The battle between the Austrians and the Allies took place at Montebello...

The Allies took place at Montebello, a town of Austria Italy.

The Liverpool cotton market was quiet; prices were somewhat easier.

There are two towns of Montebello in Italy, as described in the Gazettes.

The despatch does not give the position of the one at which this battle took place.

One of the Montebellos is a town of Austria Italy, ten miles S. W. of Vicenza.

It is defended by two castles; and the other a village twenty three miles E. N. E. of Alessandria.

It will be seen that the posts were occupied by Marshal d'Hilliers of the French army.

This General was posted on the main road from Novi to Genoa.

The battle of Montebello took place on the 21st of May.

The Austrians, who were commanded by General Stadion, attacked the post of Marshal Berragony d'Hilliers.

They were driven back by General Forri's division after a furious combat.

which lasted four hours. The Allies carried Montebello, but did not pursue the Austrians.

Two hundred of the Austrians, including a colonel, were captured and taken to Marsailles.

The Austrians were fifteen thousand strong. They lost 2,500 men.

The Allies lost 700, among whom were many officers. The Austrian account of the battle differs widely from the above.

The actual force of the French is not stated. It is reported, however that it numbered 6,000 men, beside a regiment of Sardinian cavalry.

PIKE'S PEAK

The shades of night were gathering fast. As through a western village passed a youth who bore sad and lowly mien...

His brow was gray, his eye was bright. And yet the gleam of silent night had shined around him...

Try not to go, the former said. You'll lose your only friend from your head...

Beware the Red man's angry breath! 'Tis but the harbinger of death!

At break of day, with manly step. He bid farewell, while round him wept his many friends...

With fading dreams of gold, he went. Speed her aid his actions lent.

THE LOST SISTER

Of the Valley of the Wyoming.

After the battle and massacre, most of the settlers fled. But here and there a few stragglers returned from the wilderness...

When Mr. Slocom was giving me this history, I said to him, 'but could she not speak?' 'Not a word!'

What a picture for a painter would the inside of that cabin afford? Here were the children of civilization, respectable, temperate, intelligent and wealthy...

The brother and sister tried to persuade their lost sister to return with them, and if she desired it, bring her children...

I will only add that nothing has ever been heard of the boy Kingsley. The probability is that he is not living.

As the boys grew up and became men, they were anxious to know the fate of their little faithless sister.

My reader will now pass over fifty eight years from the time of this captivity, and suppose himself far in the wilderness...

REAL POWER.—Wealth, we are told, is power; talent is power, and knowledge is power.

It might be published. By some, to me unaccountable, blunder, it lay in the office for two years before it was published.

The two brothers and sisters are now on their way to see little Frances, just sixty years after her captivity.

They go into the cabin and find an Indian woman having the appearance of seventy five. She is painted and jeweled off, and dressed like the Indians in all respects.

NATHAN'S LESSON

BY MISS S. S. STEVENSON.

When thou walkest in the fields, Father! with thy listening son, Point to the sweetest mountain's head...

When thou walkest by the way, Mother! with thy little one, Where the sweetest willow grows...

Show her how their colors glow, How their busy business starts, Fill their hearts with gladness...

Well, Johnny, have you succeeded today, my son?

Nothing good to day, mother. I have been all over the town, almost, and no one would take me.

It was a cold, bleak night, and Johnny had been out all day looking for a place. He had persevered, although constantly refused...

After a few moments of silence, the boy, looking up into his mother's face with more than usual seriousness, said:

'Well, to-morrow is Sabbath, and when the class breaks up, I believe I will ask him.'

Next morning was the sabbath. John's breakfast was rather scant, but he said not a word about that, for he saw that his mother ate very little.

The Sabbath-school bell rang. The sun was shining bright and clear, but the air was exceedingly cold.

'Who is that little pale faced boy in your class?' asked the superintendent of Johnny's teacher.

'His name is Jones; he lives in Stone street, and I must visit him this very week. He is a well behaved boy.'

'Had you ever been to school before that time?' 'Yes, sir, before mother was sick I used to go to school; but that was a great way off, and when mother got better, and you opened this new school, she advised me to come here, as it is so much nearer.'

