Moyses.—The Prairie Flower.

On the distant prairie where the herds walk,
In its quiet beauty lived and died.

Stands a little cottage, and a peaceful scene
Loves around the porch to come.

In that peaceful dwelling was a lonely child,

With her voice always laughing, and her mind
As bright as the sun.

And the ways of her were simple and
Like the ways of the birds in the sky.

STAUNTON SPECTATOR AND GENERAL ADVERTISER.

Staunton Spectator.
STAUNTON, VA.
TUESDAY, AUGUST 16, 1858.

The STAUNTON SPECTATOR has a subscription as many paper published elsewhere, Virginia, has no superior or more extensive of country as an advertising medium.

Expenditures of Government.

The expenditures of the United States Government have been a subject of newspaper discussion for some time past, and it yet appears to the contrary have come to no mutual satisfactory conclusion.

Three points have been debated: first, as to the amount appropriated for the use of the Government; second, what, or the amount is extravagant; and third, who is responsible.

It is reported to the first, Mr. Crittenden stated in his speech at Covington, Kentucky, that the Government would spend during the present fiscal year, about one hundred million dollars.

The friends of the Administration denied the correctness of this statement, and referred to a speech delivered in Congress by Mr. Letcher, to prove that the sum of sixty-one millions was nearer the mark.

The appropriations of the recent Congress are now, however, matters of record, and any one equally competent can figure up the amount as well as Mr. Crittenden or Mr. Letcher.

The Baltimore Patriot publishes a tabular statement of the appropriations, and shows from it that the expenses for 1859 will be $104,853,291.04.

The National Intelligencer also publishes full state ments, which occupy nearly twenty-two columns of that paper, and deduces from it that the total appropriations for the fiscal year are $104,911,412.

The editors suggest, however, that the Secretary of the Treasury will do that or he will not do that.

Upon the above we are left to guess intelligence from the testimony of Senator Hunter, in his speech at Trinity Bay on Saturday.

The Cable is completely successful. Signals are being transmitted over the whole extent of cable, it is unlikely that regular business will be opened for several days in order to give the electricians time for a series of experiments which it is desired to make, of which due notice will be given. One thing is certain, however, the line is all "O. K."

Mr. Field telegraphs on the same day.

The Atlantic cable was successfully landed here yesterday and is now in perfect order.

The British frigate Agamemnon, with the eastern terminus of the line, has arrived at Valentia Bay and landed in safety her end of the cable, and we are now receiving signals from the telegraph station at the head of Valentia Bay.

The cable was landed in a wilderness, the people at Trinity Bay having had little faith in the success of the project, apparently, as they made very slight preparations. The time when the cable was laid was just the time recommended by Lieut. Maury for making the experiment.

More than a year ago he wrote to Mr. Field that the state of both sea and air is in the most favorable condition between the 20th of July and the 10th of August.

The Secret Diplomats.

The fact is admitted that both Wykoff and Grind are employed in the secret service of our Government. The friends of the Secretary of State, Gen. Cass, have deemed it necessary, however, to declare that he had no part in their selection or appointment, but that they were appointed without his concurrence and against his advice.

This is a beautiful state of things.

The appointment of diplomatic agents, and the arrangement of affairs with foreign countries generally, are matters peculiarly intrusted to the Secretary of State; but that officer is not permitted in this case to select those who are to be brought into close and confidential relations with him, and two obnoxious individuals are forced upon him against his remonstrance.

It seems to us that an indignity has been put upon the venerable Secretary, and that an immediate resignation of his office would have been more proper than such a disclaimer of his friends have made for him.

Wykoff and Grind are connected in some way with the New York Herald, which is now recognized as a prominent organ of the Administration.

The appointments were probably made to conciliate that influential journal. The President has appointed another protege of the Herald, John Nugent, a special agent to keep the peace between the British and Americans at the Fraser river gold mines.

Nugent is the man who several years ago obtained, retrospectively, a treaty which the Senate had been discussing in secret session, and published it in the Herald. This circumstance was enough to discredit him with any Administration, but it has been added to his discredit by President Buchanan.

Staunton Steam Mill.

A company of gentlemen in this place have nearly completed an extensive steam mill in a great vicinity of town, which promises to be a great public benefit, and will, we hope, lead to the erection of other manufacturing establishments in our community.

