

BOYEN ON THE BRIVE

There was a lack of a woman's morning, there was death of woman's love. But a comrade took her hand, while his life had been a day.

table, which she crossed and adorned with a nosegay she had worn herself; she then took an ornamented basket containing rice, herbs and flowers; and whilst scattering them about the crowd delivered a short address.

EDUCATION OF FEMALES.

Take one of your city young ladies, give her the highest moral and intellectual culture, let her excel in every study now taught in our schools.

and we should have a race of men and women such as God intended should bless the world.

The most deplorable effect of neglected female physical condition, is seen when such girls enter the family relation; when they become mothers. They are wholly unable to sustain the duties and responsibilities that devolve upon them.

French Army Shoes.

A correspondent of the New York Evening Post gives an interesting account of the manner in which the shoes are made for the French army. He says: The manufacturer buys the leather, after being certain that it is not tanned by means of acids.

I only speak from memory of the superior commission who regularly inspect the workshops. A general division, a commissary and two administrative officers exercise daily control over the operations of the high shoe shop.

A pair of shoes, manufactured in this way, in the new factory, cost eight francs, in the army shops, cost six francs.

France has a central workshop, which places the clothing, shoes, and even the encampment of the soldier under the hand and eye of the Minister of war. In a few years, the companies employed in this work hitherto can either be suppressed or employed in the repairs of military effects.

The Minister could also organize a military workshop in such a case. There is no danger of fire, for the buildings are fireproof. Should the contractor fail, the government could take the establishment and give it over to the care of another.

A Proper Hint to the Government.

The Convention of New York Bank officers, after unanimously approving conditions upon which the Government loan was taken, adopted the following resolution: Resolved, That this meeting, in assuming the grave responsibility of furnishing means to sustain the Government in this important crisis, beg leave respectfully to express to the President of the United States its confident expectation that the Government will without respect to party or personal considerations, so conduct its affairs in every department of administration, as to insure vigor, integrity, economy and efficiency to the triumphant termination of the war.

This resolution was adopted unanimously, and a copy was directed to be sent to the President of the United States. It expresses the unanimous feeling of the people of the loyal States that it is time the system of inefficient functioning that has characterized the movements of the Government should have an end.

The Rebellious Indian.

The Chicago Tribune says: "W. P. Dole, Esq. late of Edgar county, now Commissioner of Indian Affairs, was in this city yesterday, on his way to Kansas, where he proposes to look personally into the political condition of the Indian tribes west of Arkansas. Some of these, deluded by the lies and promises of the agents of the rebels, are in arms against the Government. A few hundreds of them were in the late battle near Springfield, where they displayed, at the expense of our volunteers, a degree of savagery that almost equalled that of the Arkansas and Mississippi troops. The Government does not propose to pay any annuities to such, and the Commissioner will make strict personal inquiry into the loyalty of the chiefs and warriors, before a dollar of money is allowed to go forward. His visit is timely and necessary, and we have no doubt he will wisely discharge his duties in the premises."

Surprised.

A Minnesota paper tells this story of the battle of Stone Bridge: "Adjutant General Sanborn relates that when the Minnesota regiment was drawn up in line of battle opposite to the Mississippi regiment, the wagon-master of the Minnesota regiment, our old friend, Anson Northrup, was in the ranks, with musket in hand. The regiment, practising the Zouave drill, in which Northrup is not very proficient, fell flat on the ground after the first round—every man killed as Northrup thought. Resolved to have another crack at the rebels, Northrup reloaded his musket, and just after he fired, up jumped his comrades and fired another round, as much to Northrup's surprise, he said, as if so many dead men had come out of their graves."

A Woman of Good Taste.

You see this lady turning a cold eye to the assurances of shopmen and the recommendation of milliners. She cares not how original a pattern may be, if it be ugly, or how recent a shape, if it be awkward. Whatever laws fashion dictates, she follows a law of her own, and is never behind it.

This tax, it will be borne in mind, goes into effect on the 1st of next January, when it will not only be assessed and collected for the ensuing year, but also for the present year. This is a matter of interest to some people, but it is a nullity as affecting the revenues of local editors.

A Christian General.

The statement that Gen McClellan called upon his Pastor, and united with him in prayer, before starting for Western Virginia, has been contradicted by several newspapers. Dr. Thompson, of Cincinnati, in a sermon at Troy, recently, stated that he was the pastor alluded to, and though he never designed to give the incidental publicity, he most fully confirms the truth of the statement.

Bassett's Conversion.

In a letter to the London Times, dated Washington, July 18th, Russell says: "At present dismiss entirely from the minds of England the idea, no matter how it may originate, that there will or can be peace, compromise, union or secession, till war has determined the issue."

Respectfully Begging.

