

Staunton, Va.

TUESDAY, 11th FEBRUARY 1862

A SOLDIER'S BILLET

About a week, on Thursday morning, the 11th inst., in Staunton, Va., the...

When our present Town Councilmen were elected, we expressed the hope that no license for the sale of liquor within the Town would be granted...

OUTRAGES OF THE SWAMP DRAGONS

The following facts in reference to some of the outrages committed by the Swamp Dragons, a company of traitors composed of disloyal citizens and deserters...

ESCAPE OF FEDERAL PRISONERS

On Tuesday night last, one hundred and nine Yankee prisoners (all officers) escaped from Libby prison. The number comprised eleven Colonels, seven majors, thirty-seven captains, and fifty-nine lieutenants...

TWO BILLS APPROVED

The President has approved two bills which were passed in secret session. First, a bill to prohibit the importation of various articles, or commodities, embraced under the head of "luxuries."

THE ARMY AND THE SPECULATORS

Some Executive papers were sent into Congress on Wednesday last, which contained a letter from General Imboden, explanatory of his order prohibiting supplies from being transported from the district he commands in the Valley...

THE ENEMY'S FORCE AT WILLIAMSBURG

A captured Yankee, belonging to the One Hundred and Thirty-ninth New York regiment, gives a distinct account of the enemy's force at Williamsburg. He says that General Winter is in command. There are three regiments in the advance: the One Hundred and Eighteenth New York, and the One Hundred and Forty-fifth New York.

The following despatches were received by the War Department on Friday last:
CHARLESTON, February 11, 1862.
General Winfield Scott has captured the enemy's force at Johnston's Island. He is in the process of capturing the fortifications...

THE MILITARY WILL IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
The House, on Wednesday the 10th, passed the army bill which originated in the Senate...

THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS
The eloquent address of the President to the army will be found in another column. It needs no eulogy from us; its every word is replete with love and affection for the brave devotion that called it forth...

DEATH OF HON. JAMES B. CLAY
A telegram from Montreal announces the death of Hon. James B. Clay, ex-minister to Portugal, and ex-member of Congress from the Ashland district, Kentucky.

INDEPENDENCE

Let us trust, says the Richmond Dispatch, that in severing the last link of our connection with the United States, we are entering a career not only of nominal, but of real independence.

THE WOOL INTEREST OF VIRGINIA

The bill introduced and supported with so much zeal by J. Marshall McCue, Esq., of this county, has become a law. The act prohibits the sale of sheep for mutton, as well as the butchering at home with a view to sending the meat to market, under a penalty of $50 for each sheep killed.

FROM THE PENINSULA

The "Sentinel" says the signs indicate a heavy movement on Richmond by way of the Peninsula. Accounts from the lower James river announce the landing of large bodies of troops and supplies at Newport News.

THE ENEMY'S FORCE AT WILLIAMSBURG

A captured Yankee, belonging to the One Hundred and Thirty-ninth New York regiment, gives a distinct account of the enemy's force at Williamsburg. He says that General Winter is in command. There are three regiments in the advance: the One Hundred and Eighteenth New York, and the One Hundred and Forty-fifth New York.

General Sherman has captured the enemy's force at Johnston's Island. He is in the process of capturing the fortifications...

The following despatches were received by the War Department on Friday last:
CHARLESTON, February 11, 1862.
General Winfield Scott has captured the enemy's force at Johnston's Island. He is in the process of capturing the fortifications...

THE MILITARY WILL IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
The House, on Wednesday the 10th, passed the army bill which originated in the Senate...

THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS
The eloquent address of the President to the army will be found in another column. It needs no eulogy from us; its every word is replete with love and affection for the brave devotion that called it forth...

DEATH OF HON. JAMES B. CLAY
A telegram from Montreal announces the death of Hon. James B. Clay, ex-minister to Portugal, and ex-member of Congress from the Ashland district, Kentucky.

INDEPENDENCE

Let us trust, says the Richmond Dispatch, that in severing the last link of our connection with the United States, we are entering a career not only of nominal, but of real independence.