THE BURNER'S LAST HOPE.

A Tale of an Old Man's Revival.

'Oh, sir, I didn't know they sold rum there when I first went in, and when I saw what kind of store it was I was afraid.'

'Why did you not keep the piece of gold money that you found on the floor as you were coming into the store.'

'I have finished my business; I also left and went up to the Planter's House where I boarded. When I arrived, it lacked but a few minutes of dinner time...

'I have caught you! Remember EDELE!' As he spoke, the ominous click of the old man's rifle was heard.

'I was not the only one that loved him—my Eddele—than only sixteen, the image of her poor dead mother—she loved him, and he pretended to love her.'

'I tried to cheer up the old man. I told him that the mere recital of his wrongs before a western jury would acquit him, but he only shook his head and muttered: 'My last shot is fired, I am at the end of my last tramp.'

The Metal Cure of the World. An examination of the crop of metal products in the great harvest field of Australia.

United States, sixteen million pounds sterling; Great Britain, twenty million ditto; the Russian Empire, five million; France, only three million; the Austrian Empire less than half a million.

Mr. Whitney's table of the metallic product of the world for the year 1854, presents some interesting facts.

It had a total value in 1854, in which there were over three hundred thousand tons of gold, and 60,000 pounds of silver.

Spain takes the palm in silver, the product of 1854 amounting to 1,750,000 pounds Troy.

The gold crop is larger in Great Britain than anywhere else on the globe. To her 7,000 tons the East Indies and Southern Asia bring 5,000 tons.

Next to Great Britain comes Chili, with her 4,000 tons of copper. Brazil, then Australia and Oceania, producing 3,000 tons; the East Indies and Southern Asia with 3,000 tons, and so on.

There is a crowd of thousands after them to the north that drives the day, storm of battle and thunder of war.

VALLEY SPIRIT. CHAMBERSBURG, PA. CIRCULATION 2,500 COPIES. Wednesday Evening, June 9, 1859. J. M. COOPER, Editor.

Rich L. Wright, of Philadelphia. Surveyor General, JOHN ROWE, of Franklin County.

Monument to the Founder of our Town.

That interesting event, the presentation of a flag to the Chambersburg Artillery by the Hon. GEORGE CHAMBERS, which was duly chronicled in the local columns of our last issue, has suggested to some of our citizens the propriety of erecting a Monument to the memory of BENJAMIN CHAMBERS, the founder of our beautiful town.

We intend to endorse the proposition of the Transcript's correspondent to erect a monument to the memory of the founder of our town, but we wish first to record our protest against his repetition of the standing slander upon the men of the present day, that they are insensible to the blessings they enjoy and ungrateful to the memory of those who achieved their country's independence.

Nor is the name of WASHINGTON alone held in admiring remembrance by those who live and move and have their being in what are slightly and unjustly termed "these degenerate days." When the mind of an American of to-day reverts to the trying times of our country's struggle for independence, our venerated forms rise up beside that of the Great Chief, and the names of ADAMS, JEFFERSON, FRANKLIN, HENCKOCK, HENRY, LAFAYETTE, GREENE, MARCOCK, (once a resident of our county, we believe,) MARION, PUTNAM, WARREN, and a host of others, burst from lips that name them but to praise them.

But let us rear to the proposed Monument. It would be an interesting feature of our town and an appropriate tribute to the brave pioneer who planted the flag of civilization on the banks of the Conococheague and defended it against the savages who swarmed around.

A Slave Code. We see by a paragraph in the Transcript, that Gov. PACKER's organ, the State Sentinel, quotes one of the resolutions of the Cincinnati Platform to prove that "Those who demand that Congress shall protect slavery in the territories are in direct conflict with the Democratic creed."

Mr. BUCHANAN having accepted an invitation to attend the commencement exercises of the University at Chapel Hill, in North Carolina, last Wednesday in company with Secretary Seward, the following is the substance of his remarks at various points along his route.

main point we have cordially endorsed. His proposal is one that must meet general approbation, and we trust he will keep it before our people till the morning sun and the evening stars shall greet a CHAMBERS MONUMENT in DENNY SQUARE.