The Republican Executive Committee of Washington county, Ohio, addressed communications lately to the Democratic Executive Committee of the same county, proposing an arrangement to avoid party conventions and party nominations this Fall. The Democratic Committee unanimously declined, for a variety of reasons: 1st. Want of power to disband or destroy the Democratic organization. 2nd. The Democracy of the county are opposed to fusion with Republicans. 3rd. The conduct of the Republican officials demonstrates daily the incapacity of an active opposition party. 4th. The constant example of Republicans in power that where they have the power they will use it for Republican party purposes. 5th. The controlling element of the Republican party is for waging the present war for the extermination of slavery, which object is opposed by the Democracy. 6th. The blotting out of States lines, as mediated by leading Republicans, demands an active Democratic organization. 7th. By maintaining its organization the Democratic party will accomplish a great work for the Union and the Constitution, and for law and order throughout the country.

Income Tax.

The local editor of the Buffalo Express has made up the following table of taxes on incomes, as fixed by the new bills:

Income Tax.

Table with 2 columns: Income level and Tax amount. Rows include 1,000 per annum ($ 0.00), 1,500 " (21.00), 2,000 " (36.00), 2,500 " (51.00), 3,000 " (66.00), 4,000 " (95.00), 5,000 " (126.00).

sun's rays, Oct.—There is a new moon upon the Sun that have been seen for many years; some of these are visible through a smoked glass, to the naked eye. Several stars—some of them of great brilliancy, which, from their accretion distance, must have been as large as our sun—have totally disappeared from the sky; and the question has been raised among astronomers whether the light and heat of the sun are fading away. As this would be accompanied by the destruction of all the animals and plants on the earth, it is rather an interesting subject. The sun's light and heat are diminished by the dark spots at the present time about one per cent.

"Hullo, where did you get those new clothes?" "Why, you see, I plagues a rich fellow till he gave me a slip on the jaw. I prosecuted him. His friend bought me off, and I agreed to hush the matter up. I'm going to set up business in that line now, and I expect to make a fortune at it soon."

"Sir your account was good for two years, and I must have it settled immediately." To which the customer replied: "Sir, things usually do settle by standing; I regret that my account is an exception. It has been standing too long, suppose you let it run awhile."

WATERMELON PICKLES.—Ten pounds of Watermelon rinds boiled in pure water until they are tender; drain the water off; then make a syrup of two pounds of sugar, one quart of vinegar, half an ounce of cloves, one ounce of cinnamon. The syrup to be boiled and poured over the melon rinds being hot. Drain the syrup off, and let it cool to a boil, and pour it over the melon three days in succession. The rinds prepared in this way for watermelon pickles are never spoiled. It will keep from one year to another.

"Shall I have the pleasure of your company for the next set?" asked a young gentleman of a pretty, but not well educated young woman, as a bid. "What is to be the dance, sir?" "Ditto," said the young man referring to his programme. "Oh, you must excuse me, then," said she. "I can't dance ditto!"

"Boys," said Uncle Peter, as he examined the prints of the animal, "I don't see but one reason that more can't trot her mile in three minutes." They gathered round to hear this oracular opinion; and one inquired, "What is it?" "Why," he replied, "the distance is too great for so short time."

Sound reasoning.—In a recent cause of assault, the defendant pleaded guilty. "I think I must be guilty," said he, "because the plaintiff and I was the only person in the room, and the first thing I knew was that I was standing up and he was doubled over the table. You'd better call it guilty."

"Didn't you tell me, sir, you would hold the plough?" said a farmer to a green Irishman, whom he had taken on trial. "Arrah, be aisy now," said Pat. "How the deuce can I hold it, and two horses drawing it away from me? But give it to me in the barn, and be jabers 'I'll hold it with anybody!"

A teacher wishing to explain to a little girl the manner in which a lubber carries his shell when he has outgrown it, said: "What do you do when you have outgrown your clothes? You throw them aside, don't you?" "Oh no, replied the little one, 'we let out the ticks."

"I sell p perannate on Sunday," remarked a good old lady, who kept a candy shop, "because they carry 'em to church and eat 'em, and are kept awake to hear the sermon; but if you want pickled limes you must come weak days. They're seen at our commodities."

THE MAN WHO KNOWS EVERTHING.

A mighty knowing man was Caleb... who kept the grocery at the fork of the road, near Woodstock street, Spring Hill, in the village of Haverhill.

On a careful consideration, I should say it was about three miles, or three miles and a quarter, or perhaps a half, up the creek.

Caleb, who had not lost a word of the conversation, dropped his sugar-scoop with astonishment, and opened his ears, for the boys were talking about a matter in which he was not "pated up."

"Well, Joe, how far up the creek are you?" "On a careful consideration, I should say it was about three miles, or three miles and a quarter, or perhaps a half, up the creek."

"That's a fact; there was a pair on 'em but they only caught the he one." "As this point of the dialogue Caleb became so desperately excited that he could contain himself no longer, and emphatically demanded to know 'what's the thunder they were talking about?'"

