of this increase, equal to about 4 lbe per log, ain lard.

The great desineses this year is South of the Ohio river, and this desinency is far greater and more important than our statistics would indicate, beause, in addition to the log-packed at the regular places in Kentacky and Tennessee, a arge number have been usually packed by farmers for their own ess, and a large amount of this came to market. This seems this han not been done in a large portion of Kentacky, all Tennessee, and we may able Arkanese and a portion of Missouri, as that these sections, instead of having a surplufor aspect, as heretofore, will have to hely largely to supply their own use, thus greatly ineressing the arm to be supplied; and if we have to be a supplied to this the ionrases of foreign demand, the addit is his the ionrases of foreign demand, the larger than for price by the present crop larger than for price by the present crop and it is factor to be a supplied, botting at the factor is his way, the rapply is really a very abort one.