Being situated on the Central Railroad, near the Freight Depot, and having a track running up to the door, there can be "shipped" to market directly from the mill, thus saving the producer the trouble and expense of one trip with his teams. As the machine, moreover, is operated by steam, grinding will be carried on independently of low, high water, and the various accidents to which water power mills are subjected.

The dimensions of the main building are 70 by 45 feet; 100 feet from the basement to the ridge of the roof, and less four stories exclusive of the basement. The engine house is 50 by 85 feet.

All of the machinery is made of iron. The engine, built by the Corbin Steam Engine Company, Providence, R. I., rates at 60 horse power, and is on the most approved principles and of the best construction. The regularity with which it runs is remarkable.

The mill will have three runs of wheat berries, two corn berries, one small middlings berry, and a planer crusher. It is expected that from 150 to 200 barrels of flour will be manufactured in a day. The baking apparatus will be double, so that two loaves of bread can be baked at the same time. Baking flour will be imported by the ship load. Mr. Jacob Wister, a millwright from Providence, Franklin County, Pa., is now engaged upon the mill work.

In connection with the flour mill there will be a large planing machine. This machinery, which has just arrived, was made by Mr. H. A. Dimonette of Worcester, Massachusetts, and will go out, it is said, a better and cheaper implement than is now used here. It is expected that the cost of the mill will be approximately the same as that of the others.

Mr. George Becker, of this place, is the builder of the steam mill, and Mr. S. A. Richardson has the general superintendence of the works.

A Poor Age.

Another day last week we received an unexpected visit from our friend Mrs. Beyer, wife of Mr. Ed. Beyer, the artist. Mrs. Beyer is passing round distributing to subscribers the 3rd and 4th volumes of Mr. B.'s Album of Virginia. These volumes contain the following views: 1. Falling Spring, in Bath county, 2. Gainsborough's Hill, Rockbridge, 3. Bullard's Rock, on New River, in Giles county, 4. Waynes' Cave (four pictures), 5. Salt Sulphur Springs, in Monroe county, 6. Red Sulphur Springs, in Monroe county, 7. & 8. views from Salt Pond Mountain, in Giles, 9. United States Armory at Harper's Ferry, 10. Natural Bridge (a different view from that in the 1st vol.), 11. Kanawha Falls, in Fayette county, 12. Cheat River, on the Baltimore & Ohio R. R., 13. Greenbrier White Sulphur, 14. White Sulphur, 15. Hot Springs, in Bath county, West Cont.

We hope that these views will be successful in the sale of his album. They certainly deserve extensive patronage, energy and skill which he has displayed in sketching and publishing these views of the Old Dominion, entitle him to the favor of every citizen of the State. His enterprise will doubtless have the effect of attracting visitors from abroad, and his sketches will be appreciated by every lover of the art or admirer of the grand works of nature. The present volume are a decided improvement upon the first two.

"Fair Play."

A correspondent of the Richmond Enquirer, who writes over the signature "Fair Play," is anxious to excite party prejudice against Mr. Letcher by referring to his support of S. McD. Moore in preference to Jacob Baylor, when these gentlemen were opposing candidates for the State Senate. In great ignorance of the facts of the case, or total disregard of "fair play," he alleges that Mr. Baylor was "the regularly nominated candidate of the Democratic party." Mr. Baylor was the nominee of no party, and although a Democrat, entirely ignored party politics in this country.

Fatal Accident.

On Tuesday last the cylinder of a threshing machine, on the land of Mr. Adams Leachman, about one mile from town, burst and wounded a Mr. Smeltz very severely. Mr. Smeltz's jaw bone was broken in several places, several of his teeth were knocked out, his tongue nearly cut in two, and an iron spike driven deep in his shoulder joint. He was still living when we last heard from him. The machine had not been used this season, and was just started when the accident occurred.

BEES! BEES!

L. L. Langstroth's Notable Hive.

Patented October 5th, 1852.

BEES are in this hive attached to a separate enclosure, so that they can be taken out in minutes, without惊动ing or injuring them in the least, or at all damaging the bees. By this arrangement, we stock our hives more compactly, by helping them to gather more nectar from certain nectars by giving them the means of obtaining pollen.
