement, reckless extravagance, injuit closs appropriations, heavy taxes, &c. The remody for all such difficulties is at the polis, and those who feel the evil should at least manifest antificient interest in the selection of public ifest sufficient interest in the selection of primits errants to indece them to go forward and vote We make no complaints of the present Council, but would suggest one safe rule to guide the people in the election. In choosing men to man-age your business, vote only for those who know how to manage their own affairs judiciously. Death of Professor Fishburn.

Death of Professor Fishbara.

We were greatly pained on Batorday last, to hear of the death of Professor Janias M. Fishburn, of Washington College, which cocarred in Lexington on Friday morning. Has disease was a complication of measies and dysentary, from which he hash been suffering for about two weeks. Prof. Fishbara was one of the most promising young men of our acqualutance—tained, element, learned, energetic and estreet—having just entered upon a career of much usefulness.—Buddenly called away by a "mystarlous Providence" his death is another verification of the Scripture warning—"In the midst of life was in death." He was born and reared in this county, where he had many warm friends whose tanderset sympathics are with "the widow and the fatherless."

Curious Coincidences. here are some rather remarkable facts coned with the death of Mr. Junius M. Bayler which seem to us worthy of notice. His grand ancie, Col. Martin Baylor, was killed in a mill, and his uncle, Mr. Andrew J. Baylor, was and the united and spot where Junius lost his life, by a saw long falling upon him. Another curi-ous coincidence may be mentioned. Junius M. understand, named after Juni M. Fishburn, of Washington College, who died on Friday morning. They were both born in the village of Waynesboro in this county, probbly associated together in their early youth, and death were not very long divided.
