News of the Wook

During the past week the panic in e financial and commercial circles has apread to an alarming extent.-GREERINY is likely to be accommodate to his hourte desire. He has openly demanded at the hands of the Republiparty—"a real old fashioned kdown Panic after the pattern of 7." The triumph of the Republiean Sectional party has already brought about all that a maniac like Graniky could demand in this way. If the mere announcement of the election of Lincoun will bring such a deplorable state of affairs over the whole country what can we expect but ruin, ruin, ruin during his entire administration. The during his entire administration. The moment his election was made known everything in the shape of stock went down. In the cities confidence is lost—it is impossible to borrow money at any rate of interest, stocks cannot be sold, there is no market for cotton, head there is no market for cotton, breadstuffs provisions or anything else. and firms are failing every Manufacturers are curtailing outling outling outling outliness, and throwing thousands of laborers and mechanics out of emof laborers and mechanics out of em-ployment just as winter is setting in, leaving them without means of sup-porting their families. When we add to this the general suspension of spe-cie payments by the Banks, taken place within the past week, we have the "breakdows Panic" that transitive prayed for in full tide of destruction. prayed for in full tide of destruction, and which none will deny is the result of the election of Lincoln. The national men of the country warned the people of the madness of electing Lincoln but they would not heed the warning—"went it blind," and must was in series to strain, and more now put up with the consequences.—
What is most to be regretted is that those who strove hard to avert the calamity must now suffer with those who brought it about.

As another result following the ection of LINCOLN the notorious banection of LINCOLN the notorious bandit Montgomers, and his band, have ized a force of about 500 men, through aid and arms furnished by sympathises a in the East, and proposes not only. It would not fall down and worship a resistence to the United States authorise trees. ty in Kansas, but open hostilities against the people upon the borders of Missouri. Arkansas and Texas, with a view to free the slaves in those States. The Republicans express themselves as being very anxious that the Government should crush out all disturbance enession excitement. The States are preparing for holding Secession Conventums for the purpose of considering the matter and adopting measures for uniting the whole South in the movement. Mr. FORSYTH, the leader movement. Mr. FORSYTH, the leader of the Douglas party in Alabama, says, that "the first act of the Convention should be to declare Alabama out of the Union, and then proceed to form alliances with other southern States and foreign nations." Mr. FORSYTH will carry the whole Douglas party with him, in that State, in the Die movement. Mr. Douglas, and his sufe friends, who contributed so much to-uphe wards the election of Lincoln, by was plainly a traitor, be remembered lividing and distracting the Demo- for their agency is producing this pancratic party, can now eat the bitter ic and suspension.

The Providence 11.2.2.

The President elect, Mr. LINCOLN, There was no demonstration. He put up at the Trescent House like any ordinary visitor. He would wait a few days for Mr. Hanlin when they would for the first time.

The Baltimore papers say that Mr. Lincoln's recent speech, at Spring-field, makes no impression in that city, and gives no confidence in regard to a citiessant of the Southern difficulties.

The fatest accounts from Oregon represent it as probable that Lincoln has assisted that Biate. The result

It is to be hoped the lesson the country is now undergoing will not be lost upon it. Political villains, longlost upon it. Political villains, longing for plunder, have by unceasing outcry influenced the Northern States to elect a President upon a platform deadly hostile to the dearest interests of the South. Warned of the danger, they disregarded it; and now, sooner than the most timid alarmist predicted, the consequences are upon us. Before the financial revulsion of 1857 has had time to pass away, we find ourselves face to face with a new and perhaps more serious panic, the direct result of the triumph of the Black Republican party.

The poor men who were cajoled incan party.

The poor men who were cajoled into voting for Lixcoln under promise of "better times," can now see the injury they have been led to inflict upon themselves and upon the country. Their chance for work at living prices. Their chance to the second of voting the republican ticket do to re-lieve them now? Poor men always do themselves an injury when they go against the Democratic party, for that party has always guarded the interests of the poor.

With several miliions of Democrats to choose from, these men would agree to none but one who had for three years affiliated with Black Republicans and belched his vulgar abuse upon a Democratic ad-ministration. The DovGLAS delegates ment should crush out all disturbance in the South, we hope they will show the same anxiety to have the disturbers of the peace and safety of the country in Kansas summarily dealt with.

The latest intelligence from the share of credit for producing the ban concealing ought especially to receive their due share of credit for pro lucing the bank South indicates no abatement in the suspension and financial crisis we are at this moment suffering from. And those of them who labored assiduously up to the last moment to aid LINCOLN by circulating the straight Douglas ticket, should be put before all the rest when the suffering people come to return thanks to the authors, of their troubles. If the Democratic party had not been defeated, the cour would have escaped this revulsion; and if Douglas had been kicked out of the party when he first begun to kick against it three years ago, it would now be successful and the country would be successful and the country would be fe Therefore let the men who have

The destion matures from California shows that the autire number of votes as the leculities hand from florted up 111,016 of which Lineada had $6,568 ; step, the Union will be sufficed.

