There's Reem Baseugh for All What need of all this free and strift, Each warring with his brother! Why should we, in the rows of all is, Keep trampling down each other: Is there so goal that can be won, Without a squeeze to gain it? No other way of getting on. But tersambling to obtase it? Oh, failor-men, hear wisdom, then, In friendly warring call—"Your claims driets, the world is wide. There's room sough for all!"

There's room sough for all! What if he wearthy peasant flud No field for honsel tabor? He need not lifty stop behind, To thrust saids his neighbor. There in a land with soney skies, Which gold for toil is giving. Where every breway hand that tries It is strength, can group a living. Oh, follow-man, resonabler then, Whatever chance befail. The world is wide—where those shids, There's room enough for all. From poisseed air we breath in courts,

From poisoned air ye breaths in courts, And typhus tainted alleys. Go forth and dwell where health resorts, In fertile hills and valleys:

In fertile hills and valleys:
Where every man that clears a bough
Finds plenty to shoudance;
Dy, leave your loathsone cities, now,
And tool for independence.
Oh, hasten, then, from fevered den,
And lodging cramp and small,
The world is wide—in land beside,
There's room enough for all,
the his fair enden for new.

There's room soogh for all,
in this fair region for away,
Will labor Bid employment—
A lair day's work, a fair day's pay,
And toll will insure nelpy meat.
What need, then, of this daily strift,
Where seek were with this brottler!
Why need we, through the crowd of life,
Keep transping down each other!
From rags and crime that distant clime
Will free the pauger's thrall;
Take fortune's tide—the world so wide
Has room enough for all! Has room enough for all !
