The latest accounts from Vienna inform us that the Rebels had fallen back from that point, with their batteries, in the direction of Fairfax Court House.

Vienna is on the line of the Alexandria, Loudon and Hampshire Railroad, five miles from Alexandria, twenty-three from Leesburg, and four from Fairfax Court House.

A Company of Artillery from Alexandria were with the Rebels when they made the attack yesterday from the wooded heights.

The Ohio troops are loudly applauded for their courage at the time of the attack. They left the camp under a murderous fire.

The Rebels were strongly posted and our party by cavalry and infantry, they could not expect to make a successful attack upon the batteries without reinforcements.

There was apparently a want of forethought in General Hancock's arrangement of our troops at the time of the attack.

The Rebels at Vienna are said to have been ordered by General Hunter, and were about fifteen hundred in strength.

General McCook was here this morning looking after ambulances, to be used for the conveyance of the wounded Ohio soldiers.

It is reported that four regiments of Federal troops advanced, this afternoon, in Fairfax Court House, and that the Rebels, three thousand strong, fell back from that point.

There has been a great deal of excitement in Alexandria all day.

private in the Regt. of Artillery, and was subsequently elected First Lieutenant of the Bluggold Infantry Company.

How the Harvey Despatches Were Discovered.

It is now fully ascertained how the treasury of Harvey was discovered. The facts were discovered as follows: An operator on the telegraph office at Washington...

The operator was sent for and after considerable persuasion to indicate how to break an important message, and regulations to discharge any correspondence that might have passed through the office.

Mr. Harvey was not the most honest man in the world. An order was immediately issued to King to search for the original despatches containing the important evidence.

Mr. Harvey's treasury, and in payment of the from appearing conditions, an order was issued to inspect all the despatches that were at the telegraphic offices at Washington and other cities North.

The order for his recall has not been sent out. The opera or subsequently resigned, and has since been appointed to a remunerative position in the Navy Yard in this city.

From Missouri. ST. LOUIS, June 18. The Democrat has advice from Kansas...

Montgomery, with several hundred mounted men, will at once take position on the Kansas side of the Missouri river, ready to meet Gen. Jackson's forces whenever they make a movement from Independence towards Kansas.

The city militia and volunteers, number several thousand, are ready to march to the border as soon as orders are given. The Republican learns that on Sunday morning there were 2000 State troops at Bonville, and another 1000 at the opposite landing.

General Lyon's expedition met the steamer Emelle, and obtained all the information possible, so as to determine whether to proceed direct to Reconville by river or disembark at Rockport, 10 miles below, and attack Governor Jackson's command from the rear.

A special despatch from Jefferson City to the Republicans, says that Gen. Lyon's expedition left there yesterday in two steamers, destined, it was supposed, for Brownsville.

A gentleman from above, reports that Captain Kelly was running trains all day on the Pacific Railroad, between Tipton and Syracuse, and impressing men into the service of the State; also, that firing was heard for several hours in the direction of Brownsville.

The telegraph line was out of order west of Jefferson City and so information as to the movements of either party can be obtained, except by private means at present.

The Democrat learns by a gentleman just from Lexington that yesterday evening, as the advance guard of Federal cavalry, under Captain Price were moving along the road a few miles from Independence, they suddenly came upon a considerable body of State troops stationed on the top of a hill, with cannon, commanding the road.

On Friday, the State forces were concentrating at Blue Mills, taking a strong position, and were waiting an expected attack from the Federal troops.

Col. Curtis, of the Iowa Regiment, was to proceed from Mason City last night, taking the Hamilton and St. Joseph road to Busket station, and thence across the country thirty miles to Beersville.

Important from Missouri—300 Rebels Killed. ST. LOUIS, June 18. The Democrat has just received the following despatch from Jefferson City:

Mr. Burton, of St. Louis, and other gentlemen from above, give the following account of the battle at Beersville:

Lyon landed four miles below Beersville and opened a heavy cannonade against the rebels, who retreated and dispersed into the adjacent woods, whence they were driven out of the woods, and then retreated to a point below Beersville, where they were again engaged.

General Price was taken with a violent diarrhea at the beginning of the battle, and was taken to the steamer and carried home.

Gen. Jackson, who showed the battle from a distant point, fell to parts unknown after the great fight.

