VOLUME 14. WEDNESDAY MORNING, JANUARY 23, 1861. NUMBER 31.

INAUGURAL ADDRESS

OF GOV. ANDREW G. CURTIS, DELIVERED JANUARY 18, 1861.

Having been entrusted by the people of Pennsylvania with the administration of the Executive department of the government for the next three years, and having taken a solemn oath of fidelity to the Constitution of the United States and to the Constitution of Pennsylvania, I avail myself of your presence to express to you, and through you, to the people of the State, my gratitude for the distinguished honor they have, in their partiality, conferred upon me.

Deeply impressed with its responsibilities and duties, I enter upon the office of Governor of Pennsylvania with a determination to fulfill them all faithfully to the utmost of my ability. Questions of great moment intimately connected with the feelings and interests of the people of all parts of the nation, now agitate the public mind; and some of them, from their novelty and importance, are left for settlement to the uncertainty of the future.

We have assumed, as the great fundamental truth of our political theory, that man is capable of self-government, and that all power emanates from the people. An experience of seventy-one years, under the Constitution of the United States, has demonstrated to all mankind that the people can be entrusted with their own political destinies; and the deliberate expression of their will should furnish the rule of conduct to their representatives in official station.

The veto power conferred upon the Executive was given with much hesitation and not without serious apprehensions as to its abuse, by the framers of our organic law. It is in my judgment, to be used with the greatest caution, and only when legislation is manifestly unconstitutional, or of more than doubtful constitutionality.

responsibility from all public officers, are imposed by our people, and they shall not be disappointed. Now that the debt of the State is in the course of speedy liquidation, by the ordinary means of ordinary legislation, it is necessary to expedite the public money must be strictly collected, so that the gradual diminution of the indebtedness shall not be interrupted.

To promote the prosperity of the people and the power of the Commonwealth, by increasing her financial resources, by a liberal recognition of the vast interests of our commerce, by husbanding our means and diminishing the burdens of taxation and debt, will be the highest objects of my ambition, and all the objects of my administration will be directed to the accomplishment of these results.

The pardoning power is one of the most important and delicate powers conferred upon the Chief Magistrate by the Constitution, and it should always be exercised with great caution, and never except in the most conclusive evidence that it is due to the condemned, and that the public security will not be prejudiced by its exercise. When such applications are presented to the Executive it is due to society, to the administration of justice, and to all interests, that public notice should be given.

Our statute books are full of acts of incorporation conferring special privileges, and as they are numerous, dissimilar in their grants of power, and unequal in their liabilities and restrictions. Well considered and judicious general laws to meet all classes of corporations, would remedy the evil, economize time and money, relieve the Legislature from the constant pressure for undue privilege, and be just and equal to all in their administration.

The veto power conferred upon the Executive was given with much hesitation and not without serious apprehensions as to its abuse, by the framers of our organic law. It is in my judgment, to be used with the greatest caution, and only when legislation is manifestly unconstitutional, or of more than doubtful constitutionality.

as with hostility to our brothers of States. We regard them as friends and fellow-countrymen, in whose welfare we feel kind interest; and we recognize, in their broadest extent, all our constitutional obligations to them. These we are ready and willing to observe generously and fraternally in their letter and spirit with unswerving fidelity.

The election of a President of the United States, according to the terms of the Constitution, has recently been made a pretext by a deliberate attempt to wrest from the Federal Government the powers which the people conferred on it when they adopted the Constitution.

There is nothing in the life of Mr. Lincoln, nor in any of his acts or declarations before or since his election, to warrant the apprehension that his Administration will be unfriendly to the local interests of any of the States. No sentiment but those of kindness and conciliation have been expressed or entertained by the conditional majority which elected him; and nothing has occurred to justify the excitement which seems to have blind and to precipitate them into revolution.

I have already taken occasion to say publicly, and I now repeat, that if we have any laws upon our statute books which infringe upon the rights of the people of any of the States, or contravene any law of the Federal Government, or obstruct its execution, they ought to be repealed.

Pennsylvania has never felt in her recognition of all the duties imposed upon her by the national compact, and she will, by every act consistent with her devotion to the interests of her own people, promote fraternity and peace, and a liberal comity between the States.

In the grave question which now agitates the public mind are well understood at home, and should not be misinterpreted abroad. Her verdicts have been as uniform as they have been decisive, in favor of the dignity, the property and the progress of her free industry, and support of the principles of liberty on which the government is founded, and whence or rebellion cannot reverse them.

other States that the position and sentiments of Pennsylvania on the question should be distinctly understood.

All the elements of wealth and greatness have been spread over the State by a kind Providence with profuse liberality. Our temperate climate, productive soil, inexhaustible mineral wealth have stimulated the industry of our people and improved the skill of our mechanics.

There is a palpable moment to declare that while the people of Pennsylvania were not indifferent to other vital issues of the canvass they were demanding justice for themselves in the recent election, and had no design to interfere with or abridge the rights of the people of States.

In the present unhappy condition of the country, it will be our duty to unite with the people of the States which remain loyal to the Union, in any just and honorable measures of reconciliation and fraternal kindness.

It is a National Government. It has within the sphere of its action all the attributes of sovereignty, and among those are the right and the duty of self-protection. It is based upon a compact to which all the people of the United States are parties.

It is a National Government. It has within the sphere of its action all the attributes of sovereignty, and among those are the right and the duty of self-protection. It is based upon a compact to which all the people of the United States are parties.

