Another Douglas Repeler Rewarded.

After the August election in Kentucky the DOUGLAS papers, all over the country, were rejoicing with the Republicans at the defeat of the Democratic party. They gloated and gloried over it because that State was the home of BRECKINRIDGE. No matter if a Democratic State had gone for the Republicans, what was that to them, under the lead of Douglas they had seen many a Democrat, and many a Democratic State, stricken down and had become used to it. It was only a part of Mr. DOUGLAS's plan to destroy the Democratic party and, therefore, they could rejoice with the Republicans that so much of the work had been accomplished. Here is a sample of rejoicing from a DOUGLAS paper, the Huntington Globe, and it found its counterpart in almost every DOUGLAS paper in the country.

"Old Kaintuck" was considered

"True to the Union" because it had gone for the Republicans and the DOUGLAS party were jubilant over it! Recent events in Kentucky have furnished the key to the agency the DOUGLAS traitors had in effecting the result of that election. LESLIE COOMBS was elected, was the Republican candidate, CLENTON McCARTY, a BRECKINRIDGE man, the regular Democratic candidate, and R. R. BOLLING the Douglas candidate—a nomination made by "bolters" from the regular Democratic Convention. It was stated at the time that this was a trick of the DOUGLAS men to give the State into the hands of the Republicans. Few, however, believed it—they were loath to think that Judge DOUGLAS and his personal adherents could practice such infamous treachery toward the Democratic party. It was turned out but too true. Gen. COOMBS was sworn into office, on the 12th inst. and on the very same day he appointed R. R. BOLLING, the Douglas Candidate, HIS DEPUTY! Thus has another DOUGLAS traitor been rewarded for helping to defeat and distract the Democratic party. FORNEY received his reward by being elected, by the Republican Helperites, Clerk of the House of Representatives, and BOLLING's his by being appointed COOMBS's Deputy! What reward does the leader of the DOUGLAS faction in Franklin county expect to receive for his services? He has like FORNEY established a paper to distract and defeat the Democratic party, in this county, and which the Republicans are now graciously keeping alive until after the election, and he certainly is entitled to some consideration for his timely "aid and comfort" to the enemy.

Honest Democrats of Franklin County can you any longer follow the fortunes of such a treacherous leader as STEPHEN ARNOLD DOUGLAS? He has said that he has his "baggage checked through for the Republican party's headquarters," has he yours "checked" also? Will you allow him to lead you like "sheep to the shambles" into the camp of Black Republicanism? We are compelled to state, by way of warning to the rest of the party in the county, that several prominent Douglasites have already gone over to the Republicans, among them the Secretary of the DOUGLAS and JOHNSON Club, of this place, and others are preparing to follow. Much as we dislike to let these facts be known, and much as we regret to lose the valuable services these men have always, heretofore, rendered the Democratic party, the future safety of the party demands of us to point out the direction in which Douglasism is drifting that others may not be inveigled into following the same deceitful current. The evidence is positive, and new facts are accumulating every day, going to show that FORNEY has the sole management of the DOUGLAS wing of the party in this State. It is no longer a DOUGLAS party—it is a FORNEY party, controlled by him for the benefit of the Black Republicanism as a reward for placing him in office, and, at the same time, take revenge on the Democratic party which would no longer trust him. Has he not rebelled against the Democratic organization of the State, repudiated the action of the Reading Convention, and opposed every plan to keep the party united and insure the defeat of the Republicans? We do not believe that there is a Democrat in the State who honestly doubts this; then why be lead astray by him? Is he your master and are you his slaves? You will answer indignantly "NO." Then why trust Judge DOUGLAS any more than FORNEY? He is in the same rotten boat with FORNEY. He is opposed to fusion—he is opposed to the Democratic party, in this State, uniting on the regular Electoral ticket, which he knows, and which every Democrat feels, would be the defect of LINCOLN, and yet he joins hands with FORNEY and encourages him in his work of treason to the Democratic party in Pennsylvania. He is a worse enemy to the party than FORNEY—his position makes him more dangerous. He is attempting to do in the Nation what Forney has accomplished in the State—keep the Democratic party divided and thereby defeat it. We very well know that there are many honest Democrats in the Douglas wing of the party who are unwilling to believe these charges against Judge DOUGLAS. We do not wonder at it—it is difficult to bring the mind to realize that one we have held in such high estimation on whom the Democratic party has bestowed honor upon honor—could forsake, deceive and betray his party and his friends.