After the fight a meeting among Union men here. The States and Stripes have been hoisted from the Capital—Gus Field, and the Star Spangled Banner played by the regimental bands.

John Fitzpatrick, one of the most violent Necessitarians in the State took the oath of allegiance to the United States in presence of all the officers here to-day.

Fortress Monroe, June 17. Via Baltimore. Three hundred Zouaves under Lieut. Col. Warren, accompanied by Captain Smith of the Topographical Engineers...

Gen. Butler has directed several guns to be rifled as soon as possible for the Sawyer shell.

Gen. Butler has placed on board the Catalina, she having been fired at by the rebel gun boat from Sewall's Point.

Men can to-day be seen at work on Sewall's Point, probably constructing a water battery. The rifled cannon on the Rip Raps will be brought to bear on the rebel gun boat.

Arrangements have been made to-day, by which the New York and New England troops will be carried through to Baltimore, over the Lebanon Valley and Northern Central Railroad...

Another Clothing Contract. We understand that a relative of Governor Curtin, who had the contract to supply the troops with coats, furnished them to the Quarter master, but he refused to receive them...

From Western Virginia. GARRETTSBURG, June 18. A man reached here to-day from Richmond, after a long and tedious journey through the interior of the States.

He reports that it is the general impression along the route, and claimed to be founded on reliable information, that reinforcements for the Rebel army would be sent into Western Virginia immediately.

A report was brought here to-day, that ex-Congressman Green had spearheaded Colonel Poterfield in command of the Rebel troops, and was then at Huttonsville, about sixty miles from here.

The rumored march on Cumberland by way of Romney is ascertained to have been a first movement, their destination being evidently further west.

The Rebel Troops on the Mississippi. CHICAGO, June 18. The Evening Journal says that a gentleman well known to the editor passed through the city this morning, direct from Mobile and Memphis.

He had opportunities of judging of the strength and condition of the rebels, and estimates the number encamped between Vicksburg and Cairo at thirty thousand, all well armed.

He also states that there are at Mobile now one hundred thousand muskets, which had not been unloaded when he left. He also says that the Rebel soldiers are eager to go to Cairo or anywhere they can fight the Federal troops.

These men and a Massena Junction, three weeks to Richmond—some parties they call the "Blue Ridge"—the land does not yield enough for the people to live on in ordinary seasons.

While walking through one of the great tobacco warehouses on Charles street to-day, I met a gentleman from Lynchburg, Virginia, who is here on business connected with his tobacco plantation, near that city.

He is acquainted with many of the officers, and learned from them that, without exception, the officers above the rank of lieutenants were all men of military experience, being either graduates of West Point, or else having served with distinction in the Mexican War.

At Charlottesville there are 5000 troops encamped; at Gordonsville, 5000; and he was informed by the commanding officer at Gordonsville that there were 5000 more at Culpepper.—Phila. Inquirer.

Our Soldiers Must be Taught to Take Care of Themselves. 1. The soldier should be self-reliant, able to cook, wash, mend and provide for himself.

2. He should be taught to endure thirst, or rather not to be thirsty in the middle of the day on the march. The way to do this, is not to drink any fluids, whether in camp or on duty, from one meal to another.

3. Every man should be provided with a Mackintosh blanket, and a piece of indiarubber cloth of the same size. This indiarubber cloth should be provided with button holes on one side, and buttons upon the other, at every 12 inches distant.

4. In malarious districts, where fever, ague and dysentery abound, the soldier should protect himself at nightfall from the radiation of heat from the earth.

5. In the bivouac, he should select, if possible, a shelter on the lee side of a hill, hammock, log of wood, fence, tree, and, if nothing better offers, he should be taught to throw up a miniature rampart of soda, to protect him from the wind.

6. The soldier should be instructed in the art of cooking—namely the poorest rations can be made palatable by ingenious cooking.

7. Cleanliness of person, clothing, equipments and camp, are as indispensable as a bright musket and dry powder.

8. He should guard against one stroke by putting into his hat or cap his handkerchief, or what is better, a gun leather, or grass, even rags will do better than nothing.

9. Upon going into battle, he should put into his pocket all the spare handkerchiefs and rolls of lint he can lay hands on, to be prepared to staunch the flowing of blood promptly, and be taught the applying of ligatures between the wound and the heart, when arteries are wounded, and, between the wound and the commissure, when merely the veins are injured.