THE WOOL INTEREST OF VIRGINIA

The bill introduced and supported with so much zeal by J. Marshall McCue, Esq., of this county, has become a law. The act prohibits the sale of sheep for mutton, as well as the butchering at home with a view to sending the meat to market, under a penalty of $50 for each sheep killed.

FROM THE PENINSULA

The "Sentinel" says the signs indicate a heavy movement on Richmond by way of the Peninsula. Accounts from the lower James river announce the landing of large bodies of troops and supplies at Newport News.

THE ENEMY'S FORCE AT WILLIAMSBURG

A captured Yankee, belonging to the One Hundred and Thirty-ninth New York regiment, gives a distinct account of the enemy's force at Williamsburg. He says that General Winter is in command. There are three regiments in the advance: the One Hundred and Eighteenth New York, and the One Hundred and Forty-fifth New York.

General Sherman has captured the enemy's force at Johnston's Island. He is in the process of capturing the fortifications...

The following despatches were received by the War Department on Friday last:
CHARLESTON, February 11, 1862.
General Winfield Scott has captured the enemy's force at Johnston's Island. He is in the process of capturing the fortifications...

THE MILITARY WILL IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
The House, on Wednesday the 10th, passed the army bill which originated in the Senate...

THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS
The eloquent address of the President to the army will be found in another column. It needs no eulogy from us; its every word is replete with love and affection for the brave devotion that called it forth...

DEATH OF HON. JAMES B. CLAY
A telegram from Montreal announces the death of Hon. James B. Clay, ex-minister to Portugal, and ex-member of Congress from the Ashland district, Kentucky.

INDEPENDENCE

Let us trust, says the Richmond Dispatch, that in severing the last link of our connection with the United States, we are entering a career not only of nominal, but of real independence.

THE WOOL INTEREST OF VIRGINIA

The bill introduced and supported with so much zeal by J. Marshall McCue, Esq., of this county, has become a law. The act prohibits the sale of sheep for mutton, as well as the butchering at home with a view to sending the meat to market, under a penalty of $50 for each sheep killed.

FROM THE PENINSULA

The "Sentinel" says the signs indicate a heavy movement on Richmond by way of the Peninsula. Accounts from the lower James river announce the landing of large bodies of troops and supplies at Newport News.

THE ENEMY'S FORCE AT WILLIAMSBURG

A captured Yankee, belonging to the One Hundred and Thirty-ninth New York regiment, gives a distinct account of the enemy's force at Williamsburg. He says that General Winter is in command. There are three regiments in the advance: the One Hundred and Eighteenth New York, and the One Hundred and Forty-fifth New York.

General Sherman has captured the enemy's force at Johnston's Island. He is in the process of capturing the fortifications...

The following despatches were received by the War Department on Friday last:
CHARLESTON, February 11, 1862.
General Winfield Scott has captured the enemy's force at Johnston's Island. He is in the process of capturing the fortifications...

THE MILITARY WILL IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
The House, on Wednesday the 10th, passed the army bill which originated in the Senate...

THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS
The eloquent address of the President to the army will be found in another column. It needs no eulogy from us; its every word is replete with love and affection for the brave devotion that called it forth...

DEATH OF HON. JAMES B. CLAY
A telegram from Montreal announces the death of Hon. James B. Clay, ex-minister to Portugal, and ex-member of Congress from the Ashland district, Kentucky.

INDEPENDENCE

Let us trust, says the Richmond Dispatch, that in severing the last link of our connection with the United States, we are entering a career not only of nominal, but of real independence.

THE WOOL INTEREST OF VIRGINIA

The bill introduced and supported with so much zeal by J. Marshall McCue, Esq., of this county, has become a law. The act prohibits the sale of sheep for mutton, as well as the butchering at home with a view to sending the meat to market, under a penalty of $50 for each sheep killed.

FROM THE PENINSULA

The "Sentinel" says the signs indicate a heavy movement on Richmond by way of the Peninsula. Accounts from the lower James river announce the landing of large bodies of troops and supplies at Newport News.