main such, but learn from traitors and disorganizers and stand by the men who have ever stood faithful by the Democratic party, the Constitution and the Union. Sustain Your Character. Democrats of Franklin county, you have a character to sustain at the coming election. In the hard contests of past years, you earned for yourselves an enviable character for unflinching devotion to the principles of the Democratic party. Your brethren in counties able to give overwhelming Democratic majorities, frequently lost their ticket because they suffered the rivalries of men to shut out from their view the path of principles. But this course you have never pursued. Always, or at least for twenty years out-numbered by your opponents, you have many times conquered them by your indefeasible courage and by the spirit with which you have rallied to the support of your candidates. These victories, achieved in the face of superior numbers, and under circumstances not at all propitious to success, have caused you to be looked upon as model Democrats by your political friends throughout the State. Defeat has never sullied your good name, for when disaster overtook you it only furnished fresh proof of your unflinching devotion to the principles of Democracy.

With such a character to sustain, need we urge you to go to the polls on Tuesday next and give battle to the enemies of your country's peace? If these States are to dwell together in unity, the Republican party must be defeated and broken up at the November election—a result that can hardly fail to be reached if the Democracy of Pennsylvania achieve a victory in October. We now regard a victory in October as certain, and we want the Democracy of Franklin county to be able to claim a share of the glorious triumph. In the noble column of nearly a quarter of a million voters who will stand up for Foster, every one of the thirty-three hundred Democrats of Franklin county ought to enrol himself on Tuesday next.

We appeal to you, good Democratic reader, not to lag behind on the day of election. Don't let the foolish notion take hold of you that one vote lost will do no harm. One vote makes hundreds, and hundreds make thousands. Many a candidate has been elected by a majority of one. It is only three or four years since there was a tie in this county between John Orr and James O. Carson for associate Judge, and the battle had to be fought over again the next year. One more vote on either side would have decided the contest in the first instance. If you call yourself a Democrat, prove yourself worthy of the name by coming out and voting the Democratic ticket.

Germans to the Rescue!

There is a deep laid scheme to trick you, if possible, in relation to your votes at this election. Will you trust the Native American-Know Nothing party—they are your deadliest enemies and have ever deceived and betrayed you. Republican is not another name for the party that was bound together by horrid oaths to prevent you from enjoying equality in your adopted country. This party changes its name at every election; it one becomes so odious that they cannot fight two battles under it and must change it for another. The Native American, Know Nothing Abolition-Republican-People's party are all one and the same thing. Their standing principles, and about the only ones they have got and stick to, are opposition to foreigners and love for the nigger. They prefer a nigger to a German any day, and have passed laws allowing a nigger to vote in six months where a German is kept back two years! This party is not your real friends do not trust them. The Democratic party has always been the true and steadfast friends to the foreigner, and whoever it has had the power have shaped our laws in the most liberal manner, careful too that your rights and privileges under them are strictly guarded. Vote with the Democratic party and you will not only vote the natural sentiments of your heart, but will sustain the party, and the only party, to which you can look in the hour of danger when another Know-Nothing crusade is made against your rights. Where would you stand to-day if Democracy had not crushed out Know-Nothingism? You would have no vote at all, and will you vote that vote to strike down the party that has ever proved your best friend? Can you will you be so ungrateful?

Crossed the sympathy.

The Transcript has exercised itself very much for the past two weeks to manufacture a moral of sympathy for Mr. William Piper, of Fayetteville, who professes to be "an humble member of the Democratic party who aspired to fill one of the Court House offices." Mr. Piper seems to be laboring under the fancy delusion that because he did not get his card in the Valley Spirit that was the reason he did not get the nomination! He comforts himself by spreading his melancholy affliction before the Transcript, a very natural quarter in which to apply for consolation. They have had a dolorous time lamenting over his sad fate. Mr. Kuhn "surveyed" him with the deepest heart felt commiseration—Rankin got down on his knees and offered up a prayer in his behalf—while Merklein turned his face to the wall and groaned in agony. They "got through" and Piper was dismissed with a benediction, when a wonderful change came over the trio; the Transcript office was immediately converted into a Hippodrome—Kuhn mounted the table and danced a fandango, Merklein turned summersets over the backs of the chairs, and Rankin made music for the party by drumming Yankee Doodle, with the variations, on the stove pipe. They were having a very happy and amusing time of it, at the expense of Mr. Piper, when Merklein was "all of a sudden" seized with a fit of remorse, his face commenced elongating until it attained about the size, length and color of a New England short-cake, and he exclaimed in the agony of his soul—"Partners in iniquity! had we not better send for Mr. N. P. FOSTER and bestow some of our prayers and sympathy upon him? We have taken his money—we have published his card week after week, and he failed to receive one single, solitary, beggarly vote—THE DELEGATE WHO NOMINATED HIM DID NOT VOTE FOR HIM. WHO BUT THE (Republican) LEADERS OF CHAMBERSBURG COULD TREAT A MEMBER OF ITS PARTY IN SUCH A CRUEL, HEARTLESS MANNER!" Kuhn missed, Merklein fainted and Rankin exclaimed "Brethren let us pray!"