10. As much as possible he should lead a quiet, orderly life, avoiding dissipation, he should and abstain from every main-tain good faith to the end.

Personal.

We need money very badly, and it will be a very great relief to us if our friends and patrons will furnish us with a little of the "needful" without delay. If they cannot pay all, let them at least give us a part of that to which we are justly entitled, in order to relieve us from our embarrassments. We think we have been very indulgent, and therefore expect to meet with a ready response to what we conceive to be a reasonable request.

Swear Him In

We insist upon it that Horace Greeley shall be compelled to take the oath of allegiance to the United States, or else renounce himself and his old white coat and all his personal effects, including his pestiferous newspaper, out of the limits of the country covered by the Star Spangled Banner. As a faithful adherent to the glorious stars and stripes, we demand that the government compel Greeley to leave or to take the oath of allegiance at once. Our reason for making this demand is because Greeley published the following slanderous, disloyal and traitorous assault on our flag in the Tribune in 1864, and to this day he has never retracted it.

MAIL TO THE STARS AND STRIPES!

All hail to the floating flag! The stars grow pale and dim; The stripes are bloody scarred— A Lee the rallying hymn.

For the floating flag: With all a patriot's heart, I yoke the captive's neck, And wipe the bloody scars.

No Help for Them.

Those editors who get their war fever up to such a pitch that they wanted to fight all Europe, but particularly England, or the unfounded assumption that it was disposed to give aid and encouragement to what Artemus Ward, the great showman, calls the "Southern Coutheveracy," are beginning to realize that they have made geese of themselves and indulged in a good deal of senseless gabbling. As we asserted would prove to be the case, not a government of Europe is going to aid the rebels, directly or indirectly. And England, against which the New York Herald and Tribune, and the whole pack of country newspapers tuck bark as these "leading American journals" whistle, clamored most furiously, will be the last of them all to play foul to the government of the United States.

The New York papers, whose tone so slavishly adopted by the press of the country, are the very worst models of American journalism. The Herald is always crazy, and the Tribune always blind from malignity. The frothy, slap-dash editorials of the Herald never had any sense in them, and the Tribune is simply a mad dog among newspapers. Whoever copies these journals is sure to get bit.

Arms for State Troops.

The Harrisburg Telegraph says that the Federal Government has notified the Governor of Pennsylvania that he will be furnished immediately with 10,000 stand of arms, for the purpose of arming the reserve corps. These arms are to be of the best and most approved description, and will be placed in the hands of the reserve corps as soon as they are forwarded from the General Government. The State authorities are making arrangements to furnish a supply of rifles. The arms furnished by the War Department were applied for by the State authorities. Three thousand men are to be armed and equipped this week.

News from the Army.

The troops formerly encamped in this neighborhood are now stationed at Hagerstown, Funkstown and Williamsport. The 2nd Regiment, to which the Franklin County companies are attached, is encamped, with several others, near Funkstown. The Camp Shifer boys—that is, the 7th, 8th and 10th Regiments, are at Williamsport, McMillen's Rangers and Doubleday's Part Sumter men are at Hagerstown. The other regiments are encamped at different points around Williamsport and Hagerstown. Company A of the 2nd Regiment is detached as a provost guard for Hagerstown.

Several regiments have crossed the Potomac at Williamsport and penetrated into Virginia five or six miles. They found no secession troops but upon their march there was a large force about to attack them, which was dispersed by the fire of a battery at Falling Waters, the ordering back of Doubleday's men, and the hasty march of the troops from Hagerstown to Williamsport. Our Generals have the means of obtaining exact information of the movements of the enemy, and we cannot see why they do not use it before they start their men by unnecessary forced marches, and subject themselves to remarks not very complimentary to their military skill.

There have appeared, as yet, no large bodies of secession troops before Williamsport. Every day a body of scouts on horseback make their appearance and fire a few random shots and as quickly take to flight. There is a plan under consideration for capturing these scouts which we sincerely hope may be carried out and prove successful.

There are none of our troops now on the south bank of the Potomac. They have all been withdrawn and are now encamped in and about Williamsport. It is galling to our men to see these impudent rebels on the opposite side of the river, every day, without being able to get a crack at them.