THE ENEMY'S FORCE AT WILLIAMSBURG

A captured Yankee, belonging to the One Hundred and Thirty-ninth New York regiment, gives a distinct account of the enemy's force at Williamsburg. He says that General Winter is in command. There are three regiments in the advance: the One Hundred and Eighteenth New York, and the One Hundred and Forty-fifth New York.

General Sherman has captured the enemy's force at Johnston's Island. He is in the process of capturing the fortifications...

The following despatches were received by the War Department on Friday last:
CHARLESTON, February 11, 1862.
General Winfield Scott has captured the enemy's force at Johnston's Island. He is in the process of capturing the fortifications...

THE MILITARY WILL IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
The House, on Wednesday the 10th, passed the army bill which originated in the Senate...

THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS
The eloquent address of the President to the army will be found in another column. It needs no eulogy from us; its every word is replete with love and affection for the brave devotion that called it forth...

DEATH OF HON. JAMES B. CLAY
A telegram from Montreal announces the death of Hon. James B. Clay, ex-minister to Portugal, and ex-member of Congress from the Ashland district, Kentucky.

INDEPENDENCE

Let us trust, says the Richmond Dispatch, that in severing the last link of our connection with the United States, we are entering a career not only of nominal, but of real independence.

THE WOOL INTEREST OF VIRGINIA

The bill introduced and supported with so much zeal by J. Marshall McCue, Esq., of this county, has become a law. The act prohibits the sale of sheep for mutton, as well as the butchering at home with a view to sending the meat to market, under a penalty of $50 for each sheep killed.

FROM THE PENINSULA

The "Sentinel" says the signs indicate a heavy movement on Richmond by way of the Peninsula. Accounts from the lower James river announce the landing of large bodies of troops and supplies at Newport News.

THE ENEMY'S FORCE AT WILLIAMSBURG

A captured Yankee, belonging to the One Hundred and Thirty-ninth New York regiment, gives a distinct account of the enemy's force at Williamsburg. He says that General Winter is in command. There are three regiments in the advance: the One Hundred and Eighteenth New York, and the One Hundred and Forty-fifth New York.

General Sherman has captured the enemy's force at Johnston's Island. He is in the process of capturing the fortifications...

The following despatches were received by the War Department on Friday last:
CHARLESTON, February 11, 1862.
General Winfield Scott has captured the enemy's force at Johnston's Island. He is in the process of capturing the fortifications...

THE MILITARY WILL IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
The House, on Wednesday the 10th, passed the army bill which originated in the Senate...

THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS
The eloquent address of the President to the army will be found in another column. It needs no eulogy from us; its every word is replete with love and affection for the brave devotion that called it forth...

DEATH OF HON. JAMES B. CLAY
A telegram from Montreal announces the death of Hon. James B. Clay, ex-minister to Portugal, and ex-member of Congress from the Ashland district, Kentucky.

INDEPENDENCE

Let us trust, says the Richmond Dispatch, that in severing the last link of our connection with the United States, we are entering a career not only of nominal, but of real independence.

THE WOOL INTEREST OF VIRGINIA

The bill introduced and supported with so much zeal by J. Marshall McCue, Esq., of this county, has become a law. The act prohibits the sale of sheep for mutton, as well as the butchering at home with a view to sending the meat to market, under a penalty of $50 for each sheep killed.

FROM THE PENINSULA

The "Sentinel" says the signs indicate a heavy movement on Richmond by way of the Peninsula. Accounts from the lower James river announce the landing of large bodies of troops and supplies at Newport News.

THE ENEMY'S FORCE AT WILLIAMSBURG

A captured Yankee, belonging to the One Hundred and Thirty-ninth New York regiment, gives a distinct account of the enemy's force at Williamsburg. He says that General Winter is in command. There are three regiments in the advance: the One Hundred and Eighteenth New York, and the One Hundred and Forty-fifth New York.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS
A large section of the page containing various small advertisements, including notices for medical services, legal matters, and business transactions.

THE BEST ALWAYS LAST!!!
A large advertisement for a product, featuring a detailed illustration of a person and extensive text describing the benefits and quality of the item.