To be serious—let us see how a few plain words will spoil this Pipersity. It was the almost unanimous desire of the Democratic party, of this county, previous to the meeting of the Nominating Convention, that no candidates thrust themselves forward, through the papers, for office, so that the Convention would be free to take up whom it might please from the ranks of the whole party. It was the desire of the party to avoid the bad example set by the Republicans, who had a whole column of eager applicants demanding office—once encouraged by the announcement of the other—and each expecting to come in in the general scramble. To this desire of the party, generally, and not, as is falsely stated by the Transcript and Mr. Piper, a "clique" in Chambersburg, we consented to sacrifice our pecuniary interest, when we believed it was for the good of the party, and refused such advertisements. We explained to every one who applied, to have themselves announced for office, what the wishes of the party was in this respect, and further stated if they were not satisfied we would publish their advertisement. We made this statement to Mr. Piper and he expressed himself as being perfectly satisfied, and distinctly stated that if "no others announced themselves he did not desire to do so." He left our office seemingly in the best humor and we never knew that he considered that he lost the nomination by not publishing his card in the Spirit, until the Transcript shed its Crocodilian tears over him. The Delegates to the Convention know exactly why they voted against Mr. Piper, better than the Transcript can tell them, and if one of them will say that it was through any influence, either directly or indirectly, of the Valley Spirit, or any one connected with it, then we will give in.

The whole affair is a silly dodge on the part of the Transcript, put forth purely to encourage dissatisfaction against those who have been nominated. If Mr. Piper had been fortunate enough to receive a nomination, how would he relish the application of the same foul means to defeat him? Does he not know that the Transcript—the very men who now express so much sympathy for him—would denounce him and do all they could to defeat him? There is not a man in the county who will carry the position in which Mr. Piper has placed himself before the public. Nor will it make a single vote for the Republicans—no man in either party is so simple as to be deceived by such a shallow electioneering trick. It might be as well for the Transcript to bestow a little of its sympathy on their own defeated candidates for nominations and not expend the precious stuff on Democrats. Where is their column of condolence over Mr. Pease who did not receive a vote in their slaughter house convention? Where have they expressed one word of sympathy for Messrs. Garver, Rice, McDowell, Taylor, Shillito, Fleming, Kinsey, Litter, Harper, Hoffman, Leago, Phillips, Walk, Stoner, Emblich, Forde, Witherow, Shough, and a host of others, whose claims were so shamefully set aside or kicked out of their Convention. They have no sympathy for them—no, not a word, but they have the last; they and their friends must be whipped in to supporting the men who have been nominated over their heads, while their party paper is engaged in the dignified business of manufacturing crocodilian sympathy for disappointed Democrats.

Henry D. Foster.

The news continues favorable to the election of our candidate for Governor. The purity of his public and private character, and the beautiful consistency of his whole career as a representative of the people, have made an impression on the popular mind and heart, which all the misrepresentations of Curtin and his next friend McClure have been unable to shake.

The people of Pennsylvania have made up their mind that they will have an honest Governor this time; and knowing that Henry D. Foster is as honest a man as there is on the face of the earth, they are fully determined to elect him. In vain does Curtin blow his own trumpet from the stump; in vain does McClure labor to make the worse appear the better reason;—the people have read the record of the public life of Henry D. Foster, and they are resolved to give it the stamp of their approval.

The Democracy of Franklin will not be behind their political friends in other parts of the State, in the earnestness of their support of their glorious nominee. They responded with enthusiasm to his nomination by the Reading Convention, and they will prove at the polls that time has only strengthened their determination to do him honor.