On Saturday last, Lieut. Col. Bowman and Mr. Chase, Private Secretary to Col. EMLEY, crossed the Potomac at Williamsport for the purpose of examining the Virginia shore. While reconnoitering they were surprised by the rebels and carried off. When it became known that they were captured, Col. EMLEY could scarcely restrain the 8th Regiment from crossing the river and pursuing the rebels.

We have rumors every day of a battle being fought at Williamsport. This is all sensation news and is generally put in circulation by those whose imaginations are very elastic or whose fears are easily excited. These bogus news mongers are becoming known and are very much put out at finding their "occupation gone," as nobody any longer will listen to their wonderful stories.

The report of Bob Swan being arrested, at Martinsburg, turns out to be unfounded.

Large trains or constantly passing over the Franklin Railroad freighted with cannon, ammunition, horses, cattle, provisions, and all kinds of army stores.

The Government has established a Telegraph line from this place to Hagerstown for the use of the army.

A large number of sick have been left in the hospital at this place. They are all doing well, and we believe have no contagious diseases among them. The opinion formerly entertained that the rebel troops would make a stand on the south bank of the Potomac opposite Williamsport, and that a general battle would be fought at that point is not now thought of by military men. The officers think the Union troops will all be removed to Washington, within a few days, while the privates are of the opinion that they will be kept in their present quarters until the time of the three month soldiers expire, which will be on the 6th of next month. Some sharp skirmishing may take place in Berkeley county, but no general engagement is, as matters now stand, likely to come off in that direction.

All accounts agree that our troops are in excellent condition and eager for a fight. A gentleman who witnessed the crossing of the Potomac gives great praise to our soldiers. He says that three regiments crossed over in thirty-five minutes. The men waded into the water in the best possible humor and marched over to the tune of Yankee Doodle. When they reached the opposite bank they struck up Dixie's Land and never stopped to shake the water from their clothing, but marched on two or three miles before they called a halt.

On Wednesday last a battery of six guns with a strong company of Artillery men arrived at this place and were passed over the Franklin Railroad to Hagerstown. It was said at the Depot at the time of their arrival that they were from Carlisle Barracks.

The very latest rumor that we have from Williamsport is to the effect that large bodies of our troops have again crossed over the Potomac and are encamped on the Virginia side. This may probably be correct as they were exceedingly anxious to get as near the rebels as possible, and when on the other side of the river they obeyed the order to return to Maryland very instantly.

A Profitable Lesson

Gov. Wise made a speech at Richmond eight or ten days ago that pleased us mightily when we read it. He advises every man and boy in Virginia to hunt up a rifle, fowling piece, or firearms of any sort; and if they could get nothing better, he brought them to gather up spikes and nails and beat them into pikes. "Take a lesson from old John Brown," said he. We thought this bit of advice would have a good effect, especially on the secession force at Harper's Ferry. The result shows that we were not mistaken. The troops there read the lesson of old Brown and discovered that Harper's Ferry was a very unhealthy place for a rebellion to locate itself. They found that traitors enjoy very short lives in that latitude, and having a commendable desire to probing their own, they wisely concluded to get out from between the Potomac and the Shenandoah.

We trust the Virginia secessionists will study the old John Brown lesson well. We don't want any harin to come to them, and a careful study of that lesson will keep them out of harm's way. We know they don't want to strain themselves, and if they will just take a lesson from old John Brown, they will find that it wrenches a man's neck terribly to stand on nothing and kick at the air.

A Millerite secessionist.

JOHN B. FLOYD, who has been appointed a Brigadier General in the Secession Army, has issued a proclamation to the people of his department, which comprises the magnificent one-horse town of Wytheville and a considerable patch of the surrounding country in Virginia; setting forth that nothing but the want of arms prevents the gallant band of traitors under his command from cutting their way clear to the North Pole. He therefore calls on all persons who have arms to place the same at his disposal.

FLOYD reminds us of the Millerite preacher in PAULDING'S humorous story about "The End of the World." When the final "everlasting smash" came on, and the atmosphere grew suggestively as well as oppressively hot, that worthy prelate suddenly discovered, to his great consternation, that he had labored so assiduously for the salvation of other men's souls as to have entirely neglected his own. It turns out that FLOYD, when Secretary of War, was so intensely absorbed in stealing guns for other parts of the South, that he forgot to steal any for his own section of Virginia!

Another Lesson Wanted.