"Why," said Joe with well-figured astonishment, "don't you know about their catching that?" "That's what?" peevishly snarled Caleb.

"Why, that's whole!" seriously answered Joe Stubbins. "A whole!" exclaimed the bewildered Caleb, have they caught that whole up the creek?"

AN AFFECTIONATE INCIDENT OF THE LATE BATTLE.

Singular Meeting of Brothers after Seven Years Absence—Both Wounded. A correspondent of the Richmond Dispatch writes from "Camp near Manassas, July 27," under the following affectionate incident of the meeting, it is a separation of seven years, between two brothers.

of, together with several other gentlemen from Manassas, a day or two ago, witnessed one of the most singular incidents of the war, if not of the century, which will probably occur during this war, if it should last for twenty years. We were straggling over the battle field, examining the ground upon which we had such a bloody conflict two days before. We found unexpectedly into the Contrabands' camp, and seeing a house on the left with the carriage belonging to a hospital, we inquired of a physician expressed an interest in the case, and we were informed that the man was a soldier of the 13th Virginia Infantry, who had been wounded at the battle of Manassas, and had been in the hospital ever since.

Valley Spirit.

CHAMBERSBURG, SEPT. 4, 1861.

"Do not give up the Union. Preserve it in the name of the Fathers of the Revolution—preserve it for its great elements of good—preserve it in the sacred name of Liberty—preserve it for the faithful and devoted lovers of the Constitution in the rebel States—those who are persecuted for its support, and are dying in its defence.—Libellous can lay down her arms to Government—Government cannot surrender to rebellion."—Hon. Daniel Dickinson, of New York.

Our Platform.

We are for the Government, first, last and always, in war, as well as peace, whether the war be against foreign or domestic enemies.

We are for the North in sympathy, because it is the North which at present sustains the Government.

We are for the Administration when we think it right, against it when we think it wrong. That is our platform in a nut shell.

Let Us Pull Together.

The Democracy are loyal and have ever been; they have proved the fact in other wars, and are proving it in this to a perfect demonstration. And yet, sorry to say it, some few foolish persons are denouncing the Democrats as traitors, disunionists and secessionists. There are, in every community, a few men of such bigoted minds and intolerant spirits, that they can endure no one who differs from them in opinion. These are the persons with whom the cry of "traitor" generally originates. Mostly ignorant, and always full of prejudice, they invariably misrepresent the views of those who presume to disagree with them. Thus, if any one should happen to express an idea as to the origin and cause of the war that does not strictly accord with their own notions, they straightway denounce him as a "secessionist," although he may have given an hundred proofs of his loyalty. And if another should speak of peace and compromise, these same individuals at once accuse him of sympathizing with the Southern traitors. Now, as the first, last and only object of the war, is the restoration of peace, it might be supposed that citizens whose whole lives have attested their fidelity to the Constitution and Union, could discuss the probability of accomplishing peace with a view to the maintenance and reservation of both, without exposing themselves to the grave accusation of hatching treason. Surely, when a Proclamation bearing Abraham Lincoln's name is even now in print, recommending the people of the United States to observe a day of fasting and prayer to Almighty God "for the safety and welfare of these States. His blessing on their arms, and a speedy restoration of peace," the consideration of measures that may be instrumental to that end, can be no just ground of offence.

Democrats, Reflect.

Every Democrat, unless self-interest blinds him, must see that by standing by the Flag of his Country he is no more under the necessity of endorsing Abolitionism or Republicanism than he is of embracing Spiritualism, Agrarianism or Free Loveism. He must, indeed, be a sorry sort of a Democrat that can be made believe that he cannot perform his whole duty to his country unless he abandons Democratic principles, and joins hands with Republicans to save their sinking party. The Democratic party with the exception of about twelve years since the organization of the Government have controlled its affairs, and every important question of governmental policy, foreign and domestic, have been settled and established by the Democratic party. To be told at this late day that it requires a Democrat to forsake his party in order to stand by his country is a strange doctrine and none but a political knave will advance it, and none other than a stupid dolt or a hungry office-seeker will swallow it. Mark the Democrats who will ingenuously desert their party now on the plea that it is no longer loyal to the flag of their country. No Democrat with a soul in him will brook such an insult or vote for the man who will lead his aid to palm such a vile slander on his party.

Ortstown.