We do not say it because he is a political opponent, but because we are firmly persuaded of its truth, that Curtin is one of the most outrageously corrupt men that ever disgraced a public office in any State of the Union. He played the disreputable part of an office broker when he held the responsible position of Secretary of the Commonwealth, and by his reeking corruption brought dishonor on the administration of poor honest and unsuspecting Pollock.

Pat Curtin in the Governor's chair, and he would surround himself with a band of public plunderers whose exploits would soon rival those of the famous "Forty Thieves." Beside his administration, that of Ritter and Stevens, with all its enormities, would rise to comparative respectability. Offices would be sold to the highest bidder, and arms would be thrust into the public treasury up to the elbow.

Curtin is not the kind of man to suit the times. Corruption in legislation has already run to an alarming height—it needs not the stimulus of a Governor who would sanction any act of legislative infamy that might be attempted by faithless representatives.

The Names Speaking.

Gen. Wm. O. Butler, of Kentucky, the candidate for Vice President with Gen. Cass in 1848, is stamping Kentucky, with Hon. L. W. Powell and Hampshire Marshall, for Breckinridge and Lane. All the old and reliable Democrats of that State have proclaimed for the Democratic nominees, and Kentucky is just as certain for Breckinridge and Lane as Texas or Mississippi.

The Hartford (Conn.) Times, a sterling

Democratic paper of twenty-one years standing, speaks of us as "the noblest" and "leading straight Douglas" men South as those who have been distinguished for taking extreme positions or ultra southern ground. They are likely out-Hartford Hart. Such are the Spirit, the Freedom, the Standard, the Truth, the Monitor, &c. Why, Mr. Kuhn himself was sought to re-conmission by Congress by the Louisiana people six years ago on account of his Southern sympathies. These are the men who want their "double-edged" and "double-barrelled" guns pointed at the Democrats and gun-

Approval of our Course. We are gratified to learn that the course of the Spirit meets the entire approval of those whose good opinions are worth having.

The Chamberburg Valley Spirit heretofore a very zealous supporter of Judge Douglas, has withdrawn the names of Douglas and Johnson from the head of its columns, and substituted those of Breckinridge and Lane.

The Patriot and Union, published at Harrisburg, notices the course of the Spirit in the following highly complimentary manner: The factious course pursued by the violent and interested friends of Judge Douglas, in forming an article in the Spirit, in opposition to the one published at Breckinridge, is a Democratic Convention, and the unambiguous evidence that this plot to divide the Democratic vote of the State, for the purpose of defeating the party and electing Lincoln, is evidenced by Mr. Foster's article.

The following from a prominent and active Democrat exhibits the right spirit, and that old-fashioned devotion to the interests of the party that used to animate our ranks when they were united and moved on in one solid column to victory.

Mr. Geo. H. Merrill: Dear Sir:—You have no idea of the thrill of joy that runs through me here from the Spirit in its last appearance. Could we not have some circulars from you with your editorial giving the article from where you say: "where are we to look in this democracy?"

We subjoin the following letter received on Monday last. The letter requires no comment—it tells its own story in its own plain way.

Mr. G. F. Maroon: Dear Sir:—A few weeks ago I had business in Chambersburg and when there I was persuaded to stop a few days at the Spirit office. I have now returned home and I have now fully satisfied about it. The man who owned me to stop the paper, which I did in charge, and I have now fully satisfied about it. The man who owned me to stop the paper, which I did in charge, and I have now fully satisfied about it.

mine. The more I have thought on the matter the better I am convinced that you are right and that I have been deceived by men from whom I expected better things.

As the crisis draws near the opponents of Gen. Foster, led on by Forney, are becoming more and more desperate in their wicked efforts to defeat him. They are now convinced that he is the favorite of the people and that his election is a sure thing unless they can concoct some story to be brought out on the eve of the election for the purpose of deceiving honest voters.

To be fore-warned is to be fore-armed, and we once more warn all Democrats to beware of falsehood and fraud, and to trust no story, put no belief in any report that has for its object the injury of Henry D. Foster.

Letter of Acceptance. BEDFORD, Sept. 20th, 1860. Gentlemen: Your letter informing me of my nomination as the Democratic Candidate for Congress, in the 17th Congressional District, has been received.

I will, also, if elected, strenuously oppose any movement which may point to a dissolution of this glorious Union, come from what quarter it may, North or South.