If the immediate accomplishment of this object on a scale worthy of an enlightened community like ours be considered impracticable, might not measures now be initiated which would insure its fulfilment on the Centennial Anniversary of the laying out of the town? The ground might be secured and gradually embellished in the course of the next two or three years, as means would justify, and in 1864 the design could be finally carried out by the erection of the Monument, which might receive an appropriate dedication on the Fourth of July.

Groundless Assaults.

Because the United States Court in Ohio has convicted a couple of slave-stealers belonging to the Abolition party of the North, and the United States Court of Georgia has not convicted a couple of negro stealers belonging to the Slave Trade faction of the South, the Republican journals assert that Mr. BUCHANAN does not exercise his high functions and authority with impartiality. They say he drives on a rigid prosecution against Northern violators of the Fugitive Slave Law, and at the same time connives at the escape of Southern violators of the law declaring the Slave Trade to be piracy.

It is astonishing how vindictively the Republican journals assail our venerable Chief Magistrate, and how little regard they show for truth and fairness in making their attacks. They have made numberless groundless charges against him, but never one more totally groundless than this. And they must be well aware of its utter falsity, for it is a matter of public knowledge that Mr. BUCHANAN removed a United States officer who did not exercise due diligence in the discharge of his duty in connection with the imported Africans. A person committed to the custody of the Marshal escaped and was rescued, and although the Marshal alleged that he had done what he thought was best to guard against escape, Mr. BUCHANAN punished him by an immediate dismissal from office.

The condition of things in Utah made it extremely desirable that the judges appointed for that Territory should confine themselves strictly within their own official sphere. The Government had a district attorney who was charged with the duties of a public prosecutor, and a marshal who was charged with the arrest and keeping of criminals. For the judges there was nothing left except to hear patiently the causes brought before them, and to determine them impartially according to the evidence adduced on both sides.

Mr. BUCHANAN having accepted an invitation to attend the commencement exercises of the University at Chapel Hill, in North Carolina, last Wednesday in company with Secretary Seward, the following is the substance of his remarks at various points along his route.

The Transcript's Tenny Slender.

The Transcript has committed an error of its own, which made it very considerate his "diffidence" against the argument is lodged in. This is right. Errors should be corrected wherever discovered. But when is the Transcript going to correct the error it made when it attributed to Judge TANNY the atrocious sentiment that "negroes have no rights which a white man is bound to respect?"

Justice to Judge TANNY demands from the production of proof to sustain its charge. We want the Transcript to speak, and we are determined to "smoke it out" somehow. On the one hand, we do not want the venerated Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, who had the good sense to liberate the slaves he inherited, to go down to the grave with the Transcript's heavy imputation resting on his head; and on the other hand, we do not want to be compelled to put our respectable contemporary to shame by proving that it has misrepresented or garbled so important a public document as the opinion of the Supreme Court in the DRAY SCOTT case.

Utah Territory.

In speaking of the new trouble in the Territory of Utah, a week or two ago, we expressed the opinion that when Judge CRADLEBAUGH and Gen. JOHNSTON got fresh instructions from the government, they would find that they had been trenching on Gov. GUMMING's ground. It was very clear to us that the Judge especially had usurped authority that rightfully belonged to other government officials in the Territory.

Highly Important Letter.

We publish below a highly important and interesting letter from the Attorney General of the United States, under the instruction of the President to the judges of Utah, which will command universal attention. It is written with the ability which always characterizes the productions of Judge BLACK, and leaves no room for doubt touching the views of the Administration in reference to affairs in Utah.

Attorney General's Office, May 17, 1859. GENTLEMEN: The President has received your joint letter on the subject of the military force which the court for the second district of Utah was attending during the term recently held at Provo city. He has carefully considered it as well as all other advice relating to the same affair, and he has directed me to give you his answer.

The condition of things in Utah made it extremely desirable that the judges appointed for that Territory should confine themselves strictly within their own official sphere. The Government had a district attorney who was charged with the duties of a public prosecutor, and a marshal who was charged with the arrest and keeping of criminals. For the judges there was nothing left except to hear patiently the causes brought before them, and to determine them impartially according to the evidence adduced on both sides.

