THE RIGHT SPIRIT.—We were exceedingly gratified with the spirit of patriotism shown by our neighbors of Augusta County on Friday and Saturday last. The whole county seemed to be moved by a stern resolve to give the enemy, who was then expected, the best reception possible. We were satisfied the state of the state of of the States that seconded to what is still called the United States. These are to be thorough and perfect separation, with unconditional independence, or, this faiting, then absolute and hopeless subjugation to the power of the Yankee race, political ostracism, seeial degradation and loss of everything which a white man ever deemed worthy of preservation. The issue is distinct and definite. The last resort of nations can alone determine it. The people of the Confederate States must lose everything, or make good thair independence. There is no alternative, nor ought there to be any. Absolute independence from the old Yankee Government is a necessity we have to embrace, and we can never think of the close of the war upon any other basis.—