I am opposed to sectionalism in every shape. The whole energy of my soul shall be given to and in maintaining the Constitution, the Union and the supremacy of the Laws.

W. P. SCHELL. James B. Orr, John Watson and Wm. Ross White, Esqs. Congress and the County Ticket.

Too much importance cannot be attached to the election of the Ticket. The Democrats of the county have presented to them for their suffrage a ticket that is entitled to their cordial support. They are all able, obliging and competent men. Especially it is important to elect a Democratic Congressman from this district.

ADDRESS

Democratic State Executive Committee OF PENNSYLVANIA.

To the People of Pennsylvania:—

The election of the next Governor of Pennsylvania is close at hand. Its importance to the masses cannot be overrated, and its influence upon the Presidential contest cannot be too highly estimated.

In view of these facts, the Democratic State Executive Committee invokes the earnest attention of all who are attached to the vital interests of Pennsylvania, and are anxious to maintain inviolate the sacred compact of the Federal Constitution.

The influence of Pennsylvania has always been great and controlling in the political history of the country. Her people are always willing to throw themselves into the breach when dangers menace the inheritance derived from their fathers.

When perils threaten to overwhelm them, they become a band of brothers, fighting for a common cause and a common country. This truth has received additional proof within the past few weeks.

Fully impressed with the consequences of discord and dissension in their ranks, the Democratic party of Pennsylvania has become a unit in support of Henry D. Foster, the nominee of the Reading Convention.

He has been accepted by the entire Democracy as their leader and their champion. Thousands of loyal and conservative men, scattered throughout the Commonwealth and untrammelled by party organization, will aid in swelling his majority in October.

The clearing up of prospects of his success has been stricken with terror the foe of the Union and Constitution throughout the country, and the Republican columns are now besieging lawless before the vigorous charges of the united and enthusiastic Democracy.

It is not to every one at all conversant with the history of the times, that the election of Henry D. Foster will be the certain defeat of Lincoln and Hamlin in Pennsylvania.

It is impossible to disguise the fact that the great battle in the Old Keystone must be fought in October, and not in November. A fearful responsibility, therefore, rest upon the freemen of this Commonwealth, as the election of a Democratic Governor will insure the defeat of Republican sectionalism.

It will produce a united Democracy in every State of the Union. Its irresistible force and power will everywhere combine the elements of true conservatism, and induce the sovereign people to demand with fearless voice a solid union of all their forces, in opposition to the spread of those dangerous principles which at this time form the basis of the Republican party.

It is folly to close our eyes to the perils which surround our Confederacy. The election of Lincoln and Hamlin, if consummated, must be productive of the most disastrous consequences.

The doctrines of the Republican leaders are in direct antagonism to that equality of the State, without which we cannot hope to preserve the Union and the Constitution. This position cannot be successfully controverted. It was plainly established when Mr. Seward said, at Rochester, that there was "an irrepressible conflict between opposing and enduring forces," and that "the United States must and will, sooner or later, become entirely a slave holding nation, or entirely a free-labor nation."

itude are involved in the contest. These have been partially lost sight of in the discussion of National topics. Three years ago the anti-Democratic administration of Gov. Pollock ceased to exist. His friend and official adviser was Andrew G. Curtis, then Secretary of the Commonwealth, and now the Republican candidate for the gubernatorial chair.

The Reading Convention presented, for the office of Governor, Henry D. Foster, of old Westmoreland. The representatives of the people, unselected, took him from their ranks, and placed him at the head of the column.

They knew him to be honest, upright, and fearless. Thoroughly conversant with the resources of the State and the wants of every section, he devoted every hour of his public life to the protection of the industrial interests of the Masses.

Amidst by reckless partisans, his character has withstood every assault, and escaped the point of every weapon. As an orator, statesman, and patriot, he has won for himself a name for purity and integrity which "fishhook cannot shake, nor perjury steal away."

Having been true and faithful in the past, he can safely be trusted with power in the future. His election would restore confidence to the public mind, and increase the respect which is now paid to the Keystone of the Federal arch.

In the great commercial emporium of our State, it would invigorate "trade, the calm health of nations." Throughout our towns and cities, in the manufacturing and agricultural districts, it would be hailed as the harbinger of renewed prosperity.

Freemen of Pennsylvania! you are now called upon to aid with your influence in the consummation of this great and glorious work. To accomplish it you will be required to labor earnestly till the sun goes down upon the second Tuesday of October.