We have watched with an anxione eye the movements now going on at the South. We believed that the election of LINCOLN would induce some of the Southern States to withdraw from the Union. But we do not yet despair of the Union. There is encouragement in the attitue of Virginia, that ancient and glumous commonwealth, which never loses sight of true principles and never swerves from the path of patriotism. Virginia, whilst firmly maintaining the constitutional rights of the section to which she belongs, will, we are toth, remain in the Union and set as mediator between the North and the secoling Southern States. She will endeavor to obtain from the Northern States a repeal of their laws obstructing the reclamation of fagitive slaves; and these being repealed, she will use her influence to induce the seceding States to return to the Union. She proposes to herself a great and a glorious mission, and confiding in her wisdom, her moderation and her patriotism, we believe that she will be suc-

and talk over the points in issue, and if agreement is out of the question, let them peaceably separate. We do net them peaceably separate. We do not believe that it is impossible for them to agree. The Northern people have apparently, but we think not really, gone cray on the subject of the second se slavery. Adroit politicians of mis-chievous propensities have caused the enactment of obnoxious laws which are unknown to three-fourths of the people in whose name they were enacted. How many, for instance, of the people of Pennsylvania, are aware that there is on the statute book of the State a law obstructing the recapture of runaway negroes? How many old Whigs are prepared to hear that this law was drafted by a Whig Senator? How many Democrats will learn with-How many Demo out surprise that it was approved by a Democratic Governor? Yet all this is the fact.

Now in spite of this law, w Now in spite of this iam, we remule to affirm that the people of Pennsylvania are not opposed to the recapture of runaway negroes and are not in favor of obstructing the execution of the fugitive slave law. They have in their midst more free negroes than they want; and they know very well that if they prevent the recapture of runaway negroes on their soil, the ef-fect will be to increase largely the number of negroes in the State.

What then ought they to do? The answer is plain. They ought to de-mand of their Legislature the repeal obnoxious, irritating and unjust law alluded to. If they permit that law to stand unrepealed, now that their attention has been called to it, then it may justly be inferred that they sympathise with those Northern unionists who would rather break up the Union than carry out the provisions of the Federal Constitution.

visions of the Federal Constitution.

Let this subject be agitated. Let the press, or at least the Democratic portion of it, speak out for repeal.—

Let the people petition the Legislature to wipe out our nullifying law. Let ANDREW G. CURTIN, when he takes the Governor's chair, be called upon to show whether he stands with the layeasted line. Various who have set to show whether he stands with the save-stealing Yankees who have settled in the Northern part of our State, or with the great body of the people of Pennsylvania, who respect that clause of the Constitution which prevides that slaves who may run away "thail he delivered up." THADDRUS HYATT, one of the New York contributors to old Brown's mur-dering expedition to Virginia, and who was imprisoned at Washington by the Senate Committee for refusing to tea-tify, went to Kansas after his release last summer. Not long since he relast summer. Not long since he re-appeared at Washington, with a dole-ful tale of the sufferings of the Krusses settlers, and asked the Executive to postpone the sales of land. The request was refused, and the President ut one hundred dollars in HYATT's hands, as a contribution for the relief of the Kansas sufferers, Did HYATT arrange this new outbreak in Kansas? Did he give the President's hundred dollars to suffering settlers, or did he invest it in rifles and bullets for MONTGOMERY and his murdering gang? There is no doubt that he was a leading contributor and director of Brown's raid on Virginia, and we suspect that if the truth could be got at, he would be found to be the prompter of MONTGOMERY'S present Kansas raid.

To us it has always been a marvel how these murdering gangs could go about in Kansas without being captured and hung. Our army is not as large as the armies of first class European powers, but it is certainly large enough to surround and capture band of a few hundred robl murderers. The government ha entirely too lenient with these Kansas maranders from the beginning. A lit-tle of the energy with a little less of the bombast displayed by Gov. Wise in the Harper's Ferry affair would have insured lasting peace in Kansas long ago. It is not a good thing to be long ago. It is not a good same too tender-hearted in dealing with secondrels. too tender-hearted in dealing with secondrels. If old Brown had been taken and hanged in Kansas, as he might have been and ought to have been, the Union would be safer now.

The thing to be done in Kansas now, is to catch Montouners and all his band had hang them. Nothing less than that will do. If there are not troops enough there now to do it effectually and without fail, let them be poured in by every road leading to the Territory. It will be a leasting disgrace to the government if Muntoun.

unjust law is the issue that must next be decided in Pennsylvahia. It is clear from the calm but emphatic utterances of Southern States which have not yet committed themselves to immediate scression, that their continu-ance in the Union will depend upon the future action of those Northern States which have blotted their statute bo ks with laws injurious to the inter-est and subversive of the rights of the South.

The Bank of Chambersburg.

The Bank of Chambersberg.

The people of Franklin county showed their good sense when the panic occurred in 1857, by abstaining from a run on the Bank of Chambersburg. We have no doubt they will display equally good sense now. The aworn and published statements of this institution show that it is in a very sound condition. No one, we are sure, will refuse its notes, and we trust that no one who may have a deposit there will make himself ridiculous by running and drawing it out and sticking it away where some thief may steal it. RAVAGES OF THE DIFFHERIA AT THE WEST.—We find in many of our Ohio and Indiana exchanges accounts of the ravages of diptheria, or petrid sore throat.—Adults and children fall victims to if—The Holmes County (Ohio) Farmer says it is raging to a fearful extent in the eastern townships of that county. A great many persons have died from it. The Saint Clairsville (Ohio) Gazette says that within ten days Mr. Wm. Harper of Peas township, has lost five children with diptheria, the eldest a daughter of 17 years. The balance of his family, three children, are sick with the same disease. The Anglaise Democrat may the diptheria atill continues in terrible attack upon the citizenes of Wapshowota and vicinity. During the summer the victims were mostly children, but grown persons are now beginning to fall victims to its dreadful ravages. In Northern Indiana the malady has been very fatal.