The Government is to exist, all the requirements of the Constitution must be observed; and it must have power adequate to the discharge of the supreme law of the land in every State.

and whenever the necessity to amend shall arise, the proposed amendments will give to the amendments which Congress may propose, the same force and effect as amendments which they themselves may demand. Changes in our laws are necessary, and a people who have lived in peace and enjoyed so much prosperity, will have as many new amendments of the past, and seek rich legacies to transmit to the future should deliver their long and arduous before they attempt to alter any of the fundamental principles of the great charter of our liberties.

I assume the duties of this high office of the most trying period of our national history. The public mind is agitated by fears, apprehensions and jealousies. Serious apprehensions of the future pervade the people. A preconcerted and organized effort has been made to disturb the stability of Government, dissolve the Union of the States, and mar the symmetry and order of the noblest political structure ever devised and created by human wisdom.

With a consciousness of the rectitude of my intentions, with no resentments to cherish, no animosity to avenge, no wish but the public good to gratify, and with a profound sense of the solemnity of my position, I humbly invoke the assistance of our Heavenly Father, in whom alone is my dependence, that His strength may sustain and His wisdom guide me. With his divine aid I shall apply myself faithfully and fearlessly to my responsible duties, and abide the judgement of a generous people.

Invoking the blessing of the God of our fathers upon our State and nation, it shall be the highest object of my ambition to contribute to the glory of the Commonwealth, maintain the civil and religious privileges of the people, and promote the union, prosperity and happiness of the nation.

Rebellions.

Since the organization of the Federal Government there have been ten attempts made to resist its authority.

The first was in 1783, and was a conspiracy of some of the officers of the Federal army to secede from the thirteen States into one, and confer the supreme power on Washington.

The second was in 1787, called "Shay's Insurrection" in Massachusetts.

The third was in 1794, popularly called "The Whiskey Insurrection of Pennsylvania."

The fourth instance was in 1814, by the Hartford Convention Federalists.

The fifth, on which occasion the different sections of the Union came into collision, was in 1830, under the Administration of President Monroe, and occurred on the question of the admission of Missouri into the Union.

The sixth was a collision between the Legislatures of Georgia and the Federal Government in regard to certain lands given by the latter to the Creek Indians.

The seventh was in 1820 with the Cherokee in Georgia.

The eighth was the memorable Nullifying Ordinance of South Carolina in 1832.

The ninth was in 1842, and occurred in Rhode Island between the "Suffrage Association" and the State authorities.

The tenth was in 1858, on the part of the Mormons who resisted the Federal authority.

HEAT AND COLD IN THE UNITED STATES.

The meteorological table which accompany the report on the sickness and mortality of the army of the United States, are very full and complete. It appears therefrom that the greatest thermometer range, at any of the military posts, is 147 degrees, this being at Fort Biggs, Minnesota, at Fort Kent, in Maine, it is 137 degrees. The greatest degree of cold at the former post is 50 below zero, and at the latter 87 degrees below zero. In not far from the same latitude, in the region of the lakes, and at a similar altitude, at Fort Brady and Howard, in Michigan, the ranges are scarcely less. At Fort Williams, on Lake Superior, which is almost surrounded by water, the degree of cold is only 9 below zero. In Washington Territory, at Fort Steadman, in the same latitude, the range is only 96 degrees, the mercury falling to only one degree below zero.

The greatest heat is at Fort Yuma, in Southern California, situated in latitude 32, on the Colorado river; the average minimum heat for three and a half years being 121 degrees, and the range 108. The least average range was at Fort Colwell, Oregon, on the Pacific coast, in latitude 34, it being nearly the same as at Fort West. The greatest amount of rain fell at Fort Verde, Arizona, this amounting to 71.33 inches; the least at Fort Yuma, amounting to 20.4 inches. At Fort Ordway, Oregon, there the thermometer range is least, the minimum being 66 inches of rain.

OUR UNION BLOOD. Abolition and Tery Are Nailed to the Cross.

VALLEY SPIRIT CORRESPONDENT.

Ever since the secession movement has been inaugurated we, as our readers are aware, have used every means, and put forth every argument, through our paper, to incite fraternal feelings between the North and the South and thereby save our glorious Union from dissolution.

We have battled, to the best of our ability, for "The Constitution and the Equality of the States as the Symbols of Everlasting Union." We have incessantly labored to make known, without any reservation, the dangers that beset the country on every side and the ruin and desolation that must follow its dismemberment.

We have appealed to the Justice, the Pride, the Avarice of the North, to save the Union. We have taken particular pains to show the value of the South to the Union to incite the North, for the sake of the business prosperity of the whole country, to make every effort to prevent a separation of the States.

A few—a very few—abolitionists in this place, men who sympathized with Old John Brown, and who are everlastingly obtruding their abolition doctrines on all who will listen to their drivellings, have taken a contract, and it seems as if they were industriously at the job, to vilify the Spirit, and slander us by the day, for less than "two dollars a week and find themselves."

These are the same men who traduced the signers to the call for a "Union Meeting," in this place, in September last, and who denounced over six hundred of the oldest and best Democrats in the county as "WILLING TO ENDORSE SECESSION, DISUNION AND TREASON!"

We extract from our editorials on expressions of regard for the Union, each week regularly, from the time secession commenced up to the present, and if any of our cotemporaries can show as clean and as strong a Union record as this we will publish it for them gratuitously.

THE SOUTH CAROLINA LEGISLATURE.

... The Legislature is almost unanimous in opinion that all efforts for the present should be steadily avoided.

THE PRESIDENT'S POSITION.

... I do not believe the President will entertain such a proposition for some months.
