It is high time what these questions were duly entertained and settled. We suggest a few facts which ought to exercise some influence over patriotic minds. One is, that Lincoln's election not to the rights of the States. "to precipitate the Cotton States into revolution."
The advocates of Mr. Breckinridge's election "to precipitate the Cotton States into revolution.
The advocates of Mr. Breckinning's election profess a warm devotion both to the Union and to the rights of the States. If they are almost, they will make the deficit of Lincoln their first object. In this State they have instructed their In this State they have instructed their Important advices reach as from Mexico by way of New Orleans, at which port the steam; ship Anstin has arrived, from Brazos on the 30th nit. A battle was fought on the 10th at Lagos, between Miramon and Degollado. Miramon, with wenty-aight hondered thee, attempted to cut his way through Degollado's forces, by which he was surrounded. The fight lasted five days, and resclied in Degollado's favor. Miramon was wounded, but succeeded in making his excaps with a few of his cavalry. He tost all his artilleys, however, and the remainder of his anny were taken prisoners. Miramon, at last account, was in full flight. The news is to be received, like all Mexican intelligence, with important allowances for probable oraggeration.