There seems to be a systematic effort on the part of some unscrupulous persons to circulate slanders in regard to the good people of Ortstown. To believe their stories Ortstown is a perfect hot-bed of treason, and the inhabitants, in and around it, a set of "rebels," "traitors," "secessionists" and "everything else that is vile!" To accuse one's neighbors of disloyalty to their country, and of being such vile characters, would, once upon a time, have been looked upon as very un-Christian like conduct, to say nothing of punishing the slanders as the law provides, but in this LINCOLN era the largest liberty may be taken with men's characters, persons and property, and there is no redress, nor dare you raise a finger or utter a word against it. We know the people of Ortstown to be as loyal as any in the State, and will give more substantial aid to the Government, in all Constitutional means that it may adopt to restore the Union, than those who are denouncing them as traitors. There are no people in the land more patriotic than the inhabitants of Ortstown, and their political enemies cannot intimidate them or drive them from their loyalty by slandering them. What is the mighty offence that Ortstown has committed that it must be thus ostracized? A few copies of the N. Y. Day Book are taken there! What a heinous offence! Was it a thousand copies of the New York Tribune, the paper that has made all the mischief in the country, it would all be right. Ortstown would then be considered a very liberal place. It might get up a John Brown rebellion on its own hook without damaging its character in the least, in the estimation of a single Republican paper in the country.

It is high time that these would-be Unionists cease their slanders against their neighbors. Do they wish to make the South believe that the North is full of secessionists? They won't go to war themselves and they think they must be doing something to keep up a show that they are very efficient in the cause of the Union. They think there is less risk in calling Democrats "traitors," than fighting the real traitors of the South, and they accordingly pitch in behind our backs, on all convenient occasions. The result is that the Democratic party are getting about tired of it. There is no better way in the world to divide and distract the North than these constant efforts to slander the Democracy and place it in a wrong position. If any are really guilty, or even suspected, of treason and secession sympathies let the charge be made in the proper form and let them at once be arrested. How much more honorable this would be than to encourage mobs by cowardly innuendoes made behind one's back. So far as the Democracy of Ortstown, and every other part of the county, are concerned they will not yield to any one in the country in their devotion to the Union, the Constitution and the enforcement of the Laws. But when it comes to bearing patiently the abominations of our State Administration, they are incapable; when they see distractions and dissensions in and out of the Cabinet, paralyzing the bravery of our soldiers and squandering the means of the people, they will "talk out." When our brave and enthusiastic army is forced against an overwhelming foe to almost certain defeat by men who, as Douglas said, hope to accomplish Disunion by means of war, they protest. If Democrats were to say half the hard things that are said by members of the Cabinet and their adherents against General Scott, and vice versa against members of the Cabinet, we would feel disposed to look suspiciously upon them ourselves; but there certainly can be no treason or secession sympathy in denouncing misdeeds and incompetence on the one hand, or defending the reputation and ability of men like Gen. Scott, whose whole life and every act and deed has proven them incapable of treachery on the other.

The Democratic party will stand by the Government in the pending contest with the rebels of the South, and will not be driven from their position by all the abuse that can be heaped upon them. The Republicans had much better turn their attention to the real secessionists than to be constantly charging the Democrats with treason and thereby breeding dissensions and paralyzing the Union sentiment among the people of the North.

How Does It Look.

On the 18th day of February, 1860, the President of the United States transmitted to Congress a message urging the importance of legislative action for the protection of the American citizens and their property while in transit across the Isthmus, between our Atlantic and Pacific possessions, and to authorize the President to employ the land and naval forces of the United States to protect the lives and property of American citizens from lawless violence while upon this route. In this message the President does not name any sum that would be required to carry out this measure, nor did he propose to transcend his constitutional power in any respect. He simply stated that upon a "sudden emergency," when the lives and property of our citizens were in danger, he might in that case direct any armed force in the vicinity to march to their relief. Nothing more was asked for in this law than what every loyal citizen would pronounce for the interest and honor of the whole country; yet the message had no sooner made its appearance than the entire Republican party set up a howl over it. There was no talk then about "slandering the Government." That might go to sticks for all they cared, and the lives and property of our citizens with it, so that they could be gratified in their opposition to the acts of the National Administration. When this message of the President of the United States appeared, the Republican papers all over the country, published it with the following headings in the largest type, is the Republican style of ushering in a Government message in February, 1859. See Republican papers of that date:—

HE PRESIDENT HAS ASKED FOR THIRTY MILLIONS! HE NOW SEEKS THE SWORD! THE CONSTITUTION TO BE SET ASIDE!!!

SHALL THE PRESIDENT BE MADE KING? SHALL WE ALLOW THE GOVERNMENT TO BE CONGRESS ACCORDING TO THE OPINIONS OF THE OLD FEDERALIST.

Suppose a Democratic paper at this day was to publish one of LINCOLN'S war messages, with a heading of a similar character, there is not a Republican paper in all the North but would cry out with its loudest bellow, "suppress the paper and arrest the traitor!" It would be but right and consistent that these loud-mouthed Union brawlers, who go in all of a sudden for sustaining National Administrations, give us an analysis of their feelings when the above disloyal sentiments appeared! Did they flare up into a high state of excitement and plunge about "treason and traitors" and invoke "mob violence," and all that, or did they connive at the treason because a Democratic President was at the head of the Government? We rather suspect the latter was the course they pursued, for they were never known to let an opportunity slip to embarrass the Government and bring it into disgrace and dishonor while under Democratic rule. We will now teach them a lesson, that they never practised, by showing them that the Democracy will stand by the Government no matter who administers it, and will give it all the support in their power to restore the Union and bring back the blessings of peace to our unhappy and ruined country.