In the battle now impending let all unite who stand upon the platform of the Union, the Constitution, and the enforcement of the laws. Let all who love their country, and are willing to array themselves against Republicanism, "claim kindred now, and have that claim allowed."

The ranks of the Pennsylvania Democracy are no longer broken—victory is within our reach, if we only stretch out our hands to grasp it. Defeat can only be produced by apathy and indifference. No more need now be urged upon you. You know your duty, and you will not fail to do it.

Its faithful performance at the ballot-box will ensure tranquility within your borders, and spread a new bow of promise from the icy waters of the Arctostook to the golden shores of the Sacramento.

WILLIAM H. WELSH, Chairman. PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 25, 1860.

A Douglas Man now a Disunionist in 1851. Hon. John Forsyth, now the leading Douglas man in Alabama, was in 1851 something of a disunionist, as his letter to a South Carolina Committee of that date shows.

money. Almost every man, with some noble exceptions, had his price, and if common rumor be true, it was an enormous price. If it could not be paid in the hard cash, secure prospective profits were just as good."

Henry D. Foster. Since the meeting at Union, which recommended an union upon the National Ticket, which will secure the success of the Democratic party and the election of Henry D. Foster as Governor, it is necessary to notice the slanders which have been given to the Black Republican press.

Previous to the meeting at Union, the Abolition papers of the State were silent upon the subject of Governor, but now all their batteries of abuse and libelation are aimed upon Henry D. Foster, but as they, themselves, are now in this Black Commonwealth, no man is to be blamed for such a course.

It is so arranged in truth and right that the shafts of malice will fall fruitless at his feet; besides, it is too late. It is now impossible to stem the current that is now sweeping on our candidate to victory, and at a moment that current is not to be stemmed by such despicable means as that resorted to by the Black Republican press of the State.

It is to be regretted that there is to be no man in the State upon whom such attacks would be more fruitful and ridiculous than upon one who could present a purer or clearer record. His life is unblemished by a single act which, by any standard, could be made discreditable to him.

He is best known here as most regarded and esteemed. He has never done an act with a view to court public applause; he has won substantial regard by his many high and excellent qualities, his honest and unimpeachable integrity, his unswerving and his kindness of heart, his veracity, while as a lawyer he has never been suspected of a single act which would reflect upon his honor.

He has never done an act with a view to court public applause; he has won substantial regard by his many high and excellent qualities, his honest and unimpeachable integrity, his unswerving and his kindness of heart, his veracity, while as a lawyer he has never been suspected of a single act which would reflect upon his honor.

They are familiar with the superficial and uncertain qualifications of A. G. Curtis. They remember his actions while Secretary of State during the administration of Governor Pollock. They know that he is not reliable; that by profession, by nature, he is a politician, without fixed principles, everything by turns, and nothing long.

An atmosphere of suspicion and distrust surrounds him, and they know not without cause. Hence he bears an unfavorable comparison with the honest son of "Old Westmoreland." Hence his defeat is inevitable; and hence the assaults upon Henry D. Foster, a man who is sympathetically above suspicion or reproach.

Press on the Column. It is generally admitted that Breckinridge and Lane will carry this State by majorities ranging from thirty to forty thousand. Nearly every prominent man in the State is for use ticket. Every mail brings us the information of some Opposition paper which has "sacrificed all prejudices to the good of the country, and hoisted the flag Breckinridge and Lane. Our electors are all in the field, and everywhere pressing conviction upon the masses of the Opposition.

Our mountains, prairies and valleys are filled with the staunch yeoman who deeply appreciate the crisis which has come upon our country. When the issue is upon the good ship, and the light of day is blotted from the heavens by black and rolling clouds, the good mariner bravely perceives his way, according to his chart and compass, through the fury of the storm and the rage of the seas.

As the Republicans count largely on carrying a majority of Legislative candidates, it may be well to give the people a hint of what kind of a thing a Republican Legislature is. We had one last winter, and when it adjourned the Philadelphia Inquirer, a Lincoln paper, paid the following tribute to its recalcitancy:

"Both Houses of the Legislature have adjourned, and for that one set we render them our hearty thanks; for never in the history of Pennsylvania has a session been marked by more corrupt, wicked intrigues than the present. Every good citizen feels the black of honest indignation tingling his cheeks when he thinks of the proceedings. No measure, however beneficial, could stand the slightest chance of passing, unless by profuse expensiveness of money."