As Gov. WISE screwed up the courage of his Harper's Ferry fellow-treasoners to the running point by telling them to take a lesson from old John Brown, might he not save those at Yorktown from capture, by advising them to take a lesson from Lord CORNWALLIS? Give your friends another grassy speech, Governor.

Wheat is arriving at Milwaukie in great quantities. The receipts last week averaged 75,000 to 100,000 bushels daily, and the shipments on some days 200,000 bushels. Not long since a cargo of 20,000 bushels was shipped in the bark Ravensna direct for Liverpool, via the great lakes, the Welland canal and St. Lawrence river.

Col. Williamson of the Michigan Brigade, has been with the Tribesmen west of and should not be circulated among the soldiers at Camp Coon.

Franklin's Letters

The Philadelphia Press is very indignant at the Postmaster, for its place, for not honoring the frank of W. D. KELLEY by passing through the office all the letters of his friends to whom he made himself a clever fellow by supplying franked envelopes. Mr. KELLEY may violate the law and feel very little compunction of conscience for the act, but we can inform the Press that our Postmaster is a man of another stamp altogether. He is a faithful officer—continues to the strict letter of the law, and will accommodate all having business to transact through his office in every possible way short of a violation of his oath. We look upon the Press as a depraved sheet but we can hardly consider it so far gone as to ask that We publish the law for its special benefit.

And if further proof of that any person shall seek any letter or letters, other than those written by himself, or by his order, or in his name, or under his name, or under the name of any other person, or shall use any other device to procure for any person the delivery of any letter or letters, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Diplomatic Dinner, &c.

Every few days we have accounts from Washington of the brilliancy of the Diplomatic Dinners, the "Secretaries' Entertainment," the balls, receptions, parties, and, in general, we learn that feasting and hilarity are the order of the day amongst the guests. This may be all very well in its place; but, in the present deplorable condition of the country, such feasts had better be dispensed with, and the persons engaged in them should set an example of abstinence, instead of riotously making merry in the midst of the general gloom and distress throughout the land. Such scenes contrast to great disadvantage with the universal prostration of business and the sufferings of the people generally, and should be dispensed with by those high in authority at the National Capital. When the civil war is now in progress is over—when rebellion is crushed out, and prosperity again returns to our beloved Union—it will be quite time enough to rejoice and make merry at our good fortune, but not before.

New Democratic Daily.

The leading Democrats of Philadelphia have determined to start a new Democratic daily in that city, which it is said will be issued at an early day. The pecuniary arrangement will be under the control of a committee of stockholders, while the editorial department will be conducted by Messrs. Welsh and Glessbrenner, the former a Senator of the State from York county, and the latter for many years the Sergeant-at-Arms of the house of Representatives at Washington. Both of these gentlemen are practised editors. It will be the only organ of the Democratic party in Philadelphia, and should be largely circulated in the interior of the State. Such a paper is badly needed, and will receive, we believe, at this time, a hearty support.

It is the practice in the British Army for each soldier to frank his own letter, by merely putting "n" in the corner of the letter, or envelope, "Soldier's Letter." This is respected by all the British postoffices and mails throughout the world as a free frank. By every foreign mail letters are received from the East and West Indies and elsewhere through the Boston post office, with this frank. In view of the sacrifices made by our volunteers and soldiers, and the small pay received, we would suggest that some provision be made by Congress for carrying their letters free of postage.

Mr. Editor—It is the wish of many of my neighbors that the name of WILLIAM CLINE, of the people of this county for the office of County Treasurer. I know of no man who would be more likely to meet the expectations of the people, in every respect, as a candidate for this important office than Mr. CLINE. He is an intelligent, honest and industrious farmer, and as an accountant and penman thoroughly qualified to fill the office. Mr. CLINE is known to the people of the County generally, but, in the parts of the County in which he has resided, no man is more popular or more highly considered among his neighbors. I would consider him in every way a suitable and deserving man for the office of County Treasurer, and would respectfully recommend him to the people of the County as well worthy their confidence and support.

The President, in consequence of the pressure of public business, is obliged to decline receiving any more visitors from this time until the opening of the next session of Congress—Washington Star, June 19.

Defense of Col. Bendix.

Adjutant L. Schaffner, of Col. Bendix's Regiment, makes the following statement to the N. York Democrat, with regard to the part played by Bendix's Regiment at the battle of Great Bethel:

1. Col. Bendix had orders to hold the fort under all emergencies.

2. He had not been informed that Townsend's Regiment was to wear something white on the arm.

3. When Col. Townsend's Regiment approached, they had no advantage by the way of a "terminal blunder," such as no Prussian corporal would commit.