Mob Violence Rebuked. The destruction of two newspaper offices in the North—one at Concord, New Hampshire, and the other at Bangor, Maine—for alleged sympathy with the cause of Secession, receives just condemnation at the hands of the loyal press in that section. The Boston Daily Advertiser, in alluding to this spirit of turbulence, says: "The mischief that these advocates of Secession may have been able to accomplish appears to us inconsiderable in comparison with the discredit brought upon the national cause by such acts of violence as we now refer to."

The Boston Sentinel appears again this week. The publisher's office, it will be remembered, was destroyed by a mob about two weeks ago. He complains very feelingly, of the misrepresentations and falsehoods that were circulated against him, and led to the commission of the outrage by which he has suffered so seriously.

Remember when Honor is Due.

While the Union soldiers of Black Republicanism were abusing JOHN C. BRECKINRIDGE last week for his manly defense of the Constitution, he was saving government property and keeping down rebellion in Kentucky.—Prevented from speaking at Baltimore by a rowdy crowd who disgraced the Union cause they pretended to uphold, he went to his home at Lexington and there presided an excited crowd of his fellow citizens from seizing munitions of war belonging to the government. He counseled them to preserve the peace and not disturb government property. JOHN C. BRECKINRIDGE is now the best abused man in the whole country and yet it cannot be shown that he ever advocated or countenanced Disunion in any manner or form. He has exerted himself to keep Kentucky in the Union, and it is a base slander to represent that he said that if Kentucky voted for the Union he would cease to represent her in the U. S. Senate. He never uttered a word or syllable out of which such a meaning can be tortured; on the contrary his late speech in defence of the Constitution is filled with the most lofty and patriotic sentiments of devotion to the Union—the whole Union and nothing but the Union. If he has ever by word or deed committed treason let him at once be arrested. The present Government would not hesitate to do so if it had cause—it would not hesitate to strike at such a shining mark when it will descend to the small game of arresting the editor of a country newspaper.

The devotion of JOHN C. BRECKINRIDGE to the cause of the Union has drawn from a distinguished Republican who says he "never yet voted for JOHN C. BRECKINRIDGE," the following just tribute:—

"It is hardly worth while to say that Kentucky is, and always has been, thoroughly for the Union, and that no man is more devoted to it than Mr. J. C. Breckinridge himself. N. Y. he is of the very few eminent public men from whose lips not even a hypothetical case of justifiable dissolution has ever heard. And the day may come when the recompense to his country for the terrible abuse lavished on him as a traitor to it will be the sublime exercise of his great, wise and dauntless nature in the preservation of that very Union which the passions of men and the violence of parties have put in so much peril."

Kentucky All Right

This gallant State remains true as steel to the Union. At the recent election, for members of the Legislature, a very large majority of Union candidates were elected throughout the State, and the popular voice is overwhelmingly against Secession. This noble Commonwealth, we take it, is more reliable than either Maryland or Missouri, and its influence will not be without its proper effect in the other Southern States. Kentucky, next to Pennsylvania, is one of the most loyal States in the Union, and her voice will be potential for good.

Beef and Pudding.

John Bull don't like Bull Run, Mr. Russell don't like Bull Run, and the London Times is very snobbish about the fight and the foot race. We are not very much concerned whether John Bull likes it or not. Nobody asked him for even his opinion. There is nothing, except the invasion of our hearthstones, which would so quickly concentrate and hold one million of men as the interference of England in favor of the South. It would serve but to set the country in a blaze, and manifest a power unheard of in the annals of warfare. About the time England is ready to embark, Ireland will be on her flank.

The Thirty Pieces of Silver.

NILL'S apostasy has been rewarded by a recommendation for the Judgeship of this Judicial District, by the Republican Convention on Monday last. The pay has followed very close on the heels of the services rendered, but then the people have a say so in matter, and they somehow or other manifest very little respect for fossil politicians.

Our Object.

Democrats, in fighting in the present war have a noble object in view. They are anxious to maintain the laws and preserve the Union of the States against all efforts to divide; but they demand, also, that the equality of the States, shall be respected and acknowledged.

Touch Not the Sacred Thing.

Mr. Editor:—I am a plain man and not much used to writing, but still can give my brother Democrats a bit of advice that will be of use to them if they will pay attention to it. And my advice to them is to stay a way from the office of McLellan & McClure. I mean of course so far as political or political movements are concerned. McLellan & McClure's office is a good enough place to go to on law business, but it is the worst place in Chambersburg to go to for politics. I need not go into an argument to prove this, as all my fellow Democrats in the county know that that office has for years been the very place where every plan has been laid to overthrow the Democratic party of old Franklin. Any Democrat who will go there for political advice now, will be an out and out Black Republican in twelve months, if the Black Republican party, anatch green or rotten Democrats enough to keep it alive that long.

