The rebels

The worst man in this country are the editors of the flow York sity dallies. We judge so from what each one says of all the rest.

The frequent use of their legs, by the rebals latterly, shows, as we have said before, that they are reduced to the "lowest extremities."

General Popo's transports quietly remarked to the robots, at Island Sa. 10, in passing around the sensel, "Sire, we are going bavon."

par Beauregard wants to change the plan of the rebells by bringing them to the scratch, but we expect is will prove to be the same "eld scratch."