4. But Gen. Pierce and Col. Townsend, with his staff, rode at the head of the Regiment, as if on parade, and the two files, drawn by horses, were likewise at the head of the column so that Col. Bendix, at the dawn of day, could not but suppose the troops advancing against him to be cavalry, which could not come from Fortress Monroe.

5. At least 15 of the men of Col. Townsend's Regiment affirm that their Regiment opened the fire.

Heavy Taxes.

The New York News says: The taxes for next year are estimated at $11,000,000, all of which must come from the business and working population of the city. We have a population according to the last census of about 550,000, but deducting from that number the men who have volunteered into the service of the United States, and those who by the suspension of business have been obliged to remove to the country districts in which their friends reside, we have remaining less than 300,000 to pay the $11,000,000 of taxes. The result is that the average taxation will be nearly $70 each for every man.

Sill at It!

Those Richmond editors are incorrigible. Hear how the Examiner berates the Federal Troops:

"Take them all in all their forces are as precious a set of rascals as could be scraped together with a fine tooth comb from the pot-houses and hell holes of the North. They have been fertilized by filth and grown up fresh and unmitigatedly wretched from the mire of municipal corruption."

The severest blow which the United States Government has received since the commencement of our troubles was that given by the treason of General Twiggs in Texas. Its importance has hardly been estimated in the North. It was a surrender of thirteen forts, of 35,000 stand of arms of 80 pieces of ordnance, of 355,000 in money, of horses for a regiment of cavalry, mules, wagons, tents, provisions, ammunition and munitions of war to the estimated value of from $1,500,000 to $3,000,000! Had it not been for Twiggs and Floyd, the rebels would have had but few arms, or fortified places in their possession. They gave them, from their positions, more material assistance than all the world besides.

Fairfax Station is often confounded with Fairfax Court House. The former is situated on the Orange and Alexandria Railroad, eighteen miles from Alexandria, and the Court House or county seat of Fairfax county is a village about fourteen miles from Alexandria on the wagon road leading to Warrenton. And the same may be said of Manassas Gap and Manassas Junction. The latter place is where and is about twenty-seven miles from Alexandria. The gap is in the Valley of Virginia, running through the Blue Ridge Mountains, and about sixty miles from the Junction.

Maj. General Juno A. Dix, of this city, who has received his commission in the U. S. Army from the War Department, dated May 16th, outranks Generals McClellan, Butler and Banks, having been an officer in the U. S. Army (a captain many years ago) before any of them.—N. Y. Jour. of Commerce.

Beware of one, two and three dollar bills on the Farmers and Drivers Bank of Waynesburg, Green county. That Bank has, as yet, issued no small bills, and all that are in circulation are forgeries.

Col. Samuel W. Black, of Pittsburg, (late Governor of Nebraska,) has been tendered and has accepted the command of a Philadelphia regiment, formed principally of soldiers of the Mexican war. Col. Black commanded a regiment in Mexico and is a most efficient officer.

The Hebrew inscribed stones found in Ohio, bear a scattered store of a Jewish priest in contact, with the same of Moses over it, and about 250 other characters, all in a peculiar alphabet, which can be read after some study, though not exactly corresponding with any other yet known. They form an abstract of the Ten Commandments.

A prominent lawyer of Mobile, named Robinson, committed suicide by cutting his throat while at work with the rebel code by which he was attached for the rest of war.

The Army Clothing Funds.

The Pennsylvania House of Representatives has adopted a resolution in relation to the Clothing Fund for the Army. The resolution is in relation to the clothing fund for the Army. The resolution is in relation to the clothing fund for the Army.

From our own knowledge and observation and from various reliable sources, we are enabled to state that the clothing fund for the Army is in a state of great efficiency. The resolution is in relation to the clothing fund for the Army.

Immediately after the presentation of the bill, the Attorney General drew a bill of indictment against the party, which he promptly did and a true bill was subsequently returned against them. The resolution is in relation to the clothing fund for the Army.

Public rumor is a dangerous thing, and a strict investigation, and the good example of a legible should be followed and carried out by other counties in the Commonwealth.—Lancaster Keelboatman.