This new "Union" affair is just another Know Nothing trick. The Know Nothing leaders pretended that there was need of a new party, and they bamboozled a good many Democrats into joining them. And what kind of a party did it turn out to be? It disgraced everybody that belonged to it. It broke up the good old Whig party and would have broken up the Democratic party too if the great body of Democrats had not held off from it. But that plan to destroy the Democratic party did not succeed, and now our old opponents are trying at other. They want to get up a patriotic "Union party." Well, let any Democrat join them who thinks he can't be a Democrat and a lover of the Union at the same time. But I think the tricky politicians who meet at McLellan & McClure's office will find out that the Democrats of this county are too patriotic and too good Union men to give up the old Constitution and Union Jackson Democracy and join the Union-breaking Black Republicans.

ANTRIM.

LOCAL NEWS.

Democratic County Convention. We issue our paper in advance of the regular publication day in order to make it convenient to attend the County Convention. We anticipate an interesting convention of the Democracy and united and harmonious action in all the proceedings of the Convention. We feel assured a ticket will be nominated that will deserve and receive the support of the whole party. No man we are satisfied will be placed upon it that is not unmistakably fit for the position for which he is named. The old Jeffersonian standard—"is he honest"—is he capable" will alone govern the selection of candidates for the different offices.—With such candidates and a sound Constitutional platform we feel sanguine of a Democratic triumph.

Republican Convention.

The Republicans held their nominating Convention on Monday last. The delegates were among the most respectable and intelligent men of the county. The business of the Convention was conducted orderly and without much debate—the business having all been "cut and dried" beforehand. The only symptoms of restiveness in the Convention was manifested by about a dozen of so-called Democrats, who had forced themselves into the Convention to get office for themselves or their friends. They shuffled their cards very drolly and managed to pocket all the stakes worth having. They are old political gamblers and understand how to win. The Republicans seem much dissatisfied since they have "cut their wisdom teeth" in the "Union arrangement." They see that they have lost everything and gained nothing. Very many of the delegates before leaving town openly declared that they would not support the mongrel or "Loofoco ticket" as they called it. They proposed to call a clean Republican Convention and nominate men of their own party, the proposition was formally received by many of the most prominent men in the party, but the leaders in town will apply the lash and whip them all into the arrangement got up for their special convenience. The Union dodge has proved a fizzle and the Republicans have discovered that they have "paid too dear for the whistle." One of the delegates who is cute enough to do his own thinking very aptly remarked that "all they had made of the Democratic party, by the Union arrangement, would not save them, or the Union either, if they had to depend upon that."

The following is the ticket which the Convention went through the motions of nominating, but which has been bandied about the streets of

Chambersburg for the past two weeks:

Bishop of Philadelphia officiated in the Roman Catholic Church, of this place, on Sunday last. In the course of the regular services in the morning, he confirmed about sixty children. The ceremony was of an impressive and interesting character. His sermon on the occasion was of great ability and learning and was well calculated to please and instruct his audience which was composed of persons belonging to various denominations.—At the conclusion of the service of Vesper in the afternoon Bishop Wood blessed the new bell lately purchased for the Church. This is an old ceremonial in the Catholic Church and is in conformity with the rule to bless every article used for religious purposes.

Bishop Wood is a man strikingly intellectual in appearance and we have been informed stands high in his Church for his ability as a scholar and theologian. He is a native of Philadelphia and a convert to the Church. For some time prior to his entering the priesthood he was an officer in one of the Banking institutions of his native city. As an evidence of his patriotism we remember of seeing it stated that at the commencement of the present war he was one of the first to raise the American flag from the highest point of the Cathedral and high above any other flag in the city.

Repainted and Improved.

We notice considerable repainting and improving of the Roman Catholic Church edifice, in this place. The building is now surrounded by a handsome cupola, and a new roof of slate has the place of the old shingle roof. This week it is intended to commence the removal of the old pews and erect new ones, leaving a middle and side aisles. The exterior is to be repainted and made more attractive. A new bell of splendid tone will be raised into the Cupola (it will be raised to its position, this afternoon, (Tuesday) at 2 o'clock. These alterations and additions have been made under the direction of Rev. Father McKee, pastor of the church and a Committee consisting of Messrs. Martin Cole, Alexander Martin, Simon P. Harbaugh and Joseph Deekelmayer, and will cost about $1000.

Reb. Harshannah—New Year 2020.

Thursday next, September 5th, will be the first day of the 7th month, (Tishri) the civil New Year of the Israelites all over the world where the sons of Jacob have found a home.

This is always the occasion of a holiday, and is most religiously observed by all the Israelites throughout the world. All of them close their places of business on Wednesday evening at six o'clock for three days, and where the Christian Sabbath is observed, this year many of them will keep closed for four successive days. The Synagogues will be opened on Thursday, and the ancient rites and ceremonies of the children of Israel observed in the land of Judea, five thousand years ago, will be repeated in all their solemn grandeur.