It seems that on the 6th of March last Judge Cradlebaugh announced to the commanding officer of the military forces that on the 8th day of the same month he would begin a term of the district court at Provo, and received a military guard for certain prisoners, to the number of six or eight, who were then in custody, and who were to be triable at Provo. The requisition mentions it as a probable fact that "a large band of organized thieves would be arrested, but that it was necessary to instruct you that these were to be the limits of your interference with the public affairs of the Territory, for the Executive never delegates to the judicial department.

It is a matter of public knowledge that Mr. BUCHANAN removed a United States officer who did not exercise due diligence in the discharge of his duty in connection with the imported Africans. A person committed to the custody of the Marshal escaped and was rescued, and although the Marshal alleged that he had done what he thought was best to guard against escape, Mr. BUCHANAN punished him by an immediate dismissal from office.

Mr. BUCHANAN having accepted an invitation to attend the commencement exercises of the University at Chapel Hill, in North Carolina, last Wednesday in company with Secretary Seward, the following is the substance of his remarks at various points along his route.

and their progress, and the progress of the object. The object of the party is to furnish the means of supporting an opposition which might be too strong for the civil power, and to enable us to admit of a formal recognition by the people upon the military commander. An all-out effort should be made to furnish the means of duty, and he shall be able to do so.

Under the present system the military has achieved its present position. The policy of the nation is not the policy of the democratic party. Its history is illustrated by its financial policy, and its financial policy is its history. A temporary defeat may for a moment check its progress, but it will be only to gather more strength in the returning tide which will bear it onward.

The Opposition Party. Such is the general name by which the opponents of the democratic party now distinguish themselves. It is a party based upon representative living, and its object is to give an outlet to its own policy, foreign and domestic—it has no other object.

It is very probable that the Moravia inhabitants of Utah have been guilty of crimes for which they deserve the severest punishment. It is not intended by the Government to let any one escape against whom the proper process can be proved, with the exception of the district attorney, has been instructed to use all possible diligence in bringing criminals of every class and of all degrees to justice. We have the fullest confidence in the vigilance, fidelity, and ability of the officer.

It is very likely that public opinion in the Territory is frequently opposed to the conviction of parties who deserve punishment. It is the duty of the executive to enforce the law, and to see that the law is executed. These are subjects upon which there is no room for compromise. We have the fullest confidence in the vigilance, fidelity, and ability of the officer.

On the whole, the President is very decidedly of opinion that the government of the Territory has power to issue a requisition upon the commanding general for the whole or a part of the army.

That there was no apparent occasion for the presence of the troops at Provo. If that is a real question, the commander in custody had been attempted, it was the duty of the marshal, and not of the judge, to summon the force which might be necessary to prevent it.

That the troops ought not to have been sent to Provo with the concurrence of the governor, nor kept there against his remonstrance. That the disregard of these principles and rules of action has been in many ways extremely unfortunate.

Washington, June 2. The Navy Department today received a letter from Capt. Farquhar, commanding the U. S. ship of War Brooklyn, dated Vera Cruz, May 21st, in which he says that "Captain Jarvis sailed in the U. S. ship Savannah for Provocons on the 18th, and the U. S. ship Saratoga arrived at Vera Cruz on the same day."

From the St. Louis Republic, May 29. (By the Overland Mail.) The Overland Mail arrived last night, only twenty hours late. It was accompanied by the late Gen. Wm. Van Dusen, & Co. who had sailed at St. Louis, and we are within a few days of persons.

From Texas, a correspondent informs us that the Comanche war had been re-opened with fury. Major Van Dusen, who on a former expedition distinguished himself by a successful defeat of that tribe, has been compelled to repeat his summary treatment. We annex the letter: Fort Sabalan, Texas, May 29, 1859.

An extra express has just arrived from Camp 20th, with the report that four days previous Major Van Dusen had a fight with the northern Comanches on a prong of the Arkansas river, killed forty and took thirty six prisoners—killed Van Dusen and Captain Smith, and several soldiers wounded and two killed. The express leaves for Camp Upton.