Military Tactics.

At this particular time it is highly proper for volunteer military men, officers as well as privates, to post themselves in the tactics and army regulations. This can be accomplished by experience and observation, but in view of the recent army orders concerning the competency of officers—if not from a sense of duty and proper appreciation of the responsibility which they have assumed—they must seek to inform themselves sufficiently before entering the service, in order to gain the respect and confidence of their men, and also to guard against the revocation of their commissions. To do this, they must consult the books, which can be readily obtained at a small expense.

Mr. J. Ashbee Myster.

This gentleman has not yet been released by the rebels. He is still held a prisoner at Richmond. He, with about forty others, are imprisoned in a tobacco warehouse and are pretty well treated. The officer having charge of the prisoners is Lieut. Todd a brother of President Lincoln's wife.

THE NATIONAL PLATFORM!

PURPOSES OF THE WAR!

Congress, BY A VOTE NEARLY UNANIMOUS, PASSED THE FOLLOWING RESOLUTIONS, WHICH EXPRESS THE VOICE OF THE NATION AND IS THE TRINITY STANDARD OF LOYALTY:

"That the present deplorable civil war has been forced upon the country by the disunionists of the Southern States, now in arms against the Constitutional Government, and in arms around the Capital; that in this National emergency, Congress, banishing all feelings of mere passion or resentment, will recollect only its duty to the whole country; that this war is not waged on their part in any spirit of oppression, or for any purpose of conquest or subjugation, or purpose of overthrowing or interfering with the rights or established institutions of those States, but to defend the Union, and to preserve the Union, with all the dignity, equality, and rights to the several States unimpaired; and that as soon as these objects are accomplished the war ought to cease."

An Appeal.

The course pursued by many men in the Northern States at the present time is to be deplored. While there should be union and harmony against the enemies of our country, we find many mischievous persons, who, under the guise of Unionists, are the most deadly foes the Union has. The world Union, in their estimation, embraces only party, and every one who is not willing to bow to their party in every respect, and evinces an indisposition to vote their party tickets, from President down to County Auditor, is a secessionist and a traitor. This spirit is so fostered, and has so many advocates, that in many localities it is unsafe for a Democrat to have an opinion differing from them on any political subject. It is a foregone conclusion with them that all Democrats are at heart secessionists and traitors, and no matter how freely they may sustain the Government either with money, or by enlisting themselves, they are nevertheless traduced and threatened with injury to person and destruction of property. This is all wrong, and will yet lead to the most deplorable consequences. It creates a feeling of animosity and hatred that is anything but favorable to the cause of the Union. In this country there is a most malicious spirit rife against the Democrats. It is without reason and has no foundation in love for the Union. The Republican papers have inaugurated the disposition by false charges of secession sympathy and treason, and insidiously pointing to Democrats (particularly to such who they know will not shut their mouths and eyes to the rascalities practiced upon the poor soldiers, and the hundreds of other misdeeds daily practiced by those in the employ of the State and National Administration), and recommending that they be "strung up," "wiped out," &c. The result of preaching such doctrines is already visible in many other places, by mobs taking them at their words and practicing their preaching by the most frightful excesses. All this, we repeat, is wrong and will lead to a state of society that will cause all good and christian people to deplore. For our part we have a Court and Jury in this country who will not wink at treason or secessionism. Hence, if there is such printed, spoken or practiced, there is the remedy. There need be no fear that if brought before Judge Pearson and a Lebanon county jury, and if really guilty of the charge, that any one will escape. But we beg of our Republican contemporaries to cease fostering and recommending the mob spirit. We beg of our neighbors to cease accusing men of treason unjustly. We beg of them as patriots and lovers of the Union not to incite that men who have differed with them on political questions, but who are now as good Union men as they ever dared to be, but who yet honestly differ with them in regard to details, not to accuse of them what is most ignoble in man—TREASON, until they have just cause to do so. Let them turn a little more attention to fighting the Southern secessionists and traitors, and they will have less time to devote to breeding ill-will and paralyzing the Union and loyal sentiments of the North.—Lebanon Advertiser.

Love-Making.

What is to become of love-making? Does anybody make love in these times? Are those heavenly evenings to be thrown away in bitter or fierce discussions about the war? Must the God-pat on a bob-tailed cat and shoulder a musket?—Are we to resign our pleasant estate under delightful trees with "our fair daughter and no more"? May we not again sit in the shadow of the moonlight, and whisper never to be forgotten words? May we not walk and dream, and muse again, as of yore? Must all the sweet sounds of love, as they float on the air, be quenched rapidly by "right-shoulder shifts arms," "right flank by right face," "four files into line, march"? Shall not her dear head rest upon our shoulder? Shall not her little hand repose in ours? Must all our thoughts be given up to "rations," and uniforms and battles?

Lovers, where are you?

There are sad faces in the street to-night, and to-night means every night. Darling girls in couples are walking up and down through the quiet streets, striving to look happy and cheerful, but ready to gush with grief at a moment's notice. What shall be done for them? He was not handsome, that bold soldier-boy, who went on with the 19th regiment. Indeed, he was a very ordinary looking person. What a large nose he had—how awkward in his general appearance and manners. She was frequently ashamed of him. He was weak, too, and timid, and bashful, and nobody ever thought he would come to mash. But he had one good quality that made him dearer to her than all the world besides. He loved a lover should love, faithfully, sincerely, eternally. "My love may not be worth much," he used to say to her, "but it is I have in the world, and I give it to you whether you value it or not." This he could say to her as he was bidding her good-night, with a sigh. Well, he is gone now, and she hugs and kisses his photograph, ugly as it is.

from Committees and Conventions of the Republican party. It contains some truth and a great deal of error. The first duty of every citizen is to support the Government. Democratic republicans, this obligation as imperative. Upon this platform they are united with their fellow citizens of every party name. But the Republic cannot be maintained unless the Democrats shall go a step further, and pledge themselves to adhere unflinchingly every act which the Administration has done, or may do, for the suppression of rebellion, whether true or untrue, lawful or unlawful. In other words they are required to consent that the Administration shall not only set for them but think for them also.

Union upon such terms would be in no sense Union, but surrender—unqualified capitulation. Republicans give up nothing—Democrats everything. They do not propose to meet us half way, but demand that we shall go over entirely to them, not even reserving to ourselves the privilege of objecting to inadvisable and unconstitutional acts, or of exposing and denouncing palpable corruption. We do not conceive that this course would strengthen the Government. To its endless compliance with the Administration are but liable to all the errors of judgment and the frailties of other men. Should they pursue a course calculated to prevent the success of our arms, public opinion, instead of assisting them in error, should labor to set them right. But if the people determine to uphold them in all things right or wrong, the Government may drift, with the deceptive current, right into the arms of the traitors, without a war tag upon to restrain it.

Many of the organs of the Republican party, while demanding a union of parties upon their own terms, utterly fail to enforce a union spirit. They are more savage and proscriptive towards Democrats than ever they labor incessantly to perpetuate party divisions by denouncing and insulting men whose only crime is that they exercised the right of voting as they deemed best at the last Presidential election. Yet while pursuing this extreme course, they habitually write about the necessity of subordinating party to country. A little more practice and less precept would certainly conduce better to the attainment of this desirable object.

As far as the Democratic party is concerned it is not to be ballied into objecting to every measure that the Republican party leaders may choose to prescribe as necessary to the welfare of a country. Upon all public questions they intend to exercise the right of independent judgment. The Democratic organization is designed to uphold the Government and the Union, and not to destroy them. Its aim is the welfare of the country and the restoration of the Union, and while pursuing these objects, it will tread carefully in the path of duty and patriotism.

Letter from Prince Napoleon. Governor Andrew, of Massachusetts, having written a letter to Prince Napoleon, inviting him and his wife to visit Boston, the Prince replied as follows: [TRANSLATION.] His Excellency, John A. Andrew, Governor of Massachusetts, New York, August 14th, 1861. Sir: I have to thank you for your kind letter, and to assure you that your Excellency has been very kind to me. The Princess and myself are deeply touched by the sentiment of thoughtful kindness which you express in it. I am a great admirer of the Republic of the West, and I have been very glad to hear that you are so much interested in it. All that I have seen up to the present moment, of your grand and noble country, has increased my admiration for it, which I have felt to visit to the capital of the United States—the cradle of their liberty.

For a long time I have cherished for America a profound sympathy, inspired by its grandeur and its liberal institutions, and the cordial reception which I have met, from so many of its most noble inhabitants, will leave in my heart a touching and enduring remembrance. Receive, Mr. Governor, the special expression of my sentiments of profound esteem. NAPOLEON JEROME.

Coughs.—The sudden changes of our climate, and the influence of the season, are the cause of many of our ailments. The most common of these is the cough. It is a disease which is often overlooked, but which, if not treated, may lead to more serious consequences. The best remedy for a cough is to keep the throat moist, and to avoid cold and damp air. It is also important to keep the system in good health, and to avoid all excesses.

animal food; that one pound of prepared Indian corn is equal in quantity of corn made into bread to one equal amount to two pounds of the most. Meal from Indian corn contains more than four times as much essential matter as wheat flour; more starch, and is consequently capable of producing more energy than the gluten; it is also a purgative, and it contains nearly as much nutritious material. The combination of alimentary compounds in Indian corn renders it alone the most capable of sustaining a man under the most extraordinary circumstances. It is therefore a natural and essential element of the human diet, and it is the only food that can be prepared in a form that is suitable for the human stomach.