From Four to five hundred men from Texas, Texas, Parker and Red River, have been sent to the frontier. After a twenty mile march the Texas Rangers have been sent to attack the Comanches. It is thought that the Comanches will attack the Reserve.

From Australia. The bark Enterprise, from Australia, brought Melbourne news of the death of Governor. Quite a destructive fire had occurred in Melbourne. A whole block, comprising fifty houses, mostly frame buildings belonging to laborers, were destroyed. The fire broke out in a bakery, and a large fire had taken place at Ballarat, which destroyed the Adelphi Hotel, and a large number of other buildings. Damage estimated at from $15,000 to $20,000.

A great deal of excitement has been created at Ballarat by the discovery that a quantity of stolen goods had been discovered, and that which had hitherto been disregarded, would yield not less than 150 ounces of pure gold to the ton, with a very large per centage of silver. The sample analyzed was taken from the steam of the H. & Co. on the 14th inst. They had gone through about twenty feet of strata, and as it had hitherto been treated as worthless, if the specimen examined upon be a fair sample of the whole, a fresh mine of gold would be opened up on one of the oldest fields of the world.

Several fish quarrels at Covaria are mentioned, and a good deal of interest had been awakened in quartz mining. Excavations at Greenham Gully yesterday carried off seven hundred and eighty passengers for the East—sixteen of them intending to go by way of Teanau-poa. The steamship Orizaba took away seven hundred and seventy, making one thousand five hundred and fifty in all. The steamer Orizaba is to be sold to the East for two millions five hundred thousand dollars.—Naturalist.

DEATH OF HON. GEORGE W. THOMAS. The Boston papers announce the death of Hon. G. W. Thomas, the illustrious statesman, on the 21st inst. He was born in the Legislature for the past three years. Deceased was a native of Georgia, and emigrated to this State from Texas in 1810. During the Mexican war he served as a surgeon in the army.

THE NORTH CALIFORNIA NEWS. On Monday a quarrel occurred between J. C. Williams and Col. James A. Bouteille, it is generally believed, on their high road, which always passes unheeded by sensible people. But their manifold failures do not seem to pamper their pride. Not a bit. They keep their warning shriek, no matter in what garb they appear.

THE BISHOP OF PENNSYLVANIA, recently appointed at religious services held at the residence of the American Legation at Rome, Rev. Mr. Clements, of Trenton, New Jersey, assisting. The Bishop administered the rite of confirmation to five persons, among whom was young English nobleman, the Duke of St. Albans. This was the first time an American Bishop ever administered confirmation in Rome.

THE PROSPECT OF THE coming fruit crop in New England is quite unfavorable. Peaches will be a large failure. Apples, however, have been killed by the frosts of April. No blossoms have appeared. For the same reason, the grape crop will be very small. Apples promise a fair crop, but not a large one, and the same is true of cherries. Fears of all kinds are being expressed, and the appearance are that there will be a large yield.

MARIE ARMSTRONG, aged 17 years, daughter of James Armstrong, of Marlborough, Va. died there last week, from the effects of cholera. She had been in the hospital for several days, and she stated that it was in poison but-bone, but before her death she stated that she had taken it at the instance of a young man who had seduced her. He was subsequently arrested.

THE HAVANAN correspondent of the Christianian Courier says that the two screw steamers, reported by the Spanish barque Nueva Apolo as being American filibusters, have proved to be French privateers. They landed their cargoes of African slaves at the island of St. Domingo, in the Eastern part of the island.

THE OFFICERS of the U. S. steam ship Minnesota, which arrived at Boston on Saturday from a two years' cruise in the East Indies, have been decorated with the grand cross of the Order of St. Louis. The ship was commanded by Lieut. W. H. Wood, and the officers were Lieut. Comdr. S. P. Hilditch, and Lieut. Comdr. S. P. Hilditch.

ON Monday evening last, a storm of hail swept over a very large tract of land, and was followed by a very heavy rain, which was very destructive to the growing crop. The hail was very large, and the rain was very heavy, and the storm was very destructive to the growing crop.
